STRUCTURE OF THE QUESTIONNAIRE SPECIFICATION

All questions in the specification are laid out using the same format.

Example of question layout

Some questions (for instance NDTYPE) have a main group routed to them, but subsets of this group are asked variations of the question. In such cases the main routing is at the foot of the question as usual, and the subsets are listed separately above it, with the individual aspect of the routing indented slightly from the left of the page.

The appearance of brackets in the specification usually denotes a form of text substitution (alternative question wording depending upon the respondent's earlier answers); carried out either by the BLAISE computer package or else by the interviewer, during the questionnaire. Square brackets are used in instances in which information is automatically inserted into a question by the computer package. Round brackets ( ) are used in instances in which the interviewer may or may not wish to add something in order to assist the flow of the interview.

Over the page is a summary of the terms appearing in this right hand column, and elsewhere in the questionnaire.

Frequency

SPRING (or other)	Question asked in the Spring (or other) Quarter ONLY
EQ	Question asked every quarter
W1	Question asked first time a respondent or household is found

July 2001

Supply of Labour Force Survey quarterly dataset – Spring (March – May) 2001

Changes from 2001

There have been significant changes to the Labour Force Survey (LFS) questions from March 2001 onwards. The reasons for these changes are because some questions have been introduced so that they are in line with those used in the 2001 Census of Population; government departments sponsoring some LFS questions have requested changes; enhancements have been made; also some questions reflect the changes in society that may be of interest to users.

The major changes are: -

Ethnic questions

ETH01 is the new variable covering Ethnic origin. This question will be more in line with the 2001 Census categories. The new categories are White, Mixed, Asian or Asian British, Black or Black British, Chinese, Other ethnic group. There are other related second level questions: ETHWH, ETHMX, ETHAS, ETHBL, ETHOTH, and ETHCOD. These are explained in vol. 2 of the LFS user guide. Because of the change in variables, it has not been possible to rotate data on ethnic origin for imputed cases. Thus, there are over 3 million weighted cases with no answer at the variable ETH01. For this variable only, imputed cases are identified as code -7 (missing value). Second level questions, however, are still identified as -9 (missing value), as it would be impossible to predict which route imputed cases would follow.

The quality implications of the changes to the ethnic questions are currently being assessed. Users will be issued with additional guidance on using these new data shortly. In the meantime, caution should be exercised in interpreting analysis involving ethnicity data.

National identity

New questions on national identity have been included for the first time. These will be asked in England, Scotland and Wales. The variable names are NATIDE, NATIDS, NATIDW, NATIDI, NATIDB, NATIDO. These are Yes/No variables that record the following national identities: English, Scottish, Welsh, Irish, British or other. Respondents may choose more than one identity.

There are also questions, for those living in Wales, on whether they can understand/speak/read/write Welsh. These are CYMU, CYMS, CYMR, & CYMW. The results for all these questions are being evaluated and will not be available to users until early 2002.

Occupational classification - SOC 2000

The new occupational classification (SOC 2000) will be used for the first time, instead of SOC 90. However as this new classification does not directly map to the old one, certain related variables will disappear. We will no longer be able to supply variables that show a manual/non manual split, social class, or socio-economic group. Variables SOCMANM, SOCLASM and SEGM will no longer exist; this also applies to similar variables for 'last' and 'second jobs'. In addition variables, NMNPO, NMANAGE and NSOLO are to be replaced with the question variables MANAGE, MPNE01 and SOLO. There is a similar set of replacements for second job, job from which made redundant, and job one year ago. An additional question, SUPVIS (and for second job, etc) has been added to complete the information needed for the National Statistics Socio-Economic Classification (NS-SEC). Variables that begin SOC * * * *, these have been replaced by SC2K* * * * or SOC2K* * * * (see list below).

In place of Social Economic Group and Social Class, the new NS-SEC has been introduced in new variables NSECM and NSECMMJ. Further details of the SOC 2000 and the new NSSEC classification are available from the ONS website:
http://statbase/nsbase/methods\_quality/classifications.asp

Country of birth

CRY formerly recorded UK/Britain as a single entity for country of birth. CRY01 replaces CRY and records the constituent parts of the UK (England, Wales, Scotland, Northern Ireland) as well as all of the other values available in CRY.

Access to motor vehicles

New questions have been included on motor vehicles. The variables USEVEH, VASK, TYPVEH, and PRIVEH. are being evaluated and will not be available to users until early 2002.

General

There are also new or additional questions in the following subject areas: Qualifications, Apprenticeship, Second Job, Adult learning, Childcare, Redundancy, Employment patterns, Tax credits, Underemployment, and Accidents. However most of these questions are being evaluated and will not be available to users until early 2002.

The following list shows both new and variables that will no longer appear (for descriptions of the variable names used below see User guide volume 2 – 2001 questionnaire).
