Introduction

This volume provides a brief overview of the Expenditure and Food Survey User Documentation, together with information on database and survey definitions, as well as background to the 2001-02 survey. The details it contains are about information resulting from the first year of the Expenditure and Food Survey (EFS) for the financial year April 2001 to March 2002.

The EFS is the result of more than two year's development work to bring together the Family Expenditure and National Food Surveys (FES and NFS). Both surveys were well established and important sources of information for government and the wider community, charting changes and patterns in Britain's spending and food consumption since the 1950's. The Office for National Statistics (ONS) has overall project management and financial responsibility for the new survey whilst the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (DEFRA) sponsors the food data.

The survey continues to be primarily used to provide information for the Retail Prices Index; National Accounts estimates of household expenditure; the analysis of the effect of taxes and benefits and trends in nutrition. However, the results are multi purpose, providing an invaluable supply of economic and social data. The merger of the two surveys also brings benefits for users. A single survey on food expenditure removes the difficulties of reconciling data from two sources.

The design of the EFS is based on the FES, although new processing software (SPSS) has resulted in a dataset which differs from the FES structure. However, the most significant change in terms of reporting expenditure is the introduction of the European Standard Classification of Individual Consumption by Purpose, or COICOP. More details are given in Part 3 of this volume.

The structure of the User Documentation is based on the FES documentation. However, the use of new software has resulted in changes which have affected the documentation. The main change which impacts on these volumes is the reduction in the number of tables and "sets" which were a feature of the FES.

Use of the 2001-2002 User Documentation

Explanatory notes on the use of the volumes of the documentation are given at the beginning of each volume.

The following gives a summary only. See 'Database Definitions' in Part 3 and 'Survey Definitions' in Part 5 for explanation of terms.

VOLUME 1 - THE USER GUIDE
This volume begins with a guide to the contents and the use of the User Documentation (Part 1 - Guide to the 2001-2002 User Documentation).

Part 2: explains The structure of the 2001-2002 database and includes a useful flow diagram which gives a pictorial summary of the database structure.

Part 3: Database definitions - gives some definitions of the terms used both on the flow diagram and in other parts of the documentation.

Part 4: Background to the 2001-2002 Expenditure and Food Survey includes information on the sampling methodology and non-response.

Part 5: covers Survey Definitions.

VOLUME 2 - THE RAW DATABASE
This volume of the User Documentation describes the raw database. The raw database contains data 'as it was received'. That is, before any calculations or aggregations have been carried out. The document is in four parts, as outlined below.

Part 1 - Raw file definitions
The raw variables are grouped into three data files, this part of the document defines these raw files and gives information on the three sources of the data (diary, household and income questionnaire).

Parts 2 - 4: Raw variable lists
These are variable lists, listing all raw variables and including information on the variable name, description, file name, coding frame name and question reference. These four lists allow details of a variable (such as the file in which it is found, or the question to which it relates) to be looked up if the variable name (Part 2 - ordered by variable name), variable description (Part 3 - ordered by variable description), or question number (Part 4 - ordered by question reference) is known. The coding frame name refers to the name of the coding frame used by the variable. These coding frames are listed in part 5.

Part 5 – Raw variable coding frame
This lists coding frames for each of the variables in the questionnaires, in question reference order.

VOLUME 3 - THE DERIVED DATABASE
This volume of the User Documentation, in five parts, describes the derived database. A summary of anonymisation, particularly in relation to council tax, is also given following the explanatory notes.

Part 1 - Derived file definitions in file name order
The derived variables are also grouped into files and this part of the document defines these files and gives information on the variables included in each type. It can be used to look up details of the variables and coding frames when the table name and SPSS file is known.

Parts 2 and 3: Derived variable lists
These are variable lists, listing all derived variables and including information on the variable name, description, table (file) name and coding frame (where relevant). These two lists allow details of a variable to be looked up if the variable name (Part 2 - ordered by variable name) or variable description (Part 3 - ordered by variable description) is known.

Part 4 - P-codes

Product codes (or p-codes) are aggregated codes, some at household level and some at personal level. Part 4 gives descriptions of these codes in 'English' as an aid to understanding their structure.

Part 5 - Coding frames

This part of the document contains an alphabetical list of all the coding frames, including an index of those most used.

VOLUME 4 - EXPENDITURE CODES

In the Expenditure and Food Survey, information about expenditure is collected at a detailed level. It is collected through both the diary (which respondents fill in daily for a fortnight) and through the Household Questionnaire.

Part 1 Expenditure Codes: Summary - Items of expenditure are assigned a 'COICOP' code which represents the type of expenditure (the code might represent 'bread', 'mortgage payments' or 'visits to the cinema', for example). The expenditure codes are listed here.

Part 2 Expenditure Codes : Detail - is the 'data dictionary'. It gives an indication of the types of items to be found under each expenditure code.

VOLUME 5 - DATABASE CHANGES

Volume 5 of the Documentation describes the changes that have taken place in the 2001-2002 database compared with 2000-2001.

Part 1 - contains the new raw variables for 2001-2002.

Part 2 - contains 2000-2001 raw variables that have been deleted for 2001-2002.

Part 3 - contains 2000-2001 raw variables amended in 2001-2002.

Part 4 - contains new derived variables for 2001-2002.

Part 5 - contains 2000-2001 derived variables that have been deleted for 2001-2002.

Part 6 - contains 2000-2001 derived variables amended in 2001-2002.

Part 7 - contains an approximate mapping between the old FES and new EFS (COICOP) expenditure codes, listed by FES code.

Part 8 – as for Part 7, listed by COICOP code.

Part 9 - contains the 2000-2001 expenditure codes amended in 2001-2002.

Part 10 - contains the new tables for 2001-2002.

Part 11 - contains question number changes for 2001-2002 dataset.

Part 12 - Major changes, highlights some of the more important definitional changes for 2001-2002.

Part 13 - Questionnaire changes describes question deletions, additions and wording changes that have been implemented for the 2001-2002 questionnaires.

VOLUME 6 - VARIABLE RELATIONSHIPS
Volume 6 of the User Documentation shows the relationships between variables within the dataset.

Part 1 of this volume shows which raw and/or derived variables (source) are used to make up particular variables.
Part 2 of this volume shows which variables a particular variable feeds into (target).

There are seven other items of documentation that can be provided to users (if required):

Household Questionnaire
Income Questionnaire
The EFS Diary (adult and young person's)
EFS Interview Prompt Cards
Household Questionnaire – coding & editing notes and interviewer's instructions
Income Questionnaire – coding & editing notes and interviewer's instructions
EFS Diary – coding & editing notes and interviewer's instructions

THE STRUCTURE OF THE 2001-2002 DATABASE

For definitions of the terms used here, please see Part 3 - Database definitions.

Outline of the structure of the EFS database 2001-2002

In the EFS database, variables are grouped to form a number of different SPSS DATA FILES. The raw files contain data as it is received and the derived files contain processed data. There are 12 anonymised SPSS data files (with filename in the form "filename.sav") available to users. These are:

RAWPER	DVloans_SET86	DV_SET900
RAWHH	DVcredit_SET87	DV_SET89
DVPER	DVhp_SET88	DV_pocketmoney
DVHH	DVdry_SET114	DVbenunit

The attached flow diagram - OUTLINE OF THE STRUCTURE OF THE EFS DATA FLOW, gives an approximation of the location of different categories of data and the flow of data between the files that comprise the database (data flow is shown by the arrows). It should be noted that it gives general flows only and is not definitive.

It can be seen that there are raw data tables relating to diary expenditure, expenditure recorded on household and income questionnaires, credit clubs, loans and so on. Definitions of the raw database are to be found in VOLUME 2 of the User Documentation.

All derived file names are pre-fixed "DV" and definitions are to be found in VOLUME 3 of the User Documentation.

The data flow

For definitions of expenditure relating to loans, credit clubs and hire purchase (DVLOANS_SET86, DVCREDIT_SET87 and DVHP_SET88) please see Part 5 - Survey Definitions.

Items recorded in the two week diary are recorded in the raw diary file. At this stage, every separate instance of expenditure by every person is represented by a separate "record" or "row" and is assigned an EXPENDITURE CODE that indicates the type of item purchased and the type of transaction (e.g. cash, credit card, business expense). See Volume 4 for information on expenditure codes. Data at this level is not provided in the user dataset.

DVDRY_SET114 is the first derived file for the diary data and here the data are more aggregated. Each row represents the total expenditure for week one or week two of the diary keeping period for separate expenditure code by person: one row represents the total expenditure by that person on that code in week 1 and the other represents the expenditure in week 2.

Following DVDRY_SET114, the diary data that relates to expenditure codes for which data are also collected through the questionnaires are re-directed to DVDRY_SET900 to avoid double counting. They are not used in any further tables.

In DVADULT_SET89 (adults) and DVCHILD_SET89C (children), some expenditure relating to the expenditure codes but collected through the questionnaires is added to that collected through the diary. In this file, there is only one row per expenditure code. This represents the average weekly expenditure for each person on items in that code. This file feeds into various C-CODE files. In these, the expenditure codes become VARIABLES and are pre-fixed with 'C'. The two SET89 files are merged in the user dataset to form one larger file called DV_SET89.

The four boxes in the centre of the flow-diagram represent various levels of aggregated variables at both household (DVHH) and personal (DVPER) level. Information from the questionnaires not previously included (from the two raw data files RAWPER and RAWHH) feeds in at this level. Details on p-codes are given in Part 4 of Volume 3 of the User Documentation.

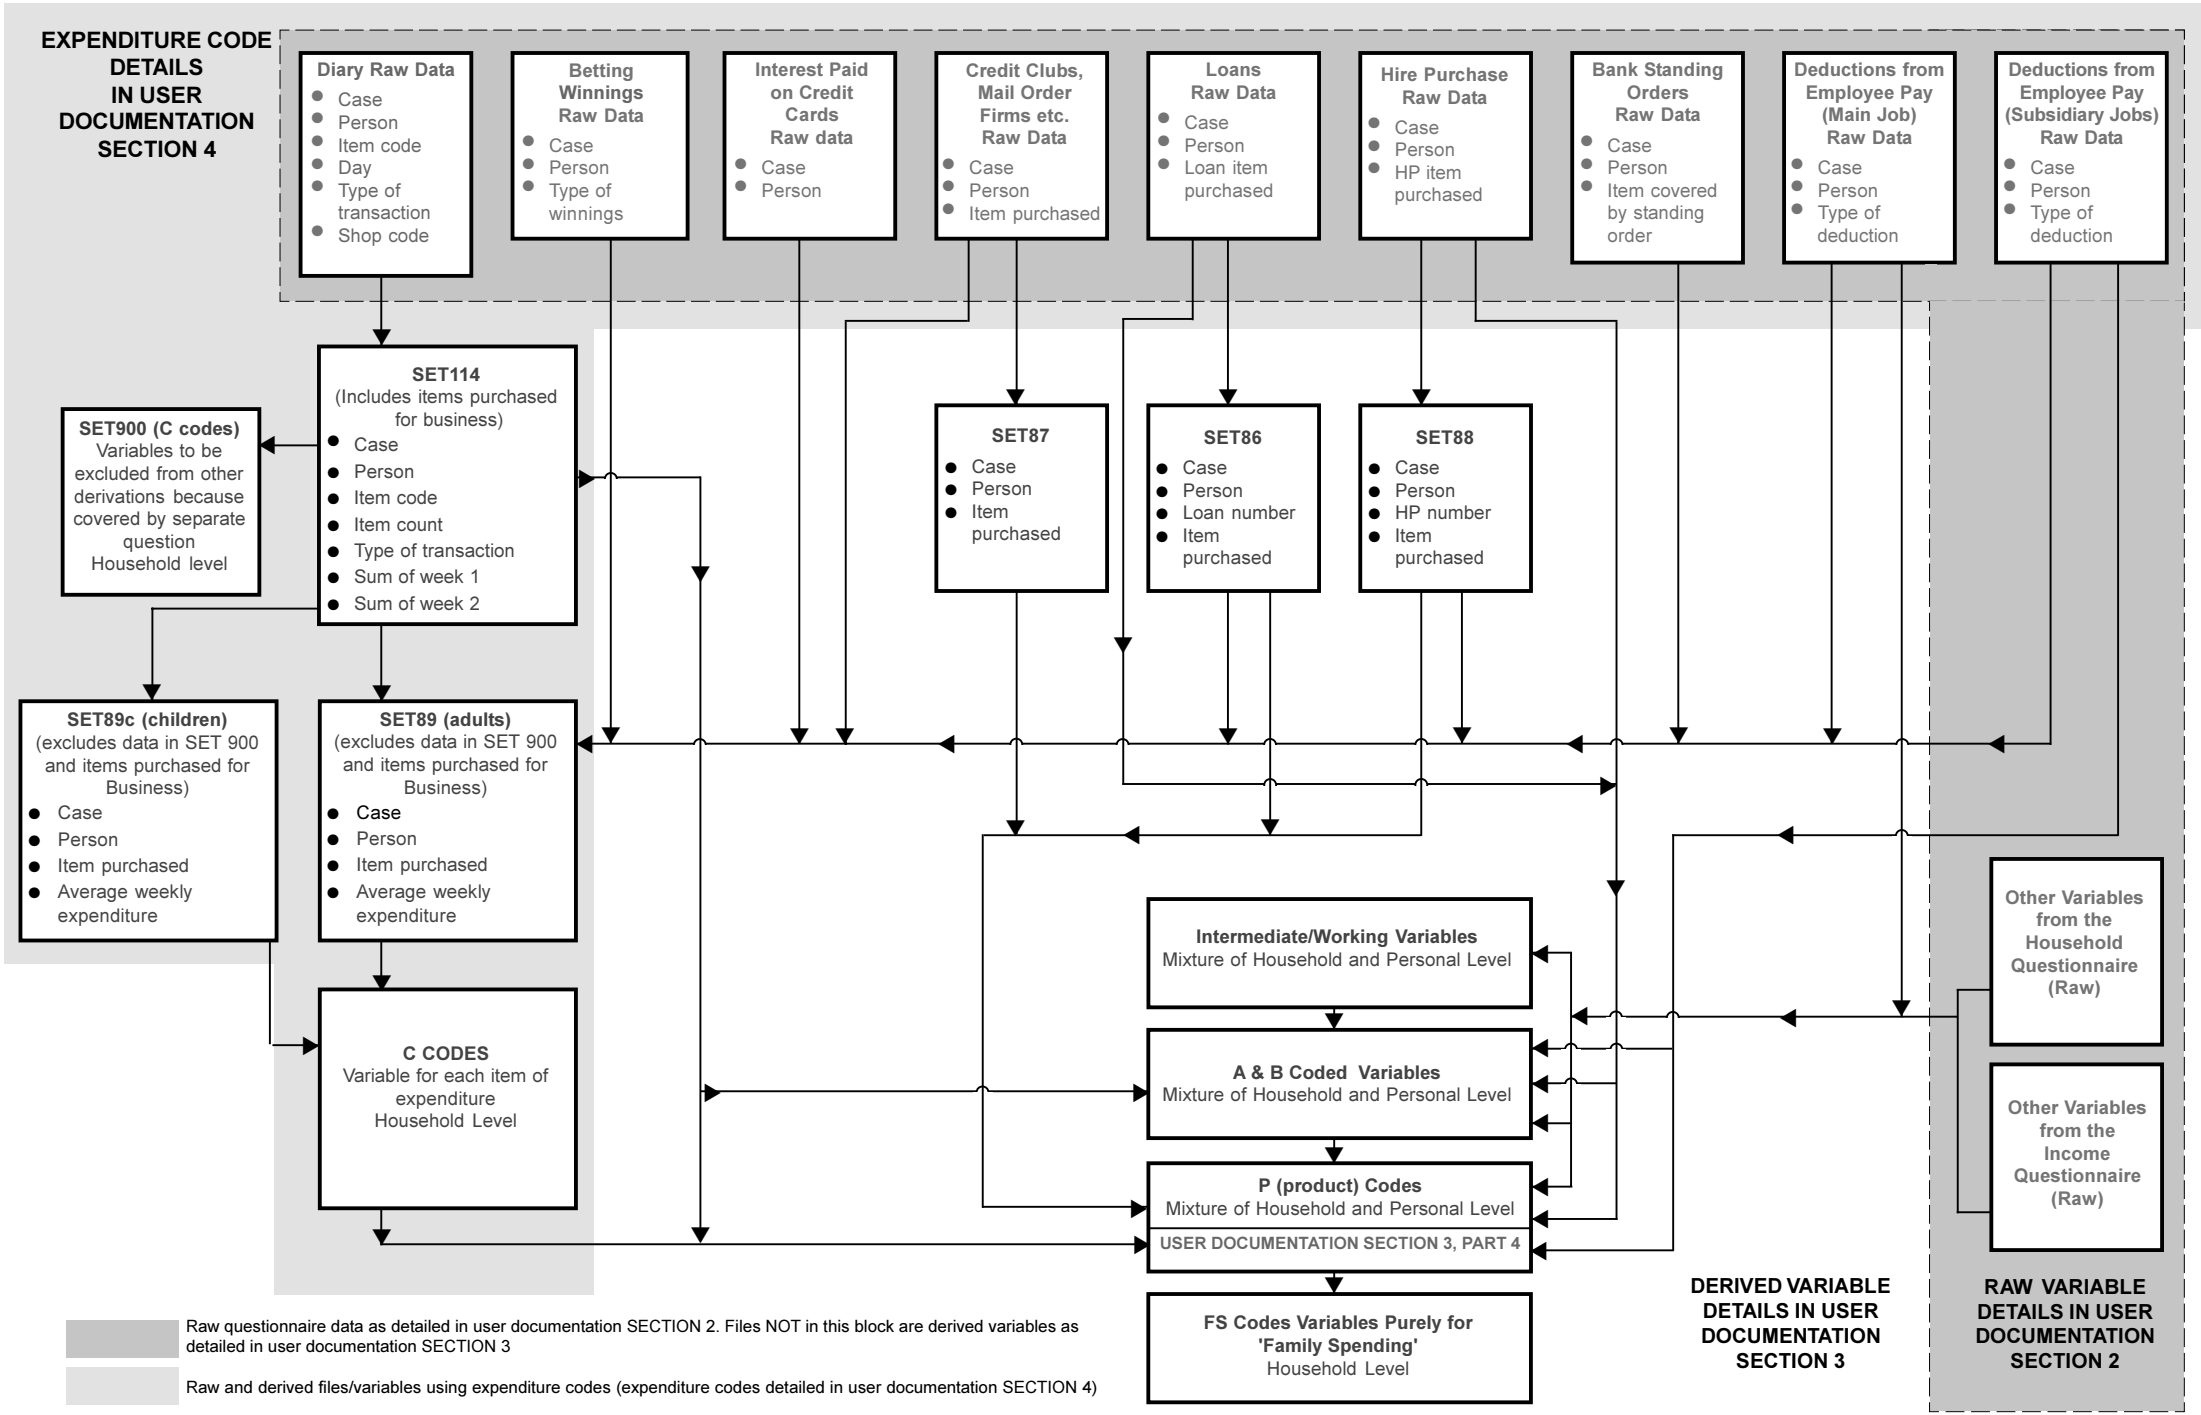
OUTLINE STRUCTURE OF THE EFS DATABASE



DATABASE DEFINITIONS

The raw database
The raw database contains data "as it was received". At this stage, weekly equivalent DV values have been calculated for questionnaire data (see note on 'weekly equivalent values') and some imputation has been carried out. Care should be taken when using raw data. In particular, a new feature of the EFS is the inclusion of "looping" variables – where a question is repeated a variable may be repeated (see Volume 2, Explanatory Notes).

The raw database is defined in Volume 2 of the User Documentation.

The derived database
The derived database consists of variables that have been adjusted in some way in relation to the state in which they were received. This adjustment might involve only a change in name, or it might involve some calculation or aggregation. The variables are grouped in files which have DV in the name. Examples are DVHH or DVLOANS_SET86.

The main variable prefixes and suffixes are briefly described below, but more information on the derived database is given in Volume 3 of the User Documentation.

'A' and 'B' codes
A-codes and B-codes are aggregate codes, some at household level and some at personal level. They are all derived codes and so are listed in Volume 3 (The Derived Database) of the User Documentation. That they are pre-fixed 'a' or 'b' has no significance.

Anonymisation
Variables which could lead to the identification of a household or an individual are not released to users.

An 'anonymised' version of sensitive raw or derived variables is provided in the user dataset. In the main, variables which have been anonymised can be identified because they are suffixed 'p' (those which are not have been detailed in the appropriate User Documentation). Unanonymised versions are suffixed 'u' and are not accessible to external users of the EFS. Raw diary information is not provided to any external users. The principles of anonymisation, particularly in relation to council tax, are explained in Volume 3 of the User Documentation.

Codes suffixed 'c'
These codes represent the expenditure of children, aged between 7 and 15, who completed a diary. The codes are aggregated to household level. Variables suffixed 'c' are only available as expenditure or product codes e.g. p522c.

Codes suffixed 't'
These codes represent total expenditure by children and adults. They are aggregated to household level by adding the original (adult) variable to those suffixed 'c', (i.e. p522 + p522c = p522t). Variables suffixed 't' are only available as expenditure or product codes.

Codes suffixed 'l'
These codes represent expenditure in nominated large supermarkets. Variables suffixed 'l' are only available as expenditure codes for food, alcohol, petrol, some household goods and regular purchases, and clothing. For expenditure on clothing the suffixes are 'x' for selected clothing chains, 'y' for large supermarkets and 'z' for charity shops.

Coding frame
If a variable has a coding frame, it means that it is allowed to take on only certain permitted values (i.e. the variable is not a 'free' field).

The name of a coding frame is usually the same as the name of the variable using it, however, the more commonly used coding frames have their own names. If a variable has a coding frame it is named in the final column of sections 2-4 of Volume 3 of the User Documentation. The coding frames are listed in alphabetical order in Part 5 (Coding Frames) of the User Documentation.

Diary
The diary is completed by every spender. It is completed daily for 14 days and all expenditure in that period is recorded.
See 'Expenditure' in 'Survey Definitions', Volume 1, Part 5 for further information on the collection of data through the diary.

Expenditure codes
Each expenditure amount collected through the diary and some collected through the questionnaire are given a code which represents the type of item that was purchased. The EFS expenditure codes differ from those used for the FES and users should refer to Volume 4 (Expenditure Codes) for details of the new codes. These are based on a new European classification called COICOP (Classification …

Variables representing household aggregates of the expenditure codes are called C-codes (or C-variables): the variable name is the expenditure code pre-fixed with 'C'. A complete listing of the expenditure codes and more details on their use can be found in Volume 4 (Expenditure Codes) of the User Documentation.

File name
The filename is the database reference name of the file, referring to individual SPSS datafiles.

In the EFS database, the data is stored in a number of different FILES. A single file may contain information on a number of variables that are related to one another in some way, such as is the file called 'DVLOANS_SET86' which contains information about loans, or variables which are at the same level of detail, such as DVPER which contains the main person level derived variables.

Conceptually, a file can be perceived as consisting of rows and columns: the 'column headings' are the names of the variables contained in that table and each 'row' represents an individual 'record'. A 'row' or 'record' is uniquely labelled with, for example, case (case number), person (person number), or itemnum (item number). If both case and person are used, such as in the file DVPER, then there is a separate row in the table not only for every case, but for every person within that case.

The raw data files are defined in Part 1 of Volume 2 of the User Documentation and the derived data tables are defined in Part 1 of Volume 3.

FS Codes
FS codes are used only for the preparation of the publication 'FAMILY SPENDING'.

Household questionnaire
The Household Questionnaire must be completed for EVERY adult in the household.

The household questionnaire collects information on household characteristics and the characteristics of the individuals living there. Also collected through the Household Questionnaire is information on mortgages, rents, bills, insurance policies, loans, hire purchase, standing orders, season tickets and other irregular expenditure such as that on cars or home improvements. Information on the irregular purchases is often obtained through retrospective recall (i.e. the question may be 'when did you last purchase a ..... ?'). Expenditure on retrospective recall is converted to a weekly equivalent value. That is, if the recall period is one year, then the weekly equivalent value is calculated by dividing by 52.

See the Household Questionnaire for details on questions and recall periods.

Income Questionnaire
The Income Questionnaire must be completed for EVERY adult in the household.

The income questionnaire collects information on the income of the individuals in the household and the household as a whole.

See 'Survey Definitions', Volume 1, Part 5 for income definitions.

Period codes
Where expenditure amounts are not given on a weekly equivalent basis, a weekly equivalent is calculated by dividing the amount given by the appropriate period. The standard period codes can be found at the end of Part 1 of this volume.

Product codes (p-codes)
Product codes (or p-codes) are aggregate codes, some at household level and some at personal level. Part 4 of Volume 3 of the User Documentation gives descriptions of these codes as an aid to understanding their structure, along with more detailed explanatory notes on their use.

Question reference
The question reference is the question number relating to the variable, as contained within the Household (if pre-fixed by H) or Income (if pre-fixed by I) Questionnaire. Only raw variables have a question reference. If a raw variable does not have a question reference, one of the following may be given instead:

- 'diary' if the variable relates to diary data
- 'system' if the variable is a system variable used only for editing purposes (and therefore probably not of use to users of the database)

A list of variables ordered by question reference is given in Part 4 of Volume 2 of the User Documentation.

Variable name
The variable name (sometimes just written 'variable' in the documentation) is the database reference name of the variable. Variable lists ordered by variable name can be found in Part 2 of both Volume 2 and Volume 3 of the User Documentation.

Variable description
The variable description is a brief description of the variable. Variable lists ordered by variable description can be found in Part 3 of both Volume 2 and Volume 3 of the User Documentation.

Weekly equivalent values (wev) - codes prefixed 'DV'
So that expenditure from different sources can be aggregated, it is necessary for all expenditure amounts to be on an equivalent basis. In order to achieve this, all expenditure amounts collected through the questionnaire are converted to WEEKLY EQUIVALENT VALUES. In the dataset, weekly equivalent values can be identified because they are pre-fixed 'DV'. Information on weekly equivalent values is included as part of the questionnaire. Weekly equivalent values are RAW variables and so are listed in Volume 2 of the User Documentation.

Description and response rate of the survey

The survey

The Expenditure and Food Survey (EFS) is a voluntary sample survey of private households. The basic unit of the survey is the household. In the 2001-02 survey the EFS adopted the harmonised definition used in other government household surveys: a group of people living at the same address with common housekeeping, that is sharing household expenses such as food and bills, or sharing a living room (see Part 5). The previous definition differed from the harmonised definition by requiring both common housekeeping and a shared living room. This resulted in the EFS having slightly more one person households and fewer large households than the other surveys. An analysis of the effect of the change is in Chapter 9 of "Family Spending - A report on the 2001-2002 Expenditure and Food Survey".

Each individual aged 16 or over in the household visited is asked to keep diary records of daily expenditure for two weeks. Information about regular expenditure, such as rent and mortgage payments, is obtained from a household interview along with retrospective information on certain large, infrequent expenditures such as those on vehicles. Since 1998-99 the results have also included information from simplified diaries kept by children aged between 7 and 15. The effects were shown in Appendix F of Family Spending for 1998-99 and again for 1999-2000. The analysis is not repeated this year as inclusion of the data is now a standard feature of the survey.

Detailed questions are asked about the income of each adult member of the household. In addition, personal information such as age, sex and marital status is recorded for each household member. Paper versions of the computerised household and income questionnaires can be obtained from the address given in Part 6 – Additional Information.

The survey has been conducted each year since 1957. The survey is continuous, interviews being spread evenly over the year to ensure that seasonal effects are covered. From time to time changes are made to the information sought. Some changes reflect new forms of expenditure or new sources of income, especially benefits. Others are the result of new requirements by the survey's users. An important example is the re-definition of housing costs for owner occupiers in 1992 (see Volume 5 of the User Documentation).

The sample design

The EFS sample for Great Britain is a multi-stage stratified random sample with clustering. It is drawn from the Small Users file of the Postcode Address File - the Post Office's list of addresses. All Scottish offshore islands and the Isles of Scilly are excluded from the sample because of excessive interview travel costs. Postal sectors (ward size) are the primary sample unit. 672 postal sectors are randomly selected during the year after being arranged in strata defined by standard regions (sub-divided into metropolitan and non-metropolitan areas) and two 1991 Census variables - socio-economic group and ownership of cars. These were new stratifiers introduced for the 1996-97 survey. The Northern Ireland sample is drawn as a random sample of addresses from the Valuation and Lands Agency list.

Response to the survey

Great Britain

Some 12,096 households are selected each year for the EFS in Great Britain, but it is never possible to get full response. A small number cannot be contacted at all, and in other households one or more members decline to co-operate. In all, nearly 7,000 households in Great Britain co-operated fully in the survey in 2001-02, that is they answered the household questionnaire and all adults in the household answered the income questionnaire and kept the expenditure diary. The response rate for the 2001-02 EFS was 62 per cent in Great Britain. This compares with 59 per cent in 2000-01. The change in household definition will have contributed to the fall in 2000-01, as explained in the section on fieldwork below.

Response in 2001-02 - Great Britain

		No of households or addresses	Percentage of Effective sample
i.	Sampled addresses	12,096	-
ii.	Ineligible addresses: businesses, institutions, empty, demolished/derelict	1,293	-
iii.	Extra households (multi-household addresses)	142	-
iv.	Total eligible (i.e. i less ii, plus iii)	10,945	100.0
v.	Co-operating households	6,809	62.2
vi.	Refusals	3,435	31.4
vii..	Households at which no contact could be obtained	701	6.4

Northern Ireland

In the Northern Ireland survey, the eligible sample was 1,030 households. The number of co-operating households who provided usable data was 521, giving a response rate of 51 per cent. Northern Ireland is over-sampled in order to provide a large enough sample for some separate analysis. The re-weighting procedure compensates for the over-sampling.

The fieldwork

The fieldwork is carried out by the Social Survey Division of the Office for National Statistics (ONS) in Great Britain and by the Northern Ireland Statistics and Research Agency of the Department of Finance and Personnel in Northern Ireland using almost identical questionnaires. Households at the selected addresses are visited and asked to co-operate in the survey. In order to maximise response, interviewers make at least four separate calls, and sometimes many more, at different times of day on households which are difficult to contact. Interviews are conducted by Computer Assisted Personal Interviewing (CAPI) using portable computers. During the interview information is collected about the household, about certain regular payments such as rent, gas, electricity and telephone accounts, about expenditure on certain large items (for example vehicle purchases over the previous 12 months), and about income. Each individual aged 16 or over in the household keeps a detailed record of expenditure every day for two weeks. Children aged between 7 and 15 are also asked to keep a simplified diary of daily expenditure (though not in the Northern Ireland enhanced sample). In 2001-02 a total of 2298 children aged between 7 and 15 in responding households in Great Britain were asked to complete expenditure diaries; only 35 or about 1½ per cent did not do so. This number includes both refusals and children who had no expenditure during the two weeks. Information provided by all members of the household is kept strictly confidential.

If all persons aged 16 and over in the household co-operate each is subsequently paid £10 for the trouble involved. Children who keep a diary are given a £5 payment. A refusal by an under 16 to keep a diary does not invalidate the household from inclusion in the survey. In the last two months of the 1998-99 survey, as an experiment, a small book of postage stamps was enclosed with the introductory letter sent to every address. It seemed to help with response and the measure has become a permanent feature of the survey. It is difficult to quantify the exact effect on response but the cognitive work that was carried out as part of the Expenditure and Food Survey development indicated that it was having a positive effect.

The new strategy for reissues adopted in 1999-2000 was continued in 2001-02. Addresses where there had been no contact or a refusal, but were judged suitable for reissue, were accumulated to form complete batches consisting only of reissues. The interviewers dealing with them were specially selected and given extra briefing. The information from households converted from non-responding to responding was included with the data for the quarter of the year when the interview was carried out. The increase in response rate, however, was attributed to the original month of issue. Over 2,200 addresses were reissued, that is about a half of addresses where there had been no response initially. About 250 of them were converted into fully responding households, which added 2.3 percentage points to the response rate.

The change in household definition will have made achieving response harder at some addresses. Under EFS rules, a refusal by just one person invalidates the response of the whole household. If the group of people in a household would have been divided into two households on the previous definition, a non-response by one person in the group would still yield one responding household on the previous definition, but none on the new definition. An analysis in Chapter 9 of Family Spending 2001-02 shows that the new definition probably increased average household size by just under 2 per cent. A simple model of response in households affected by the change suggests that it may have reduced response by about 0.5 percentage points.

Reliability

Great care is taken in collecting information from households and comprehensive checks are applied during processing, so that errors in recording and processing are minimised. The main factors that affect the reliability of the survey results are sampling variability, non-response bias and some incorrect reporting of certain items of expenditure and income. Measures of sampling variability are given alongside some results in the Family Spending report and are discussed in detail in Appendix C of Family Spending for 2001-02.

The households which decline to respond to the survey tend to differ in some respects from those which co-operate. It is therefore possible that their patterns of expenditure and income also differ. A comparison has been made of the households responding in the 1991 FES with those not responding, based on information from the 1991 Census of Population (A comparison of the Census characteristics of respondents and non-respondents to the 1991 FES by K Foster, ONS Survey Methodology Bulletin No. 38, Jan 1996). Results from the study indicate that response was lower than average in Greater London, higher in non-metropolitan areas and that non-response tended to increase with increasing age of the head of the household, up to age 65. Households which contained three or more adults, or where the head was born outside the United Kingdom or was classified to an ethnic minority group were also more likely than others to be non-responding. Non-response was also above average where the head of the household had no post-school qualifications, was self-employed, or was in a manual social class group. The data are now re-weighted to compensate for the main non-response biases identified from the 1991 Census comparison, as described in Appendix F of Family Spending for 2001-02.

Checks are included in the CAPI program which are applied to the responses given during the interview. Other procedures are also in place to ensure that users are provided with high quality data. For example, quality control is carried out to ensure that any outliers are genuine, and checks are made on any unusual changes in average spending compared with the previous year.

When aspects of the survey change, rigorous tests are used to ensure the proposed changes are sensible and work both in the field and on the processing system. For example, in 1996-97 an improved set of questions was introduced on income from self-employment. This was developed by focus groups and then tested by piloting before being introduced into the main survey.

It has been suggested that averages of household income recorded in the EFS are too low, principally because certain forms of income, including investments, occupational pensions or self-employment, may be under-estimated. The evidence for this is limited and now very dated. Currently EFS levels are generally within a few per cent of levels indicated by other sources such as the Family Resources Survey (the Department for Work and Pensions), the New Earnings Survey and Labour Force Survey (ONS) and national income statistics.

The information obtained by the survey does not permit the construction of household accounts in the form of an income-expenditure balance sheet. The definitions of weekly household expenditure and income used are such that it is not to be expected that expenditure and income will balance, either for an individual household or even when averaged over a group of households. Hence, the difference between expenditure and income is not a measure of savings or dis-savings.

Experience of household surveys in the United Kingdom and in other countries indicates that reported expenditure on a few items, notably tobacco and alcohol, is below the levels which might be expected by comparison with other sources of information. In 2001-02 the estimated average expenditure on tobacco was 63 per cent of the figure based on HM Customs and Excise data, and for alcohol was 56 per cent. Chapter 14 of the FES Handbook (Kemsley, Redpath and Holmes) published in 1980 examines the possible causes of the understatement of alcohol and tobacco expenditure in the EFS results, as well as other problems of understatement. The conclusion then was that it was mainly due to non-response by very heavy drinkers and smokers. Under-reporting by responding households will also be a factor

National Lottery spending is significantly under-recorded in the EFS, the EFS estimate in 2000-01 being about 68 per cent of recorded sales.

Although EFS response is based on complete households responding, there are areas in the survey for which missing values can be imputed. These missing values are imputed on a case by case basis using other information collected in the interview. The procedure is used, for example, for council tax payments and for interest received on savings.

Survey Definitions

These definitions also appear in Appendix D of Family Spending 2001-2002

Major changes in definitions since 1991 are described in Volume 5 of the User Documentation. Changes made between 1980 and 1990 are summarised in Appendix E of Family Spending 1994-95. For earlier changes see Annex 5 of Family Expenditure Survey 1980.

Quantiles 10

Household

A household comprises one person or a group of people who have the accommodation as their only or main residence and (for a group):

share the living accommodation, that is a living room or sitting room or share meals together or have common housekeeping

Resident domestic servants are included. The members of a household are not necessarily related by blood or marriage. As the survey covers only private households, people living in hostels, hotels, boarding houses or institutions are excluded. Households are not excluded if some or all members are not British subjects, but no attempt is made to obtain information from households containing members of the diplomatic service of another country or members of the United States armed forces. Nor are attempts made to obtain information from Roman Catholic priests living in accommodation provided by the parish church.

Retired households

Retired households are those where the household reference person is retired. The household reference person is defined as retired if 65 years of age or more and male or 60 years of age or more and female, and economically inactive. Hence if, for example, a male household reference person is over 65 years of age, but working part-time or waiting to take up a part-time job, this household would not be classified as a retired household. For analysis purposes two categories are used in this report:

a. "A retired household mainly dependent upon state pensions" is one in which at least three quarters of the total income of the household is derived from national insurance retirement and similar pensions, including housing and other benefits paid in supplement to or instead of such pensions. The term "national insurance retirement and similar pensions" includes national insurance disablement and war disability pensions, and income support in conjunction with these disability payments.

b. "Other retired households" are retired households which do not fulfil the income conditions of "retired household mainly dependent upon state pensions" because more than a quarter of the household's income derives from occupational retirement pensions and/or income from investments, annuities etc.

Household reference person (HRP)

From 2001-02, the concept of household reference person (HRP) was adopted on all government-sponsored surveys, in place of head of household. The household reference person is the householder, i.e. the person who:

a. owns the household accommodation, or
b. is legally responsible for the rent of the accommodation, or
c. has the household accommodation as an emolument or perquisite, or
d. has the household accommodation by virtue of some relationship to the owner who is not a member of the household.

If there are joint householders the household reference person will be the one with the higher income. If the income is the same, then the eldest householder is taken.

A key difference between household reference person and head of household is that the household reference person must always be a householder, whereas the head of household was always the husband, who might not even be a householder himself.

Members of household

In most cases the members of co-operating households are easily identified as the people who satisfy the conditions in the definition of a household, above, and are present during the record-keeping period. However difficulties of definition arise where people are temporarily away from the household or else spend their time between two residences. The following rules apply in deciding whether or not such persons are members of the household:

a. married persons living and working away from home for any period are included as members provided they consider the sampled address to be their main residence; in general, other people (e.g. relatives, friends, boarders) who are either temporarily absent or who spend their time between the sampled address and another address, are included as members if they consider the sampled address to be their main residence. However, there are exceptions which override the subjective main residence rule:

   i. Children under 16 away at school are included as members;

   ii. Older persons receiving education away from home, including children aged 16 and 17, are excluded unless they are at home for all or most of the record-keeping period.

   iii. Visitors staying temporarily with the household and others who have been in the household for only a short time are treated as members provided they will be staying with the household for at least one month from the start of record-keeping.

Household composition

A consequence of these definitions is that household compositions quoted in this report include some households where certain members are temporarily absent. For example, "one adult and children" households will contain a few households where one parent is temporarily away from home.

Adult

In the report, persons who have reached the age of 18 or who are married are classed as adults.

Children

In the report, persons who are under 18 years of age and unmarried are classed as children.

However, in the definition of clothing, clothing for persons aged 16 years and over is classified as clothing for men and women; clothing for those aged five but under 16 as clothing for boys and girls; and clothing for those under five as babies clothing.

Spenders

Members of households who are aged 16 or more, excluding those who for special reasons are not capable of keeping diary record-books, are described as spenders.

Economically active

These are persons aged 16 or over who fall into the following categories:

a. Employees at work - those who at the time of interview were working full-time or part-time as employees or were away from work on holiday. Part-time work is defined as normally working 30 hours a week or less (excluding meal breaks) including regularly worked overtime.

b. Employees temporarily away from work - those who at the time of interview had a job but were absent because of illness or accident, temporary lay-off, strike etc.

c. Government supported training schemes - those participating in government programmes and schemes who in the course of their participation receive training, such as Employment Training, including those who are also employees in employment.

d. Self-employed - those who at the time of interview said they were self-employed.

e. Unemployed - those who at time of interview were out of employment, and have sought work within the last four weeks and were available to start work within two weeks, or were waiting to start a job already obtained.

f. Unpaid family workers - those working unpaid for their own or a relative's business. In the Family Spending report, unpaid family workers are included under economically inactive in analyses by economic status (tables 3.1 and 9.1) because insufficient information is available to assign them to an economic status group.

Economically inactive

a. Retired - persons who have reached national insurance retirement age (60 and over for women, 65 and over for men) and are not economically active.

b. Unoccupied - persons under national insurance retirement age who are not working, nor actively seeking work. This category includes certain self-employed persons such as mail order agents and baby-sitters who are not classified as economically active.

In the Family Spending report, unpaid family workers are classified as economically inactive in analyses by economic status, although they are economically active by definition. This is because insufficient information is available to assign them to an economic status group.

National Statistics Socio-economic classification (NS-SEC)

From 2001, the National Statistics Socio-economic classification (NS-SEC) was adopted for all official surveys, in place of Social Class based on Occupation and Socio-economic group. NS-SEC is itself based on the Standard Occupational Classification 2000 (SOC2000) and details of employment status. Although NS-SEC is an occupationally based classification, there are procedures for classifying those not in work. The main categories used for analysis in Family Spending are:

1 Higher managerial and professional occupations, sub-divided into:
- 1.1 Large employers and higher managerial occupations
- 1.2 Higher professional occupations

2 Lower managerial and professional occupations
3 Intermediate occupations
4 Small employers and own account workers
5 Lower supervisory and technical occupations
6 Semi-routine occupations
7 Routine occupations
8 Never worked and long-term unemployed

The long-term unemployed, which fall into a separate category, are defined as those unemployed and seeking work for 12 months or more. Members of the armed forces, who were assigned to a separate category in Social Class, are included within the NS-SEC classification. Residual groups that remain unclassified include students and those with inadequately described occupations. For the purposes of Family Spending, retired individuals are not assigned an NS-SEC category.

For the EFS, NS-SEC of a household refers to the NS-SEC based on the occupation of the household reference person. It is coded where the HRP is currently in paid work, or is economically inactive and has worked in the last 12 months (excluding retired HRPs who are not coded), or is unemployed and has ever worked.

Regions

These are the Government Office Regions as formed in 1994. See Appendix D of Family Spending 2001-02 and/or Volume 3 of the User Documentation for more details.

Expenditure

Any definition of expenditure is to some extent arbitrary, and the inclusion of certain types of payment is a matter of convenience or convention depending on the purpose for which the information is to be used. In the tables in the Family Spending report, total expenditure represents current expenditure on goods and services. Total expenditure, defined in this way, excludes those recorded payments which are really savings or investments (e.g. purchases of national savings certificates, life assurance premiums, contributions to pension funds). Similarly, income tax payments, national insurance contributions, mortgage capital repayments and other payments for major additions to dwellings are excluded. Expenditure data are collected in the diary record-book and in the household schedule. Informants are asked to record in the diary any payments made during the 14 days of record-keeping, whether or not the goods or services paid for have been received. Certain types of expenditure which are usually regular though infrequent, such as insurance, licences and season tickets, and the periods to which they relate, are recorded in the household schedule as well as regular payments such as utility bills.

The cash purchase of motor vehicles is also entered in the household schedule. In addition, expenditure on some items purchased infrequently (thereby being subject to high sampling errors) has been recorded in the household schedule using a retrospective recall period of either three or 12 months. These items include carpets, furniture, holidays and some housing costs. In order to avoid duplication, all payments shown in the diary record-book which relate to items listed in the household or income schedules are omitted in the analysis of the data irrespective of whether there is a corresponding entry on the latter schedules. Amounts paid in respect of periods longer than a week are converted to weekly values.

Expenditure tables in the Family Spending report show the main commodity groups of spending and these are broken down into items which are numbered hierarchically. Table 7.1 shows a further breakdown in the items themselves into components which can be separately identified. The items are numbered as in the main expenditure tables and against each item or component are shown the average weekly household expenditure and percentage standard error.

Qualifications which apply to this concept of expenditure are described in the following paragraphs:

a. Goods supplied from a household's own shop or farm

Spenders are asked to record and give the value of goods obtained from their own shop or farm, even if the goods are withdrawn from stock for personal use without payment. The value is included as expenditure.

b. Hire purchase and credit sales agreements, and transactions financed by loans repaid by instalments

Expenditure on transactions under hire purchase or credit sales agreements, or financed by loans repaid by instalments, consists of all instalments which are still being paid at the date of interview, together with down payments on commodities acquired within the preceding three months. These two components (divided by the periods covered) provide the weekly averages which are included in the expenditure on the separate items given in the tables in the Family Spending report.

c. Club payments and budget account payments, instalments through mail order firms and similar forms of credit transaction

When goods are purchased by forms of credit other than hire purchase and credit sales agreement, the expenditure on them may be estimated either from the amount of the instalment which is paid or from the value of the goods which are acquired. Since the particular commodities to which the instalment relates may not be known, details of goods ordered through clubs, etc. during the month prior to the date of interview are recorded in the household schedule. The weekly equivalent of the value of the goods is included in the expenditure on the separate items given in the tables in this report. This procedure has the advantage of enabling club transactions to be related to specific articles. Although payments into clubs, etc. are shown in the diary record-book, these entries are excluded from expenditure estimates.

d. Credit card transactions

From 1988 purchases made by credit card or charge card have been recorded in the survey on an acquisition basis rather than the formerly used payment basis. Thus, if a spender acquired an item (by use of credit/charge card) during the two week survey period, the value of the item would be included as part of expenditure in that period whether or not any payment was made in this period to the credit card account. Payments made to the card account are ignored. However any payment of credit/charge card interest is included in expenditure if made in the two week period.

e. Income Tax

Amounts of income tax deducted under the PAYE scheme or paid directly by those who are employers or self-employed are recorded (together with information about tax refunds). For employers and the self-employed the amounts comprise the actual payments made in the previous twelve months and may not correspond to the tax due on the income arising in that period, e.g. if no tax has been paid but is due or if tax payments cover more than one financial year. However, the amounts of tax deducted at source from some of the items which appear in the Income Schedule are not directly available. Estimates of the tax paid on bank and building society interest and amounts deducted from dividends on stocks and shares are therefore made by applying the appropriate rates of tax. In the case of income tax paid at source on pensions and annuities, similar adjustments are made. These estimates mainly affect the relatively few households with high incomes from interest and dividends, and households including someone receiving a pension from previous employment.

f. Rented dwellings

Housing expenditure is taken as the sum of expenditure on rent, rates, council tax, water rates etc. For local authority tenants the expenditure is gross rent less any rebate (including rebate received in the form of housing benefit), and for other tenants gross rent less any rent allowance received under statutory schemes including the Housing Benefit Scheme. Rebate on Council Tax or rates (Northern Ireland) is deducted from expenditure on Council Tax or rates. Receipts from sub-letting part of the dwelling are not deducted from housing costs but appear (net of the expenses of the sub-letting) as investment income. Average payments by households renting accommodation for repairs, maintenance and decorations are shown separately in the estimates of expenditure by such households in tables 1.4 and 5.4 of Family Spending 2001-02 which give housing expenditure by tenure type. Accommodation rented from a housing association is shown separately.

g. Rent-free dwellings

Rent-free dwellings are those owned by someone outside the household and where either no rent is charged or the rent is paid by someone outside the household. Households whose rent is paid directly to the landlord by the DSS do not live rent-free. Payments for Council Tax, water rates etc., are regarded as the cost of housing. Rebate on rates(Northern Ireland)/Council Tax/water rates(Scotland) (including rebate received in the form of housing benefit), is deducted from expenditure on rates/Council Tax/water rates. Receipts from sub-letting part of the dwelling are not deducted from housing costs but appear (net of the expenses of the sub-letting) as investment income. The average of any payments for repairs etc. made by households living rent free is shown separately in tables 1.4 and 5.4 of the Family Spending report.

h. Owner-occupied dwellings

Payments for Council Tax, rates (Northern Ireland), water rates, ground rent, mortgage interest payments, insurance of structure etc., are regarded as the cost of housing. Rebate on rates(Northern Ireland)/Council Tax/water rates(Scotland) (including rebate received in the form of housing benefit for the rented element of shared ownership dwellings) is deducted from expenditure on Council Tax/rates. Receipts from letting part of the dwelling are not deducted from housing costs but appear (net of the expenses of the letting) as investment income. Mortgage capital repayments and amounts paid for the outright purchase of the dwelling or for major structural alterations are not included as housing expenditure, but are entered under "Other payments recorded". Average payments by owner-occupied households for repairs, maintenance and decoration are shown separately in the estimates of expenditure by tenure type.

i. Second-hand goods and part-exchange transactions

The survey expenditure data are based on information about actual payments and therefore include payments for second-hand goods and part-exchange transactions. New payments only are included for part-exchange transactions, i.e. the costs of the goods obtained less the amounts allowed for the goods which are traded in. Receipts for goods sold or traded in are not included in income.

j. Business expenses

The survey covers only private households and is concerned with payments made by members of households as private individuals. Spenders are asked to state whether expenditure which has been recorded on the schedules includes amounts which will be refunded as expenses from a business or organisation or which will be entered as business expenses for income tax purposes, e.g. rent, telephone charges, travelling expenses, meals out. Any such amounts are deducted from the recorded expenditure.

Income

The standard concept of income in the survey is, as far as possible, that of gross weekly cash income current at the time of interview, i.e. before the deduction of income tax actually paid, national insurance contributions and other deductions at source. However, for a few tables in the Family Spending report a concept of disposable income is used, defined as gross weekly cash income less the statutory deductions and payments of income tax (taking refunds into account) and national insurance contributions. Some other analyses of EFS data use "equivalisation" of incomes - i.e. adjustment of household income to allow for the different size and composition of each household. Equivalisation is not used in Family Spending. Analyses by specific household compositions show a full picture. The cash levels of certain items of income (and expenditure) recorded in the survey by households receiving supplementary benefit were affected by the Housing Benefit Scheme introduced in stages from November 1982. From 1984 housing expenditure is given on a strictly net basis and all rent/council tax rebates and allowances and housing benefit are excluded from gross income.

Although information about most types of income is obtained on a current basis, some data, principally income from investment and from self-employment, are estimated over a twelve-month period.

The following are excluded from the assessment of income:

a. money received by one member of the household from another (e.g. housekeeping money, dress allowance, children's pocket money) other than wages paid to resident domestic servants;

b. withdrawals of savings, receipts from maturing insurance policies, proceeds from sale of financial and other assets (e.g. houses, cars, furniture, etc.), winnings from betting, lump-sum gratuities and windfalls such as legacies;

c. the value of educational grants and scholarships not paid in cash;

d. the value of income in kind, including the value of goods received free and the abatement in cost of goods received at reduced prices, and of bills paid by someone who is not a member of the household;

e. loans and money received in repayment of loans.

Details are obtained of the income of each member of the household. The income of the household is taken to be the sum of the incomes of all its members. The information does not relate to a common or a fixed time period. Items recorded for periods greater than a week are converted to a weekly value.

Particular points relating to some components of income are as follows:

a. Wages and salaries of employees

The normal gross wages or salaries of employees are taken to be their earnings. These are calculated by adding to the normal "take home" pay amounts deducted at source, such as income tax payments, national insurance contributions and other deductions, e.g. payments into firm social clubs, superannuation schemes, works transport, benevolent funds etc. Employees are asked to give the earnings actually received including bonuses and commission the last time payment was made and, if different, the amount usually received. It is the amount usually received which is regarded as the normal take-home pay. Additions are made so as to include in normal earnings the value of occasional payments, such as bonuses or commissions received quarterly or annually. One of the principal objects in obtaining data on income is to enable expenditure to be classified in ranges of normal income. Average household expenditure is likely to be based on the long-term expectations of the various members of the household as to their incomes rather than be altered by short-term changes affecting individuals. Hence if an employee has been away from work without pay for 13 weeks or less he is regarded as continuing to receive his normal earnings instead of social security benefits, such as unemployment or sickness benefit, that he may be receiving. Otherwise, his normal earnings are disregarded and his current short-term social security benefits taken instead. Wages and salaries include any earnings from subsidiary employment as an employee and the earnings of HM Forces.

b. Income from self-employment

Income from self-employment covers any personal income from employment other than as an employee; for example, as a sole trader, professional or other person working on his own account or in partnership, including subsidiary work on his own account by a person whose main job is as an employee. It is measured from estimates of income or trading profits, after deduction of business expenses but before deduction of tax, over the most recent twelve-month period for which figures can be given. Should either a loss have been made or no profit, income would be taken as the amounts drawn from the business for own use or as any other income received from the job or business. Persons working as mail order agents or baby-sitters, with no other employment, have been classified as unoccupied rather than as self-employed, and the earnings involved have been classified as earnings from "other sources" rather than self-employment income.

c. Income from investment

Income from investments or from property, other than that in which the household is residing, is the amount received during the twelve months immediately prior to the date of the initial interview. It includes receipts from sub-letting part of the dwelling (net of the expenses of the sub-letting). If income tax has been deducted at source the gross amount is estimated by applying a conversion factor during processing.

d. Social security benefits

Income from social security benefits does not include the short-term payments such as unemployment or sickness benefit received by an employee who has been away from work for 13 weeks or less, and who is therefore regarded as continuing to receive his normal earnings as described in Appendix D, p183, of Family Spending 2001-02.

Quantiles

The quantiles of a distribution, e.g. of household expenditure or income, divide it into a number of equal parts; each of which contains the same number of households.

For example, the median of a distribution divides it into two equal parts, so that half the households in a distribution of household income will have income more than the median, and the other half will have income less than the median. Similarly, quartiles, quintiles and deciles divide the distribution into four, five and ten equal parts respectively.

Most of the analysis in Family Spending is done in terms of quintile groups and decile groups.

In the calculation of quantiles for this report, zero values are counted as part of the distribution.

The raw database

This section of the User Documentation describes the raw database. The raw database contains data 'as it was received'. That is, before any calculations or aggregations have been carried out.

The document is in five parts, as outlined below.

Part 1 - Raw table definitions

This part of the document is about information on sources for the raw data

Parts 2 - 4 : Raw variable lists

These three lists allow details of a variable (such as the table in which it is found, or the question to which it relates) to be looked up if the variable name (Part 2 - ordered by variable name), variable description (Part 3 - ordered by variable description) or question number (Part 4 - ordered by question reference) is known. The following information is contained in each list (the order in which this information is given depends on the ordering of the list):

Variable name: the database name of the variable
Variable description: a brief description of the variable
Table name: the spss file in which the variable can be found (this will inform you whether the variable type is at household level or person level.)
Question reference: the question number relating to the variable, as contained within the Household (if pre-fixed by H) or Income (if pre-fixed by I) Questionnaire. This can also be used to look up the coding frame for a particular variable, if relevant, in Part 5.

Part 5: Raw variable coding frame

This lists the coding frame for each of the variables in the questionnaires referenced by the question reference. Household variables are given first followed by variables from the Income Questionnaire.

THE RAW DATABASE
Explanatory Notes

Variable Blocks

Each question is part of a block according to the topic it falls under. For example, questions H 220.5 through to H 220.100 are all about gas payments. Respondents are asked how they pay for gas, whether they receive rebates, how much they paid last time and so on. Users should refer to the Household Questionnaire to see exactly which block any given variable belongs to.

Variable Loops

Users need to be aware that for some variables more than one "loop" may exist. This is where the same questions have been asked more than once. For example, at questions H 310.10 to H 310.40* (in the Household Questionnaire), respondents are asked about vehicle servicing. If they have more than one service then the questions will be repeated, resulting in responses to variable srvpsn (through to svmore) and then srvpsn2 (through to svmore2), and so on. This means that in order to determine the total cost of vehicle servicing, variable servpy through to servpy3 need to be added together.

* see Household Questionnaire for more detailed variable information

The Household Questionnaire and the Income Questionnaire feed into two tables - "rawhh" for household aggregated data or "rawper" for data pertaining to personal income or expenditure.

2001 rawhh.sav	Household information data
2001 rawper.sav	Person information data

* Raw diary information is contained in a separate SPSS file. This information is not publicly available for confidentiality reasons. In addition, household and person variables which may be disclosive have been anonymised.

Standard Period Codes

A new period coding frame was introduced from April 1996. A number of questions relating to period covered use this standard set of codes.

THE DERIVED DATABASE
Explanatory Notes

See Volume 1, Part 3 - Database Definitions - for definitions of terms used

The derived database

This section of the User Documentation, in five parts, describes the derived database. A summary of anonymisation, particularly in relation to council tax, is given in the following section.

Part 1 - Derived table definitions in table name order

This part of the document can be used to look up details of the variables and coding frames when the table name (SPSS file name) is known. The following information is given for each table:

Table name: the name of the table as given in the database
Table comments: a brief description of the table
Variable name, description and coding frame: a list of the variables that are contained within the table along with the coding frame used (if applicable)

Parts 2 and 3 : Derived variable lists

These two lists allow details of a variable to be looked up if the variable name is known (Part 2 - ordered by variable name) or variable description (Part 3 - ordered by variable description). The following information is contained in each list:

Variable name: the database name of the variable
Variable description: a brief description of the variable

Part 4 - Specification of product codes (p-codes)

Product codes (or p-codes) are aggregated codes, some at household level and some at personal level. Part 4 gives descriptions of these codes in 'English' as an aid to understanding their structure. More detailed explanatory notes on the use of p-codes is given at the beginning of Part 4.

Part 5 - Coding frames for derived codes

This part of the document gives definitions of the coding frames, along with the names of the variables which make use of them. The table name can itself be identified using one of the variable lists (Part 2 or 3).

Note:

Table name is a shortened reference to the individual data files which are held as SPSS files
Table level refers to the level of detail contained in the SPSS data files

Variable information

Certain variable names are suffixed with a letter and their definition is as follows:

'a' adult expenditure
'c' child expenditure
'l' expenditure in a large supermarket
'p' anonymised (proxy) variables
't' total child and adult expenditure
'u' unanonymised variables
'x' clothing/footwear expenditure in a selected clothing chain
'y' clothing/footwear expenditure in a large supermarket
'z' clothing/footwear expenditure in a charity shop

Variables are now defined under the new coding structure, COICOP and COICOP-plus – this is explained further in Volume 4 (explanatory notes).

Anonymisation in the 2001-2002 EFS

The anonymisation principle

The undertaking given to EFS respondents specifies that the information they provide will be treated in confidence and that no identifiable information about individuals or households will be made available to data users. Therefore a precaution taken in releasing microdata is to 'anonymise' certain variables which could lead to the disclosure of the identity of a household. This means that the values stored for these variables must be adjusted in some way. In practise, sensitive variables are 'anonymised' by either recalculating or setting to zero. The most complex anonymisation is that of the council tax group of variables. This is described in more detail below.

Anonymising the council tax variables

One of the general precautions taken to preserve confidentiality is to provide no information to users about the local/unitary authority of the household. In Great Britain, each local authority sets its own council tax level (and water and sewerage charge levels in Scotland). Therefore, in general, the amount of council tax payable in a certain local authority is different from that payable in others. This means that if the amount of council tax paid is known, the local authority can probably be identified. This in turn increases the risk of a particular household or individual being identified. Therefore no information on the exact amount of council tax (or water or sewerage charge) paid is released to users.

Instead of making available information on the exact amounts to users, 'anonymised' variables are calculated. These indicate the level of council tax (and water and sewerage charges in Scotland) for each household. The approximation is calculated by pooling several authorities within a region, from which a pool average is calculated. These averages are then applied to each household such that the value of council tax shown is close to the real value but such that the local authority cannot be identified.

Identifying anonymised variables in the dataset

Any variable suffixed with the letter p has been anonymised. Any variable suffixed with the letter u is unanonymised and access to it is restricted to staff in the EFS branch at the ONS.

All variables which use an unanonymised variable in their derivations are recalculated to exclude the unanonymised variable. For example, variable p550u is total expenditure and is available only to authorised ONS staff; variable p550p is the anonymised total expenditure variable which is released to other users and has been recalculated to include anonymised council tax, water and sewerage charges.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

1. Unless stated otherwise, product codes are formed for positive results only.

2. For product codes having monetary values, results are recorded to 3 decimal places of a pound.

3. For product codes having numerical values, other than money, results are recorded as integers.

4. In general, codes P001 to P199 are calculated for each person (unless otherwise indicated). Codes P200 and above are calculated for each household.

5. Unless stated otherwise, all monetary values appear as weekly equivalents. For Northern Ireland only rateable value (code B070U) appears on the household schedule as an annual value but should be recorded on the database as a weekly equivalent; rate poundage (code B080U) should appear at the rate in the pound payable.

6. Product codes P116 to P121, P126 to P136 and P153 are accumulated at person (spender) level from all sources i.e. from diary record books over the 14 days of record keeping, from credit, HP, and loan records, from standing orders, and from deductions from current pay. Only item codes with qualifiers 0, 1, and 3, are accumulated.

7. Product codes P515 to P528, P530, P531, P535 to P550 include payments made via credit, HP, standing order, or deductions from current pay (because they use codes P116 to P121, P126, P128, P130 to P136 and P153).

8. Deductions from pay (main and/or subsidiary jobs) are recorded as weekly amounts as follows:-

Union Fees	DVUNI (person)
Sports/Social clubs	DVSPT (person)
Additional Voluntary Contributions	DVAVC (person)
Friendly Societies	DVFRIE (person)
Repaying your Employer	DVREM (person)
Other Deductions - Main Job	DVDEDO (person)
Other Deductions - Subsidiary Job	DVDEDS1 (person)

9. B327 is the sum of all diary items with a qualifier code of '1' to indicate a "self supply" item of expenditure.

10. Negative answers should be tested for and only accepted where shown.

11. If a value is missing it is equal to zero.

12. From April 1995 (previously FES) , data for expenditure by children has been collected.

Motor vehicle purchase price codes produced for National Accounts:-

P108 New Cars - Purchase Price:-
P108 is the cash purchase price of new cars or vans bought through a loan or hire purchase agreement during the 3 months before the interview date.

if LnFin = '71112' (car or van purchased) or '92115' and LnAge < = 3 (age of loan is less than or equal to 3months), then P108 equals LnIPric (total cash price) divided by 13;

plus if instalments have been made on the HP or credit sale agreement loan:
HPFin [HP or credit sale agreement] = '71112' or'92115', and STARTDAT [date of interview] less the implied date of the HP or credit sale agreement is < = 3 [interview date is less than or equal to 3 months] then P108 = the value calculated above plus CASHHP / 13 [the weekly equivalent value of the cash price divided by 13];

plus if new cars or vans have been purchased, a down payment made but for which no instalment has been paid; HP2Fin = '71112' or '92115' and STARTDAT less date of down payment is < = 3 then P108 = the value from second condition above plus HPPrice / 13 (the weekly equivalent value of the cash price of the new car/van purchased).

NOTES FOR CODING FRAMES

NOTE 1
This code is formed by identifying the first working married woman in each household (Code A004, value 2, Code A006, value 1 or 2 and Code A015, value 1). Where a working married woman is identified the number of children unmarried and aged under 18 within the same family unit (BENUNIT) are then counted and Code A053 with values 1 to 7 above is formed for the household. Values 8 to 14 are formed for all other households with a married woman, the number of children being determined as before.

NOTE 2
For code A061U children are aged under 16 and adults are aged 16 or over.

NOTE 3
For code A062 children are defined as unmarried and under 18. Adults are all married people and unmarried people aged 18 or over.

NOTE 4
For code A063 children are defined as those aged under 16 and those aged 16, 17 or 18, unmarried and in full-time, non-advanced education (i.e. still at school).

NOTE 5
The range number is obtained by dividing the age by 5, any fraction remaining is ignored. All ages over 100 are in range 19.

NOTE 6
Pensioner households are those in which the following sources of income amount to at least 75% of the total household income plus housing benefit (i.e. codes P344 + P220P or P220U):-

a) NI disablement/war disability pensions received by men aged 60 or more.

b) Current income support received in conjunction with NI disablement/war disability pensions by men aged 60 or over who are not in employment or who have been away from work without pay for more than 13 weeks.

c) NI retirement pensions or current invalidity pensions received by men aged 65 or over.

d) Current unemployment, sickness, industrial injury or income support received by men aged 65 or over who are not in employment or who have been away from work without pay for more than 13 weeks.

e) NI retirement, widows, war disability or current invalidity pensions received by women aged 60 or over.

f) Current unemployment, sickness, industrial injury or income support received by women aged 60 or over who are not in employment or who have been away from work without pay for more than 13 weeks.

g) Housing benefit (i.e. the difference between gross and net housing costs as defined by code P220P or P220U), providing any of the above conditions apply.

Index household = (non-pensioner household, where income of household is less than £*)
Wealthy household = (non-pensioner household, where income of household is £* or more)

* 2001-2002 values were : Q1 £1423.99 per week
Q2 £1473.60 per week
Q3 £1439.19 per week
Q4 £1569.34 per week

Expenditure codes

In the Expenditure and Food Survey, information about expenditure is collected at a detailed level. It is collected through both the diary (which respondents fill in daily for a fortnight) and through the Household Questionnaire. The coding structure has changed from the previous coding used in the Family Expenditure Survey. The new coding structure is based on a European classification, 'The Classification Of Individual Consumption by Purpose' (COICOP).

Items of expenditure are assigned a five digit code which represents the type of expenditure (the code might represent 'bread', 'mortgage payments' or 'visits to the cinema', for example). These five digit codes are listed in Part 1 of this volume - Expenditure Codes : Summary. There are 12 main categories of expenditure plus an extra category for 'Non-consumption' expenditure. This extra 'Non-consumption' category is not covered by COICOP. The EFS categories are:

01		Food and Non-Alcoholic Beverages
02		Alcoholic Beverages, Tobacco and Narcotics
03		Clothing and Footwear
04		Housing, Water, Electricity, Gas and Other Fuels

COICOP has four levels of detail, which are referred as follows:

01	Division
01.1	Group
01.1.1	Class
01.1.1.1	COICOP expenditure code

For EFS, coding has an extra level called COICOP-plus which allows for more detailed recording of expenditure items.

EXPENDITURE CODES

Part 2 of this volume - Expenditure Codes : Detail - is the 'data dictionary'. It gives an indication of the types of items to be found under each expenditure code, but it should be remembered that the list is not exhaustive.

The flow diagram in Volume 1 of the User Documentation gives a useful outline of the flow of data between the different parts of the dataset. It indicates the tables in which expenditure codes are used.

The expenditure code can be used as either a row label or a column label within the dataset. This is explained further below.

The COICOP-PLUS codes used as a 'value'

When the diary data is entered into the computer, each item purchased is allocated a code. The lists in this volume of the User Documentation show the codes in the form

This emphasises the hierarchical nature of the codes where each letter represents a number, for example 09.3.3.1.01. When the number at "A" is 10 or more, this may appear as a letter in the dataset. That is, for divisions 10, 11, 12 and 20, the code in the dataset may be in the form

A.1.1.1.1
K.1.1.1.1

These codes define 'rows' within certain tables (e.g. SET114): that is, the codes don't represent variables in their own right but 'values' within variables. The row might show the person number, the expenditure code and the amount spent on that item, for instance. Where this is the case, the expenditure codes effectively represent a 'coding frame' and as such they are included, as appropriate, in the raw table definitions in Volume 2, Part 1 of the User Documentation.

In SET89 variables from the questionnaire are also allocated an expenditure code and are combined with the diary data. This includes expenditure through loans and hire purchase recorded in the Household Questionnaire. To avoid duplication, diary items that are also covered in the questionnaire do not go through to SET89 but are re-directed to SET900 and are not used in any further tables.

The COICOP-PLUS code used as a variable

In some derived tables, the expenditure codes define columns within the table and then the COICOP-PLUS code is pre-fixed 'C' and the point "." is dropped, for example CC1312 in the household derived dataset (dvhh) refers to household expenditure on toiletries (12.1.3.1.02). Here the codes represent variables in their own right. Therefore, the C-codes are included in User Documentation Volume 3 - The Derived Database.

This is a new survey and new coding structure. See Volume 5 for a complete listing of changes between Family Expenditure Survey (FES) and Expenditure and Food Survey (EFS).

DATABASE CHANGES

Explanatory Notes

This volume of the documentation describes the way in which the 2001-2002 database has changed in relation to the 2000-2001 database. The merger of the Family Expenditure Survey with the National Food Survey, to form the Expenditure and Food Survey, has resulted in a large number of changes. More detailed information rather than changes are given on variables and codes. This volume is divided into 13 parts.

Part 1 - Changes to raw variables are listed in terms of those that are new for 2001-2002.

Part 2 - Lists the variables that have been deleted from 2000-2001

Part 3 - Lists any variables that have been amended from 2000-2001 including a description of the change. Note that a large number of raw variables have had name changes as a result of the introduction of new processing software.

For parts 4-6 - Changes to derived variables
Many derived variables remain unchanged in name, but it should be remembered that there may well be changes in the contents of the variables that feed into them. However, as a result of new software systems there are also many variables which have had name changes. You should check the composition of the variables you intend using. Changes to derived variables are listed that:

Part 4 - are new for 2001-2002

Part 5 - have been deleted from 2000-2001 and

Part 6 - which have been amended from 2000-2001, including a description of the change.

Parts 7-9 - EFS expenditure codes
Expenditure codes are also listed and explained in Volume 4 of the User Documentation.

Part 7 - details of expenditure codes which are new to 2001-2002

Part 8 - details expenditure codes which have been deleted from 2000-2001 and

Part 9 - shows expenditure codes which are amended from 2000-2001, with details of the changes.

MAJOR CHANGES

Changes in definitions 1991 to 2001-2002

Family Expenditure Survey:

1991
No significant changes.

1992
Housing – Imputed rent for owner occupiers and households in rent-free accommodation has been discontinued. For owner occupiers this was the rent they would have had pay themselves to live in the property they own, and for households in rent-free accommodation it was the rent they would normally have had to pay. Up to 1990 these amounts were counted both as income and as a housing cost. Mortgage interest payments were counted as a housing cost for the first time in 1991.

1993
Council Tax - Council Tax was introduced to replace the Community Charge in Great Britain from April 1993.

1994-1995
New expenditure items - The definition of expenditure was extended to include two items previously shown under "other payments recorded". These are:

gambling payments;
mortgage protection premiums.

Expenditure classifications - A new classification system for expenditures was introduced in April 1994. The system is hierarchical and allows more detail to be preserved than the previous system. New categories of expenditure were introduced and are shown in detail in table 7.1. The 14 main groups of expenditure were retained, but there were some changes in the content of these groups.

Gambling Payments - data on gambling expenditure and winnings are collected in the expenditure diary. Previously these have been excluded from the definition of household expenditure used in the FES. The data have been shown as memoranda items under the heading "Other payments recorded" on both gross and net bases. The net basis corresponds approximately to the treatment of gambling in the National Accounts. The introduction of the National Lottery has stimulated a reconsideration of this treatment. From April 1994, (gross) gambling payments have been included as expenditure in "Leisure Services". Gambling winnings continued to be noted as a memorandum item under "Other items recorded". They are treated as windfall income. They do not form a part of normal household income, nor are they subtracted from gross gambling payments. This treatment is in line with the PRODCOM classification of the Statistical Office of the European Communities (SOEC) for expenditure in household budget surveys.

1995-1996

Geographical coverage - The FES geographical coverage was extended to mainland Scotland north of the Caledonian Canal.

Under 16s diaries - Two week expenditure diaries for 7-15 year olds were introduced following three feasibility pilot studies which found that children of that age group were able to cope with the task of keeping a two week expenditure record. Children are asked to record everything they buy with their own money but to exclude items bought with other people's money. Purchases are coded according to the same coding categories as adult diaries except for meals and snacks away from home which are coded as school meals, hot meals and snacks, and cold meals and snacks. Children who keep a diary are given a £5 incentive payment. A refusal to keep an under 16's diary does not invalidate the household from inclusion in the survey.

Pocket money given to children is still recorded separately in adult diaries; and money paid by adults for school meals and school travel is recorded in the Household Questionnaire. However, no attempt is made to determine whether money given to children for the purpose of school meals or school travel is actually used for those purposes.

Databases and tables in Family Spending reports for 1994-95 to 1997-98 excluded these expenditures, however, and pocket money and other transfers to children were shown in the same way as in earlier years. From 1998-99 they include results from the under 16s diaries. Appendix G of the 1998-99 report shows what difference the inclusion made.

1996-1997

Self-employment - The way in which information about income from self-employment is collected was substantially revised in 1996-97 following various tests and pilot studies. The quality of such data was increased but this may have lead to a discontinuity. Full details are shown the Income Questionnaire, available from the address in the introduction.

Cable/satellite television - Information on cable and satellite subscriptions is now collected from the household questionnaire rather than from the diary, leading to more respondents reporting this expenditure.

Mobile phones - Expenditure on mobile phones was previously collected through the diary. From 1996/97 this has been included in the questionnaire.

Job seekers allowance (JSA) - Introduced in October 1996 as a replacement for Unemployment Benefit and any Income Support associated with the payment of Unemployment Benefit. Receipt of JSA is collected with NI Unemployment Benefit and with Income Support. In both cases the number of weeks a respondent has been in receipt of these benefits is taken as the number of weeks receiving JSA in the last 12 months and before that period the number of weeks receiving Unemployment Benefit/Income Support.

Retrospective recall - The period over which information is requested has been extended from 3 to 12 months for vehicle purchase and sale. Information on the purchase of car and motorcycle spare parts is no longer collected by retrospective recall. Instead expenditure on these items is collected through the diary.

State benefits - The lists of benefits specifically asked about was reviewed in 1996/97. See the Income Questionnaire for more information.

Sample stratifiers - New stratifiers were introduced in 1996/97 based on standard regions, socio-economic group and car ownership.

Government Office Regions - Regional analyses are now presented using the Government Office Regions (GORs) formed in 1994. Previously all regional analyses used Standard Statistical Regions (SSRs). For more information see Appendix F.

1997-1998

Bank/Building society service charges - Collection of information on service charges levied by banks has been extended to include building societies.

Payments from unemployment/redundancy insurances - Information is now collected on payments received from private unemployment and redundancy insurance policies. This information is then incorporated into the calculation of income from other sources.

Retired households - The definition of retired households has been amended to exclude households where the head of the household is economically active.

Rent-free tenure - The definition of rent-free tenure has been amended to include those households for which someone outside the household, except an employer or an organisation, is paying a rent or mortgage on behalf of the household.

National Lottery - From February 1997, expenditure on National lottery tickets was collected as three separate items: tickets for the Wednesday draw only, tickets for the Saturday draw only and tickets for both draws.

1998-1999

Children's income – Three new expenditure codes were introduced: pocket money to children; money given to children for specific purposes and cash gifts to children. These replaced a single code covering all three categories.

Main job and last paid job – Harmonised questions were adopted.

1999-2000

Working Family Tax Credit – the questionnaire was altered to deal with the replacement of Family Credit by Working Family Tax Credit in October 1999.

MAJOR CHANGES

2000-01

Household definition – the definition was changed to the harmonised definition which has been in use in the Census and nearly all other government household surveys since 1981. The effect is to group together into a single household some people who would have been allocated to separate households on the previous definition. The effect is fairly small but not negligible.

Up to 1999-2000 the FES definition was based on the pre-1981 Census definition and required members to share eating and budgeting arrangements as well as shared living accommodation. The definition of a household was:

> One person or a group of people who have the accommodation as their only or main residence > and (for a group)
> share the living accommodation, that is a living or sitting room > and share meals together (or have common housekeeping).

The harmonised definition is less restrictive:

> One person or a group of people who have the accommodation as their only or main residence
> and (for a group)
> share the living accommodation, that is a living or sitting room > or share meals together or have common housekeeping.

The report on the 2000-01 survey, Family Spending 2000-01, contains a discussion of the effect of the change in Chapter 9. There is no clear-cut answer but the effect may be to increase average household size by a maximum of 1.9 per cent.

Question reductions
A thorough review of the questionnaire showed that a number of questions were no longer needed by government users. These were cut from the 2000-01 survey to reduce the burden on respondents. The reduction was fairly small but it did make the interview flow better. All the questions needed for a complete record of expenditure and income were retained.

Redesigned diary
The diary was redesigned to be easier for respondents to keep and to look cleaner. The main change of substance was to delete the column for recording whether each item was purchased by credit, charge or shop card.

Ending of MIRAS
Tax relief on interest on loans for house purchase was abolished from April 2000. Questions related to MIRAS were therefore dropped. They included some that were needed to estimate the amount if the respondent did not know it. A number were retained for other purposes, however, such as the amount of the loan still outstanding which is still asked for households paying a reduced rate of interest because one of them works for the lender.

Expenditure and Food Survey

2001-02

FES → EFS - From April 2001, the Expenditure and Food Survey (EFS) has replaced the Family Expenditure Survey (FES) and the National Food Survey (NFS). In 1997 ONS reviewed its multi-purpose surveys and found that the FES and the NFS had a significant degree of overlap between them. For example, it was noted that they were both diary surveys and both collected data on food expenditure. ONS and MAFF, the sponsors of the NFS, agreed a collaborative programme to develop a merged survey. The intensive development and testing that followed was successful and the two departments agreed to go ahead with the merged survey. MAFF has now become the Department for Environment and Rural Affairs (DEFRA). A full account of the development is in the Social Survey Methodology Bulletin No. 48 (www.statistics.gov.uk/statbase/product.asp?vlnk=8127&move=N)

The following key features have been implemented into the EFS:

- The survey is broadly based on the FES – that is a household interview to collect regular payments and purchases of certain large items by retrospective recall, full income details from every adult and a two week diary of all spending kept by every person aged 7 upwards.

- Food weights for food brought home are collected in the diary.

- A more detailed coding frame than on the FES is used for food, both food brought home and food eaten out. (Expenditure code changes are detailed later on).

- The survey should record home grown and wild food (e.g. blackberries).

MAJOR CHANGES

Expenditure classification: COICOP – From April 2001 the EFS has changed to a wholly different classification of goods and services based on COICOP, the Classification of Individual Consumption by Purpose. This classification is used for National Accounts in the UK and worldwide. It was agreed by the United Nations Statistical Commission. Eurostat, the statistical office of the European Community, added a further level called COICOP-HBS for European household budget surveys such as the EFS.

COICOP is very different from the FES classification. For example eating out formed part of Food and Non-Alcoholic Drinks in the FES classification, but is part of Restaurants and Hotels in COICOP. To improve comparability with the FES codes the EFS has added a further level of sub-division, called COICOP+. The 12 main COICOP headings can be broadly mapped to the 14 FES main headings. At the more detailed level, however, there are areas where it has not been possible to achieve exact equivalence.

A mapping between the FES and COICOP+ codes is given in Part 7 and Part 8 of this volume.

Processing system – EFS survey data is stored on and analysed by a different system to the INGRES system used by FES. SPSS is now used for this purpose. As a result, large number of variables, with names longer than 8 characters, have now had their names changed. The SPSS system also means there is no need to store data in a large number of tables. Data is stored in several raw and derived files at either person or household level.

Government Office Regions (modified) – Regional analyses are now done using Government Office Regions modified (GORX) rather than the Standard Statistical Regions (SSRs).

Question numbers – Due to a number of changes from FES to EFS, a large amount of question numbers have changed. These have been listed in ‘Part11 – Question Number Changes’, ordered by variable name.

Household reference person – Questions in the survey which used to refer to the Head of Household, instead refer to the Household Reference Person.

QUESTIONNAIRE CHANGES FROM APRIL 2001

Based on a paper by Social Survey Division

This paper lists the changes in the content of the EFS questionnaires compared to FES from April 2001. It covers new questions, deletions, amendments to wording, coding changes within specific questions on the Household and Income questionnaires and major routing changes.

The first column gives the question reference number used in the 2001-2002 questionnaire and the second column gives the question reference number used in the 2000-2001 questionnaire. If this number is pre-fixed by an 'H' then the question can be found in the Household Questionnaire and if it is pre-fixed by an 'I' it can be found in the Income Questionnaire.

The third column gives the 2001-2002 question text and explains the nature of the change; in the case of completely new questions a routing statement is included, e.g. APPLIES IF BUYING WITH MORTGAGE, followed by the question text. Changes to coding or wording are indicated by "CODING CHANGE" or "REWORDED" followed by the new codes or wording.

Questions are covered by topic area, e.g. mortgages.

The full text and routing for all questions and the diary coding frame are available in separate documentation, see Volume 6 - Variable Relationships and Volume 4 – Expenditure Codes.

VARIABLE RELATIONSHIPS
Explanatory Notes

Definitions:

A SOURCE VARIABLE is a variable that is used in some way in the derivation of a further variable. It might be used directly in the formula for the calculation of that further variable or it might be used as a condition (e.g. the condition might be 'include information relating to household reference person only').

A TARGET VARIABLE is the variable that is derived using the source variables.

Part 1 - List of target variables showing source variables

This part lists, for each target variable, the immediate source variables which are used in its derivation. The source variables shown may be used either directly in the formula for the calculation of the target variable or as a condition on that formula.

In order to identify all of the variables which have an influence on the target variable, each source variable must itself be examined in turn to identify its own source variables, and so on until no further source variables are indicated.

The SPSS file name of the target variable is shown.

The latter lists the main file containing the program code used to produce individual derived variables and can be used to determine more detailed variable specifications.

Part 2 - List of source variables showing target variables

This part lists, for each source variable, the immediate target variables in which that source variable is used. The source variable shown may be used either directly in the formulae used for the calculation of the target variables or as a condition on those formulae.

In order to identify all of the target variables on which a particular variable has an influence, each target variable must itself be examined in turn to identify all of its own target variables, and so on until no further target variables are indicated.

The SPSS file name of each source variable is shown.
