Measuring behaviour difficulties of children and teenagers

The Rutter Behaviour Scales

RutterBehaviourReferences.doc: this document includes references and further reading on The Rutter Behaviour Scales, a set of questions which combine to give an index of behaviour difficulties in the child (Rutter, 1967b, Rutter et al, 1970). Parents, usually the mother, completed the parental questionnaire (Child Scale A) and teachers completed the teachers' questionnaire (Child Scale B). References include research based on BCS70 and NCDS.
