THE RAW DATABASE

Explanatory Notes

---

See Volume 1, Part 3 - Database Definitions - for definitions of terms used

The raw database

This section of the User Documentation describes the raw database. The raw database contains data 'as it were received'. That is, before any calculations or aggregations have been carried out.

The document is in four parts, as outlined below.

Part 1: Raw table definitions

This part of the document is about information on sources for the raw data

Parts 2 & 3: Raw variable lists

These two lists allow details of a variable (such as the table in which it is found) to be looked up if the variable name (Part 2 - ordered by variable name) or variable description (Part 3 - ordered by variable description) are known. The following information is contained in each list (the order in which this information is given depends on the ordering of the list):

Variable name: the database name of the variable

Variable description: a brief description of the variable

Table name: the SPSS file in which the variable can be found (this will inform you whether the variable type is at household level or person level.)

Part 4: Raw variable coding frame

This lists the coding frame for each of the variables in the questionnaires. Household variables are given first followed by variables from the Income Questionnaire.

THE RAW DATABASE

Explanatory Notes

Variable Blocks

Each question is part of a block according to the topic it falls under. For example, questions about gas payments are in the Gas Payment block, which is called QGASPAY. Respondents are asked how they pay for gas, whether they receive rebates, how much they paid last time and so on. Users should refer to the Household Questionnaire to see exactly which block any given variable belongs to.

Variable Loops

Users need to be aware that for some variables more than one “loop” may exist. This is where the same questions have been asked more than once.

The Household Questionnaire and the Income Questionnaire feed into two tables - "rawhh" for household aggregated data or "rawper" for data pertaining to personal income or expenditure.

For 2005-06, these SPSS raw files are as follows:

2005-06 rawdry.sav	Diary data *
2005-06 rawhh.sav	Household data
2005-06 rawper.sav	Person data

* Raw diary information is contained in a separate SPSS file. This information is not publicly available for confidentiality reasons. In addition, household and person variables which may be disclosive have been anonymised.
