Advance Letters for Core and Youth Boost Sample

Advance letters were sent to selected addresses prior to interviewers calling round. Addresses in Wales were sent a copy of the advance letter that had a Welsh translation in addition to the English version.

Interviewers working on behalf of BMRB Social Research were provided with spare copies of these letters to hand over to respondents if required.

Interviewers were also provided with copies of an advance letter to hand over to the parents of selected respondents aged 16 or 17, seeking verbal permission from the parent to conduct the interview.

Research, Development and Statistics Directorate

Dear Resident(s)

We would like to ask for your help with the 2008/09 BCS, a large-scale national survey on crime being conducted by the Home Office. The survey asks people living in England and Wales whether or not they have been affected by crime or anti-social behaviour, as well as their attitudes towards the police and the courts. It plays a vital role in monitoring trends in crime over time and helping to decide what action can be taken to prevent crime. More information about the survey can be found in the enclosed leaflet.

The Home Office has commissioned BMRB Social Research, an independent research organisation, to carry out the survey on its behalf. An interviewer will visit your address in the next few weeks to explain the survey in more detail. The interviewer will carry an identification card, which includes their photograph and interviewer identification number.

Your address has been selected at random from the Royal Mail's list of addresses. To ensure that the survey represents all parts of the population it is important to us that your household takes part in the survey.

We rely on people's voluntary co-operation to produce official statistics to help everyone understand what is happening in our society. Everything you tell the interviewer will be treated in the strictest confidence.

If you wish to know more about the survey or wish to get a message to an interviewer who has already contacted you, please ring Jeri-Lee Donovan on the BCS information line at BMRB Social Research on free phone 0800 051 0882. Alternatively please email Jeri-Lee.Donovan@bmr.co.uk.

If you require this material in large print or Braille please contact the BCS information line.

Thank you in advance for your help. As a gesture of our appreciation for your time, please find enclosed a book of postage stamps.

Yours faithfully,

Maya Bhudia

Research, Development and Statistics Directorate

Dear Resident(s),

From your household, a person aged 16 or 17 has been selected to take part in the 2008/09 BCS, a large-scale national survey on crime being conducted by the Home Office. As this person is aged under 18, we need to have your permission for them to take part in the interview.

The survey asks people whether they have been personally affected by crime and about their views and experiences of the police and the courts. The survey also asks about people's awareness and usage of drugs and alcohol.

If you are willing for the young person, you have responsibility for, to be interviewed, and they agree to take part, the interviewer will arrange to carry out an interview with them at a convenient time. The information they give will be treated in the strictest confidence by the research organisation.

If you wish to know more about the survey, or wish to get a message to an interviewer who has already contacted you, please ring Jeri-Lee Donovan on the BCS information line at BMRB Social Research on free phone 0800 051 0882. Alternatively please email Jeri-Lee.Donovan@bmr.co.uk.

If you require this material in large print or Braille please contact the BCS information line.

I hope you and the young person in your household agree to take part in this important survey and thank you in advance for your help.

Yours faithfully,

Maya Bhudia

Respondent leaflet

- The BCS has shown that the risk of car crime in car parks is actually much greater after the length of time that a vehicle is parked is taken into account. This research has informed the importance of car park safety.

- The BCS has shown that young people are more likely to have their mobile phone stolen and so these groups have been targeted in public information campaigns.

Detailed results from the BCS are published in July every year.

What the Media say:

The BCS is a well-respected survey that is widely reported on in the media. Here are some examples of what has been said about the BCS:

'BCS, an annual assessment of households that is considered the most accurate indicator of crime as it includes incidents not reported to the police'. The Independent 26/01/2007.

'The BCS interviews approximately 40,000 households during the year in order to identify people's experience and perception of crime'. BBC News website 20/07/2007.

If you would like further information about the Home Office or previous findings of the BCS, please contact:

BMRB is an independent agency specialising in social research. They are well-respected and carry out many research studies for the Government. BMRB and Kantar Operations are all part of Kantar Group. BMRB delivers research services to end clients and Kantar Operations provides the necessary fieldwork for data collection.

Home Office

The 2008/09 BCS

Your household has been selected for the 2008/09 BCS. This important survey started in 1982 and is carried out for the Home Office by a research organisation called BMRB Social Research.

This leaflet contains more information about the survey and why we are carrying it out.

We hope that you will take part and find the survey interesting.

What is the BCS?

The BCS is a victimisation survey. It measures the amount of crime in England and Wales by asking people, such as yourself, about crimes you or your household may or may not have experienced in the past year.

Your answers and opinions are very important to us, whether or not you or members of your household have experienced any crime.

The BCS records crimes that may not have been reported to the police, so it is used as an alternative to police records. Without the BCS, the government would have no information on these unreported crimes.

As well as measuring crime, the BCS looks at:

- Identifying those most at risk of crime, which is used in designing crime prevention programmes.
- People's attitudes to crime and the Criminal Justice System, including the police and the courts.
- People's experiences of anti-social behaviour and how this has affected their quality of life.
- New and emerging issues such as ID fraud and technology crimes.

The BCS also provides other valuable information about the nature of crimes, e.g. the location and timing of crimes, and the risks to different groups in the population.

The results from the BCS play a vital role in developing and monitoring Home Office policies.

Why has this address been chosen?

During 2008/09, approximately 50,000 people will be interviewed on the BCS.

Your address has been randomly selected from the Post Office's list of addresses in England and Wales.

It is important that the survey represents everyone in the country so we need to talk to men and women of all ages and backgrounds. In this way the results from the BCS reflect the experiences and attitudes of the whole population.

The interviewer does not know anything in advance about you or your household but he or she will need to randomly select from each address one adult (aged 16 or over). Another household member aged 10-24 may also be selected to complete a shorter questionnaire. The interviewer will ask for permission from a parent or guardian when interviewing someone aged 10-17.

The survey is entirely confidential

The information that is collected will be used solely for research purposes. Your name and address details are kept separate from your answers and will not be passed on to any other organisation including the Home Office.

No individual will be identifiable from the results. Your answers will be combined with others that take part in the survey. You will not receive any 'junk mail' as a result of taking part.

How can you check that the interviewer is genuine?

All interviewers work for BMRB/Kantar Operations and carry the Market Research Society Interviewer Identity card (as shown).

Each interviewer has a unique interviewer number which can be found on their identity card.

If you would like to check the identity of an interviewer or get some further information on the survey, please call:
BCS Information Line: 020 8433 4035.

What is the purpose of the BCS?

The BCS is widely used by criminologists, policy makers and practitioners. Here are a few examples of how the BCS has been used in the past few years.

- The BCS has shown that having security measures considerably reduces the risk of having a car stolen. The Government has used this information to work with car manufacturers to improve their vehicle security measures.
- The BCS is used to measure police forces' performance against targets related to crime reduction and public attitudes towards local police.

Please record any other details of non-contact, refusals or other unsuccessful outcomes on page 6 of the ACS. This will help with re-issues. If you think there is a good reason the address should not be issued please mark this on the front of the contact sheet and provide reasons on page 6.

7. Screening for 16 - 24 year olds

You need to establish whether there are any 16-24 year olds in the household at a convenient point. This can only be done once you have selected the person for the main survey.

In most cases you should be able to do the youth screening at the same time as you are doing the selection for the main respondent. There are several situations when you will be unable to do the youth screening:

- The main address is deadwood (codes 1-13)
- You have not made contact with anyone at the address (code 16)
- You have made contact, but all household information has been refused (code 17)
- An office refusal (code 31)

IN ALL THESE CASES YOU SHOULD REPORT AN OUTCOME CODE 84 FOR THE YOUTH SCREENING.

If you are reporting an unproductive outcome code (33-44) on the main survey and have been unable to establish a definite youth screening outcome (80, 81, 82), you should only use code 83 if you have had a direct refusal to answer Y2. Otherwise, report an Outcome Code 84.

Y1 Is the main selected respondent aged 16-24?
 Yes NO EXTRA INTERVIEW
 No Continue at Y2

Y2 How many people aged 16-24 live in this household?

WRITE IN: NUMBER OF PEOPLE AGED 16-24 (e.g. TWO = 2)

AND CODE: NO. OF PERSONS 16-24

None	81	NO EXTRA INTERVIEW. CHECK D1-D11 COMPLETE
One or more	82	CREATE NEW PINK ACS AND ATTEMPT INTERVIEW (check D1-D11 complete)
Information refused	83	NO EXTRA INTERVIEW (Check D1-D11 complete)	DO NOT REPORT A CODE 83 UNLESS YOU HAVE HAD A SPECIFIC REFUSAL TO Y2.

If you have recorded a code 82, you will need to create a new pink ACS and attempt an interview. In most cases you should only carry out a boost interview after interviewing the main selected respondent. Exceptions are if:

- you have a firm appointment to interview the main respondent
- selected respondent is away for duration of field period (outcome 41)
- selected respondent is ill/incapacitated at home during field period (outcome 40)
- selected respondent is physically or mentally unable to take part (outcome 42)
- selected respondent has inadequate English (outcome 43)
- some other reason for an unsuccessful outcome, if considered appropriate (outcome 44)

SHOW RESPONDENT LIFE EVENTS CALENDAR

Before asking you about crimes or incidents that may have happened to you over the last 12 months I 'd like to give you a calendar. I'd like you to keep this in front of you when answering the next part of the interview.

If at any stage you are unsure about whether or not something happened in the last 12 months you may find looking at the calendar will help to prompt your memory.

INTERVIEWER: MARK OFF THE CORRECT 12 MONTH REFERENCE PERIOD ON THE CALENDAR, THAT IS SINCE THE FIRST OF [^DATE^] UNTIL PRESENT, AND HAND TO RESPONDENT

+DISPLAY [ASK ALL]

I'm now going to ask you about things that may have happened over the last 12 months, that is since the first of [^DATE^], in which you may have been the victim of a crime or offence. This doesn't mean that crimes that may have happened before this time are unimportant, but we want to build a picture of just the last 12 months so we can measure how people's experience of crime changes from one year to the next.

I am only concerned with incidents that have happened to YOU PERSONALLY [or to people who are NOW members of your household].

I don't just want to know about serious incidents – I want to know about small things too.

PURPLE SHOW CARD B4 (ASSAULT SCENARIO)

I am now going to ask you to read a card containing details of an actual crime that went to court. I will then ask you what sentence you think the offender was ACTUALLY given, and then what sentence you think the offender SHOULD have been given. Please let me know when you have finished reading the card.

INTERVIEWER: ALLOW RESPONDENT TIME TO READ SHOW CARD PROPERLY, THEN CONTINUE.

A man aged 21 pleaded guilty to assaulting a stranger. An argument started when the offender pushed his way into a taxi queue. When another man tried to calm the offender down, the offender hit the victim in the face, fracturing his nose. The offender did not have any previous convictions for violence.

+DISPLAY [ASK IF NONRESP = 1 OR 3]

Here is an example of the first type of question where you have to choose one answer.

INTERVIEWER: TURN SCREEN TO RESPONDENT AND LET THE RESPONDENT ENTER THEIR ANSWERS WHILE YOU OBSERVE AND HELP IF NECESSARY.

1. Continue

+PRACT1 [ASK ALL AGE 16-69 IF NONRESP = 1 OR 3]

PRESS THE NUMBER NEXT TO THE ANSWER YOU WANT TO GIVE. WHEN YOU HAVE DONE THIS PRESS THE KEY WITH THE RED STICKER TO MOVE TO THE NEXT QUESTION.

Have you used a computer before?

1. Yes
2. No

+PRACT2 [ASK ALL AGE 16-69 IF NONRESP = 1 OR 3]

THIS TIME YOU CAN CHOOSE MORE THAN ONE ANSWER IF YOU WANT. PRESS THE NUMBERS NEXT TO THE ANSWERS YOU WANT TO GIVE. AFTER EACH ANSWER YOU NEED TO PRESS THE SPACE BAR (THE LARGE BAR AT THE BOTTOM OF THE KEYBOARD).

WHEN YOU HAVE GIVEN ALL YOUR ANSWERS, PRESS THE KEY WITH THE RED STICKER TO MOVE TO THE NEXT QUESTION.

Which of these do you have in your house?

1. TV
2. Radio
3. Washing machine
4. Dishwasher

+PRACT3 [ASK ALL AGE 16-69 IF NONRESP=1 OR 3]

MOST QUESTIONS WILL BE LIKE THESE TWO EXAMPLES. FOR A FEW QUESTIONS, NO ANSWERS WILL BE SHOWN ON THE SCREEN AND YOU WILL NEED TO TYPE IN YOUR OWN ANSWER, USING THE NUMBERS ON THE KEYBOARD. HERE IS ANOTHER EXAMPLE. ONCE YOU HAVE TYPED IN YOUR ANSWER PRESS THE KEY WITH THE RED STICKER TO MOVE TO THE NEXT QUESTION.

What is your shoe size?

If, for example, you wanted to say that you were an eight, then you would type 8.

1..50

+PRACTEND [ASK ALL AGE 16-69 IF NONRESP=1 OR 3]

You have now finished the practice questions. Please tell the interviewer you are ready to move on and hand the computer back for a moment.

1. Continue

IF RESPONDENT STILL ACCEPTS THE SELF-COMPLETION GO ON WITH THE DRUGS MODULE BY CONTINUING TO THE NEXT SCREEN AND EITHER HANDING THE COMPUTER BACK TO THE RESPONDENT OR BY COMPLETING THE MODULE WITH THE RESPONDENT.

SC2 WHETHER THE RESPONDENT HAS EVER TAKEN DRUGS

+DISPLAY [ASK ALL AGE 16-69 IF NONRESP=1 OR 3]

The following questions ask whether or not you have ever used drugs. Please answer them honestly. The answers you give are completely confidential.

Please choose your answers by pressing the number next to the answer you want to give and then pressing the key with the red sticker to move on to the next question.

If you press the wrong key the interviewer can tell you how to change the answer. Just ask if you want help.

At the end, there are a couple of questions about substances you may have taken, not knowing what they were called. Please do not include drugs that you have taken, or are taking, on a doctor's prescription.

NOW PRESS THE KEY WITH THE RED STICKER TO MOVE TO THE NEXT QUESTION.

1. INTERVIEWER: Clearly mark off the 12 month reference period on the calendar and give to the respondent.
2. Mark off the dates, to the nearest month, when any crimes the respondent has experienced took place. If the respondent has experienced a series of crimes, mark off the dates of each incident in the series.
3. If the respondent is having difficulty in remembering exactly when particular incidents or events took place it may help to consider other events that have happened in the last year. Mark these off on the calendar if necessary. Examples of events include:
 - The date of respondent's birthday and other family birthdays.
 - Other important events over last year, such as the birth of a child, weddings, anniversaries.
 - Any dates when respondent started a new job or college, left work or moved house
 - Any periods when the respondent was in employment, full time education or unemployed
 - Any other relevant periods such as holidays, exams, pregnancy, time in hospital

Key to code frames for questions with changing labels

It is important to realise that in terms of calculating victimisation rates for a particular time period (either the calendar year 200 or the financial year 2008-9), it is crucial to know for each specific case, whether the incident occurred inside or outside the reference period. In the code frames below, code 1 is always the period immediately prior to the reference period and so all incidents in this period are considered out of scope for calculating victimisation rates. Similarly, codes 2-5 are always within the reference period and so incidents are considered in scope when calculating victimisation rates. Code 6 could be either in scope or out scope depending upon the type of sample or the month of interview. For all Type A sample and Type B sample interviews conducted in the first month of each quarter (i.e. January, April, July, and October) were outside the reference period and so were taken to be out of scope for calculating victimisation rates. However, for Type B interviews conducted in the other eight months of 2008, code 6 was taken to be inside the reference period and so incidents were in scope¹.

¹ In reality, for these months it was not possible to know precisely whether an incident was in scope or out of scope since code 6 crossed the reference period boundary with part of the period being in scope and part being out of scope. In practice, since the period under consideration represented the period closest to the date of interview respondents knew the exact month in which an incident had taken place and so no valid incidents fell into this category. Nevertheless, a change was introduced to the questionnaire in 2003 to cater for this unlikely situation

COMMAT4

What, if any, do you think are the most important anti-social behaviour or crime issues that are NOT being tackled in your local area?

1. Antisocial behaviour by young people (hanging around on the streets/in parks/town centre/behaving badly/swearing/shouting/yobish behaviour/being rude/intimidating/threatening)
2. Young people/under age drinking
3. Drinking (do not include if specific mention to young people drinking)
4. Drugs (any general mention of drug taking or selling)
5. Burglary (include homes/garages/sheds being broken into)
6. Vandalism/criminal damage to PROPERTY
7. Arson (such as setting fire to litter bins/cars etc)
8. Litter (include dumping/fly tipping)
9. Violent crime (Fighting/violence (include mention of drink related violence)/assaults)
10. Neighbours (include noisy neighbours/antisocial neighbours/aggressive neighbours etc)
11. Joy riding/bad/reckless driving (include speeding/'boy racers'/motorbikes and scooters)
12. Truancy/children not at school
13. Knife/gun crime (any specific mentions of gun/knife crime)
14. General Antisocial Behaviour (e.g. petty crime/street crime/minor crime - where there is no particular mention of type of antisocial behaviour/no specific issue (please include null))
15. Racism/Racist abuse (any mention)
16. Car Parking (illegal/inconvenient/inappropriate/on pavements/yellow lines/corners)

1. INTRODUCTION

The Home Office conducts the British Crime Survey (BCS) to monitor the crime rate in England and Wales and provide other important information (e.g. on security measures). The survey has been conducted since 1982 and is very well known. The information it provides is used extensively within the Home Office and by academic researchers. The media also recognise that it is an important source of information on the extent and nature of crime.

The survey's primary aim is to measure the extent of various crimes experienced by the public. This measure of crime is independent of that available from statistics collected by the police, since the survey collects details of offences whether or not they have been reported to or recorded by the police.

It is known that police statistics are subject to changes in the willingness of the public to report crimes and changes in police practice in recording them. For these reasons, the BCS can give a better indication of how the rate of crime is changing. Also, a comparison of the survey's results with the police statistics shows what types of crime tend not to be reported to the police.

Importance of offence coding

One of the main purposes of the British Crime Survey is to find out whether respondents have experienced any crime in the last 12 months. Anyone who has experienced a crime is asked a series of detailed questions about this crime. These questions are asked by an interviewer and form the part of the interview known as the "Victim Form".

Each respondent can be asked about up to 6 different crimes. However, it is very rare for anyone to have experienced this many crimes within a year. In 2003/4, 27% of respondents had at least one Victim Form and fewer than 2% had four or more.

Results from the BCS showed that in the year to September 2003 58% of BCS offences were not reported to the police, 11% were reported but not recorded and 31% were reported and recorded.

On the basis of the information in the Victim Form each crime is assigned an Offence Code, which is designed to closely match the crime code that the police would have assigned (had it been recorded as a crime). Each crime has only one offence code, and these codes are used as a key part of the analysis of the Crime Survey.

For example, the results of the British Crime Survey showed that between 1995 and 2003/4 burglary fell by 47%, while vehicle-related theft fell by 51%.

These figures are based on how the crimes described in the victim forms are coded.

Offence codes and how they work

A list of all the offence codes is attached on pages 9 and 10 of these instructions. Some crimes are excluded from the BCS, and so do not appear – the most obvious examples are murder and fraud.

As explained above, each crime will end up with just one of these codes. If one crime consists of a number of offences (for example, a burglar breaks into someone's house, beats up the occupants, steals the car and breaks some valuable belongings), the coding needs to sort out which of these offences takes priority (i.e. should the crime be coded as burglary, assault, theft of a car or criminal damage?)

The offence codes do have a priority order. Generally:

- Arson
- Rape or Serious Wounding
- Robbery
- Burglary
- Theft
- Criminal Damage
- Assault
- Threats

For crimes against the person (assault, sexual offences, robbery, snatch theft and other theft from the person) the respondent must be the victim. If someone else is the victim (even if that person is part of the respondent's household) then the crime is out of scope of the survey.

For crimes against the household (burglary, other types of theft – not from the person, criminal damage), the respondent's household must have been the victim.

This is important so that crimes do not get counted twice. If a respondent tells us about the break in at his mother's house, it is possible that his mother will also have been selected for the survey and will tell us about the same crime. Thus, we would double count that crime.

Crimes that take place abroad will receive an offence code just like any other incident.

The crime must be referred to the Home Office if a burglary is committed involving use of a weapon.

Carrying out the offence coding

The Offence Coding is a two stage process:

- An automated stage, based on answers given in the Victim Form
- The manual coding stage, where the coder checks the automated code

The automated stage

A special programme has been written which looks at all of the pre-coded answers given in the Victim Form and on the basis of these assigns a “best guess” offence code. This automated code is printed on the Victim Form.

This best guess code forms the starting point for the manual coding, but you should not assume that this automated code is correct. The automated code can only use the answers to certain closed questions, and does not have the same access to full information that you have. Your judgement is what we rely on, so if you feel that the automated code is incorrect, then please proceed with the manual coding as you think best. The automated code can, at best, point you in the right direction and give you an idea of the issues you need to consider.

The manual coding

The manual coding is of vital importance, because the automated system can not make use of any of the open ended questions in the Victim Form, and these often provide crucial information about the crime. There are also situations where judgements have to be made, and this can only be done by a trained coder.

You will be provided with a print out of the Victim Form containing the answers (both pre-coded and open) given by a respondent. The Victim form is highly filtered, and you will only be given the text and answers to the questions that the respondent actually answered. (Thus, if the respondent has said that no force or violence was used, then there will be no follow up questions about the nature of this force or violence).

At the top of this print out there is the serial number and crime number for this victim form. (As we said before, each respondent can be asked about up to six crimes. Thus, it is possible that you will be given up to 6 different forms for each serial number).

Using this print out you will work through a series of questions that appear on the computer screen. The answers you give to each question will eventually take you to the Offence Code for that crime.

The questions you are asked sometimes have quite a lot of explanatory text, which is there to explain exactly what we mean, and to provide guidance. It is important that you do familiarise yourselves with this text (and this manual), as there are situations where the answer to a question is not as straightforward as it appears, or where you will need to use the guidance and your judgement to distinguish between the possible answers. Although the answer to the question will often be obvious, there are all sorts of intricacies that need to be taken into account.

This manual is designed to give you more information that can back up the information that you are given on the computer screen. Although the computerised coding modules are designed to stand alone, sometimes it may help to refer to this manual – just to check why you are getting to an offence code that you think is odd, or to work out what is happening if you think the coding modules are not working as you would expect. The manual also backs up the text on the screen, so may be a useful reference source when dealing with certain offences where the screen contains a lot of information.

Once an offence code has been assigned, you will be asked how certain you are that this is the right code. You can either code certain, uncertain or that it is the wrong code. (If you code the latter, you will be sent back to the start of the coding modules). If you code uncertain, you will be asked to say why you are uncertain or to give any other comments that you think would be useful.

Most of the questions have a “not sure” category. If you code this, the offence will be assigned a “REFER TO SUPERVISOR” code.

As well as internal quality checks, many of the offence codes will be checked by the Home Office.

Coding in practice

For each respondent you will have one or more Victim Form print outs. All the Victim Forms for a particular respondent will be together. This is important, as in some cases you may find that one of the Victim forms is, in fact, a duplicate (see page 11 for more information).

Getting to the questionnaire

The initial screen asks for the serial number of the Victim Form that you are about to code. You need to type in the serial number (followed by a !) and this will take you to the second screen. At this point you put in the Victim Form number (which is on your print out – it is the number in brackets after the serial number).

This will then take you into the coding questionnaire.

The first thing that you will need to do is check that the serial number you have entered is correct. The screen will show you the first line of the description of the incident. This is the first question in the Victim Form (following the automated code). You just need to make sure that the line on screen matches what you have on your paper copy. If it does not match, then you must have entered the wrong serial number and you will be asked to try again.

You are then asked if any of the following apply:

- The offence is a duplicate
- The crime was committed by someone who is mentally ill
- The crime was committed by a policeman (on duty at the time)

If the case is a duplicate, it is given a code 02.

If the crime was committed by someone who is mentally ill or by a policeman, then the crime is out of scope. Further details are given in Sheet 0 (out of scope crimes).

You are then asked if the crime involved deliberate damage by fire – this takes you straight to the arson module, which is described in SHEET 8 (Criminal Damage).

If none of the above apply, you will be asked to choose the module that you want to start with. You can do this on the basis of the description of the incident, or on the basis of the automated code. Don't worry if you choose the wrong module, as you should end up in the correct one if you answer the questions correctly.

The modules are as follows:

- Robbery (which is theft with violence – e.g. a mugging; this section also covers theft from a person i.e. when the article stolen was being held or carried e.g. pickpocketing)
- Burglary and theft (burglary is when someone enters the respondent's home (or outhouse) without permission; theft covers all thefts where the item was not being held or carried)
- Assault
- Sexual assaults
- Criminal Damage
- Threats (threats of violence, other threats and intimidation)

2. MOVING ROUND THE CODING MODULES

Generally, you will answer a question by entering a code and pressing the enter key. However, you may enter the wrong code by mistake, or realise that you have put in some wrong information. Therefore, you need to know how to move about the questionnaire.

- Goback At any stage, if you type in “goback” you will be taken back to the point where you choose the module that you want to try. Thus, if you feel that you have gone wrong but are not sure where, type this and try again.
- < if you type this in at a question, it will take you back to the previous question and let you alter the answer you gave
- ?? Type this in and you will see a list of the questions you have answered and the answers that you gave. This is useful, as it shows you what the questions are called.
- <varname If you type in < followed by the name of a question, you will be taken right back to that specific question and will be able to change the answer you gave.
- >varname This takes you forward to a specific variable.
- << This takes you back to the very first question (when you typed in the serial number)
- >> This takes you forward to the end of the data that you have entered.

	97	Other threats/intimidation outside survey's coverage
OTHER CODES	95	Obscene and nuisance telephone calls
	96	Invalid Victim Form (e.g. no information/no offence)

4. Invalid victim forms, out of scope codes and duplicates

Invalid victim forms

Wherever possible you should avoid using code 96 (invalid victim form, no information, no crime). As the name suggests, this code is mainly intended for Victim forms where we have no, or extremely limited, information or where there has been no crime.

Even with quite limited information on a Victim Form we may be able to reach a valid offence code. In some cases, we may have no description or a very poor description, but it is still possible to use the answers to the closed questions to reach a valid offence code. Similarly, if we only have the written description and all codes are missing, we still may have enough information to get an offence code.

If you are uncertain as to whether or not there has been a crime, it is important to try to reach an offence code. A number of the offence codes are “dump codes” which are not used in the official victimisation rates (all of the out of scope codes, and codes such as 87 – possible criminal/possible accidental damage/nuisance with no damage). It is better to arrive at one of these codes than to give the Victim form a code 96. However, there will be cases where you do need to use 96 – but they should be rare. You can get to a code 96 at the main menu for the coding modules.

Out of scope codes

Where there is more than one offence within an incident, but the element that would normally take precedence is out of scope (for example, the respondent’s friend has had property damaged and the respondent has been threatened), you should try to get to an in scope code rather than an out of scope code. In some cases, this may require you to ignore the part of the incident that does not involve the respondent. However, do be careful with this, as some offence codes cover the other members of the household and some do not. Non household members, however, are always out of scope.

Sometimes, even if the respondent is the victim, the crime will be out of scope. This mainly occurs if the respondent had property stolen from someone else’s home or car. In these situations, the actual burglary or theft from a car would be the in scope code. Thus, to avoid double counting, the respondent’s loss is coded as out of scope.

Duplicates

Duplicate incidents (code 02) are those where the same incident is recorded on more than one Victim Form. In these cases, one incident is given the appropriate valid offence code while the duplicates are given code 02. Duplicates are often obvious, but sometimes it can require some detective work to decide whether or not they are duplicates.

Things to look for:

- a) the interviewer states that the victim form is a duplicate, or refers to details in a previous victim form
- b) the date information and most of the characteristics are identical. The VFs do not need to be exactly the same because the victim may be discussing two elements of the same incident in the different VFs (e.g. if the incident is the theft of a vehicle, the respondent may discuss the theft in one VF and the damage to the car in another).

- c) If the Victim Forms include the same unusual characteristic (e.g. said the other injury was “hepatitis B”)
- d) in some cases it may be worth checking the job of the respondent. In one case, we had several similar victim forms dealing with threats against the respondent. His job was “custody officer” at a police station, which made it quite likely that the threats were all separate incidents rather than the same one.

It is important to note that sometimes duplicate RTFs give extra details about the overall offence. In such cases, all the relevant information should be used to reach the offence code, which can then be assigned to one of victim forms, while the rest are coded 02.

SHEET 0: OUT OF SCOPE OFFENCES COMMITTED BY MENTALLY ILL AND POLICE

Offenders who are mentally ill

If the offence is committed by someone who is mentally ill, then it is out of scope (as they can not be held responsible for their actions). However, there needs to be some concrete evidence that the offender was mentally ill. In many victim forms this will be based on the answer given at “Whyhapp”, and if Whyhapp says that the offender was mentally ill, this should be taken at face value.

If the only evidence of mental illness is provided at the description, ideally we need some other corroboration of this. The respondent’s employment may be of help, as if they work as a nurse, social worker, or have a job that involves working with mentally ill people, then they are likely to have a reasonable basis for this judgement. Similarly, if the victim is related to or knows the offender well, it is more likely that the judgement that the offender is mentally ill is based on fact.

If there is only the evidence from the description that the offender was mentally ill, and none of the above apply, then the descriptive evidence would have to be very strong for the offence to be coded as out of scope. Use of phrases such as “he was mad” or other colloquial terms should not, on their own, be used to decide that the offender did actually have a mental illness.

If the offence was committed by someone who was mentally ill, you will be asked for the nature of the offence. As the offence is out of scope, we do not need to spend so much time assessing which crime takes priority, so please use your judgement to code the first offence to apply from the list provided. This will then assign the offence the relevant out of scope code.

Offenders who are policemen

If the offender is a policeman or woman who is on duty, and takes place during the course of their duties, then the offence is out of scope (it would be dealt with by the Police Complaints Commission rather than the standard Criminal Justice system). This would therefore include assaults that take place during arrest; thefts that take place when the police are in a property on police business etc.

However, if the offender happens to be a policeman and commits the crime in his own time, then the crime is in scope.

You will need to use the information in the description to make this judgement, as there are no specific questions relating to this.

If the crime has been committed by an on-duty policeman or woman, then you will be asked for the nature of the offence. As the offence is out of scope, we do not need to spend so much time assessing which crime takes priority, so please use your judgement to code the first offence to apply from the list provided. This will then assign the offence the relevant out of scope code.

SHEET 1: ASSAULTS

Most assaults uncovered by the survey will be straightforward incidents arising in the course of family rows, arguments between acquaintances, brawls in pubs, fights at football matches and so on. In these there is no motive to steal, and no sexual motive. Spitting counts as assault, as does pouring a glass of water over someone, or setting a dog on them. This main group of assaults has been divided into three sub-groups: serious wounding, other wounding and common assault. Incidents that take place in the course of work are in scope.

It is not possible to draw precise boundary lines between these three sub-groups. Coders must use their judgement. Guidelines are:

- a 'serious wounding' (code 11) must involve a wound (where the skin is broken or a bone is broken) which clearly needs immediate medical attention: and the severity of the wounding must be intentional
- the offender must have intended to do, and succeeded in doing, really serious bodily harm. Things to check:
 - did the respondent suffer broken bones /teeth; loss of consciousness; permanent injury
 - did respondent suffer cuts that required medical attention; a serious cut (e.g. use of weapon, knifing). The use of a weapon does not automatically lead to a code 11, the injury sustained is what is important.
 - did the respondent require immediate medical attention
- the majority of incidents involving assault will be either 'other wounding' or 'common assault'

Other wounding (code 12) applies if:

- the offender inflicts severe injuries unintentionally, or there are minor injuries inflicted such as:
- cuts (regardless of medical attention) and the force used was not severe
- severe bruising or chipped teeth
- bruises and scratches which required medical attention and the force used seemed serious

Common assault (code 13) applies where the victim was punched, kicked, pushed or jostled, spat at or had a drink thrown over them but there was no injury or only negligible injury. Minor bruising or a black eye count as negligible injury. Victims of common assault are unlikely to require any medical attention. Incidents where the victim received no injury or minor injury are common assault even if knives are involved. Spitting counts as assault.

Sometimes, the injuries described in the text description and those coded at WhatFor1 will differ. In these cases, equal weight should be placed on the two sources of information and it should be assumed that both sets of injuries happened. Injuries inflicted accidentally during an incident are counted.

All assaults which have a sexual motive are to be classified using Sheet 3, Sexual Offences. In other words, if an incident is assigned one of the three assault codes, this means that the questionnaire contains no suggestion of any sexual motive. For the survey's purposes, only the respondent can be the victim of any assault. Assaults happening to other household members are to be treated as outside the survey's coverage. In such cases, check to see if any aspects of the offence are in scope (eg threats made to respondent etc.

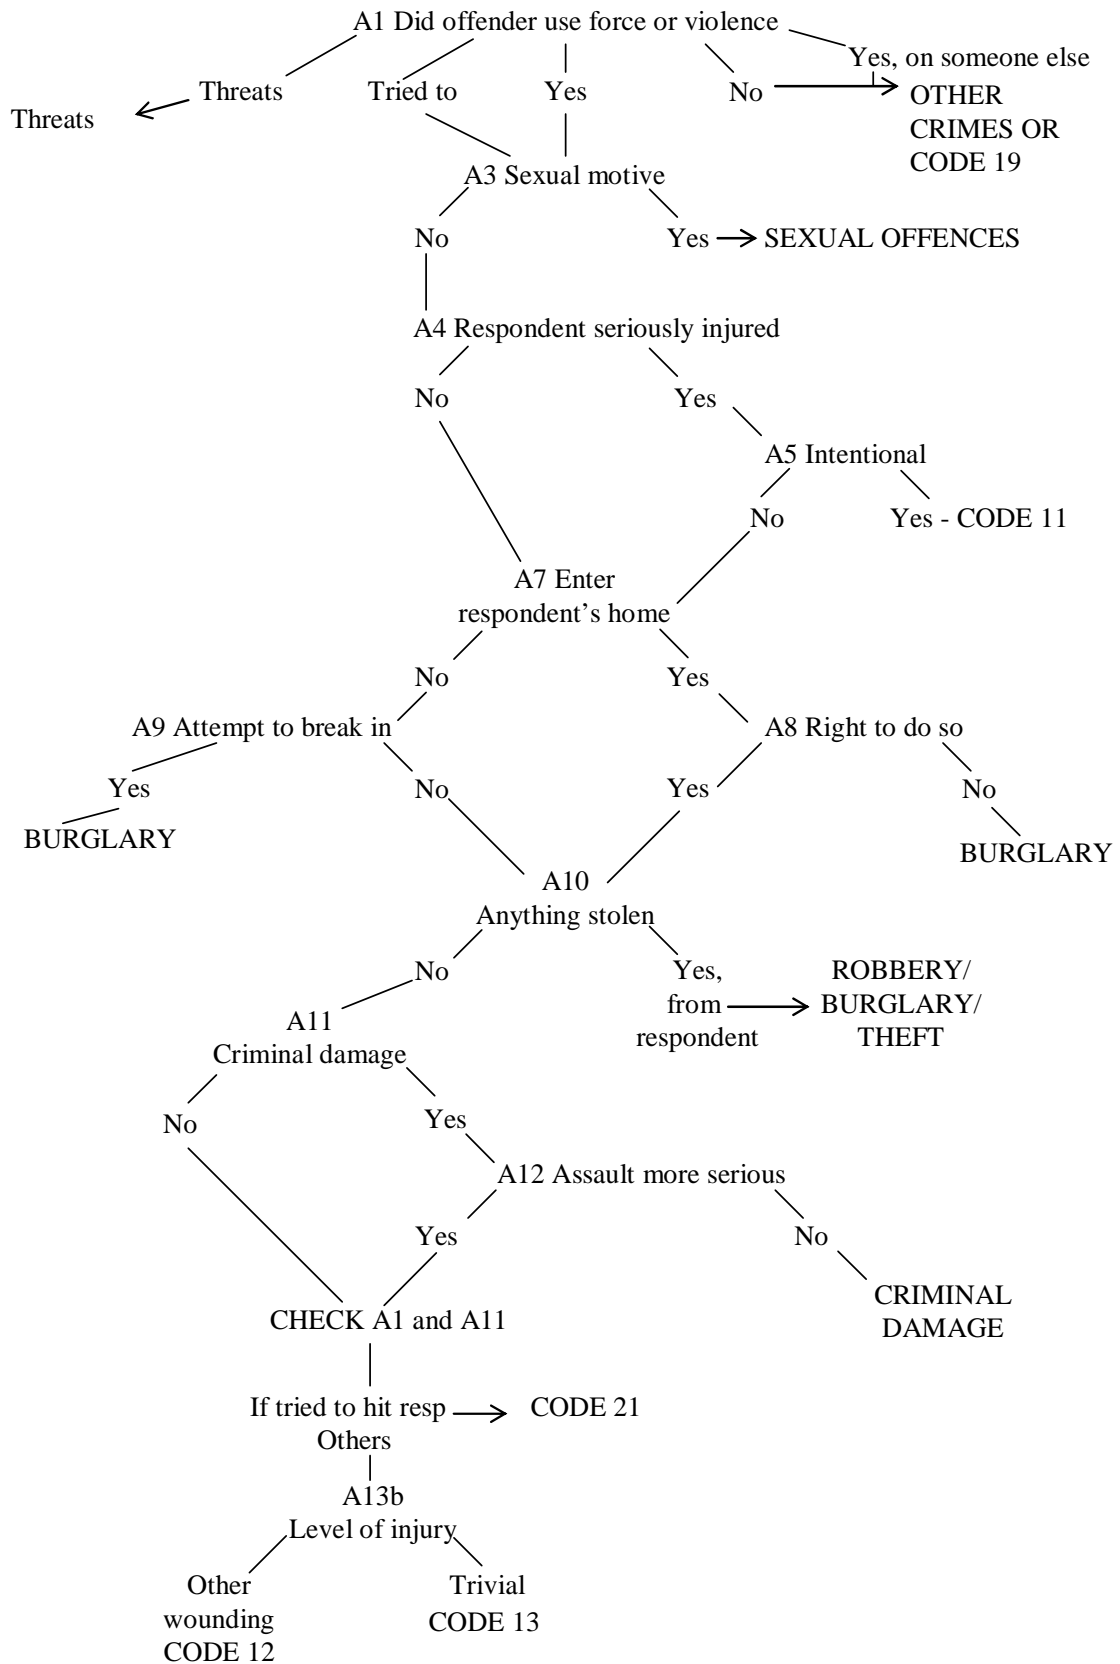

Possible codes

Code 11	Serious wounding
Code 12	Other wounding
Code 13	Common assault (no injury or negligible injury)
Code 19	Assault falling outside the survey's coverage

PRIORITIES

- If the offender did some malicious damage to property in the course of, or at the same time as, assaulting the victim, this will in most cases be classified as criminal damage (codes 81 to 89) unless the assault amounts to a serious wounding (but see Note for Guidance 1D).
- Threats where force was used, even if there was no injury, should be coded as assaults (codes 11-13) or sexual offences (codes 31-35), depending on the type of force used.

ASSAULT FLOWCHART

ASSAULTS: NOTES FOR GUIDANCE

- 1A Some assaults without injury will consist of merely grabbing the respondent, spitting at them or throwing a drink over them. In these cases UseForce ('Did the person/any of the people actually use force or violence on anyone in any way, even if this resulted in no injury?') may be answered 'no'; the correct code is likely to be 13, common assault.
- 1B Only the respondent can be the victim of an assault, for the purpose of the survey. Any incidents involving assault only, where the respondent is not a victim, should be treated as outside the survey's coverage (code 19) unless there is another part of the incident that involves the respondent (e.g. threats). If the respondent is one of several victims, code on the basis of information about the respondent alone.

Any cases of burglary or other sorts of theft where serious injury was inflicted on someone other than the respondent will be referred to the Home Office.

- 1C Further criteria for the three categories of assault are:

Common assault Code 13

- a) No injury was inflicted
 OR b) Injury inflicted was trivial or negligible:
 [Medical attention not really necessary].

Examples of injuries for code 13:

minor scratches or bruises
 black eye
 punched, kicked, pushed or jostled
 aches and pains
 headache
 stiff joints

Other wounding Code 12

- a) Injury inflicted
 i.e. - substantial bruising, cuts etc. but not amounting to a serious wound - [medical attention probably not necessary for a)]
 OR b) Serious wound inflicted but not intentional: i.e. the offender hurt victim more than he intended.

Note: If an incident involves serious wounding, it should only be coded 'other wounding' if the questionnaire makes it explicit that such a serious attack was not intended.

Examples of injuries for code 12:

nose bleed
 swollen lip/leg
 damaged rib
 dislocated shoulder
 torn cartilage
 scalding
 chipped tooth
 rash from CS gas

Serious wounding Code 11

- a) offender intended to inflict really serious wound
 OR b) a really serious wound was inflicted and therefore risk of permanent injury or damage [Medical attention needed immediately for a) & b)].

Note: Do not assume that the respondent seeing a doctor means the injury is serious. A stay in hospital is more likely to indicate serious injury.

Examples of injuries for code 11:

skin or bone is broken
 serious cuts or bones broken knocked unconscious
 internal bleeding
 blood clot on brain
 concussion damaged kidney needing stitches
 stab wound
 head injury
 broken rib

- 1D Code 11, serious wounding, always takes precedence over codes 81-89, criminal damage. However, the criminal damage codes take precedence over code 12, other wounding, and code 13, common assault without injury. (Exceptions to this rule can be made where the damage is very trivial, and the assault involves injury; for example, if a victim is given a beating in which his eyes are both blacked and his clothes torn, it makes more sense to call this an assault than an act of criminal damage.) Arson (code 80) takes precedence over all assault codes.

SHEET 2: ATTEMPTED ASSAULT

Respondents are not asked, either in the main questionnaire 'screener' questions or in the victim form, whether anyone has tried to hit them, beat them up etc. Some respondents will have reported such incidents, all the same; they will probably be of the nature: "Someone took a swing at me in a pub". Attempted assaults are not the same thing as threatened assaults.

However, if a respondent is threatened with a weapon, this is an attempted assault (code 21). A weapon does not have to be a gun or knife – it can be anything that it used to threaten the victim (eg a brick, a dog, a bag of shopping etc.). It is not the object, but what the offender does with it that makes it a weapon.

For the survey's purpose, only the respondent can be the victim of an attempted assault. Attempted assaults happening to other household members will be out of scope, as there is no specific out of scope code for attempts these cases should be given a code 19

Possible codes

Code 21 Attempted assault.

PRIORITIES

- If attempted assault is "competing" with any other offence classification, except threats, the other offence takes precedence. Attempted assault takes precedence over threats

ATTEMPTED ASSAULT: NOTES FOR GUIDANCE

2A An incident may involve an attempt to assault the respondent and a successful attack on someone else; in this case the incident should be counted as a code 21.

SHEET 3: SEXUAL OFFENCES

Most sexual offences uncovered by the survey will have an element of physical assault to them; and besides, some sexual offences will occur in combination with offences such as robbery. The survey uses six codes for sexual offences.

Codes 32-34 all involve attacks not amounting to rape. Code 32, serious wounding with sexual motive, refers to incidents which would be classified as serious wounding (code 11) if it were not for the sexual motive. (The criteria for serious wounding are as set out on sheet 1).

Indecent assaults, code 35, refer to incidents involving no injury; a typical case might be perpetrated by a "groper" on a train or bus. An assault may be indecent if its motive was clearly sexual, even though the specific act was not of an explicitly sexual character.

If the offender does not actually touch the victim, and there are no threats made (eg indecent exposure) then this would be coded as "other sexual offence" (code 39). If there is no touching, but the respondent says that they were threatened (this could be a non-verbal sexual threat) then this would be coded as code 92 (sexual threat made against respondent).

Possible codes

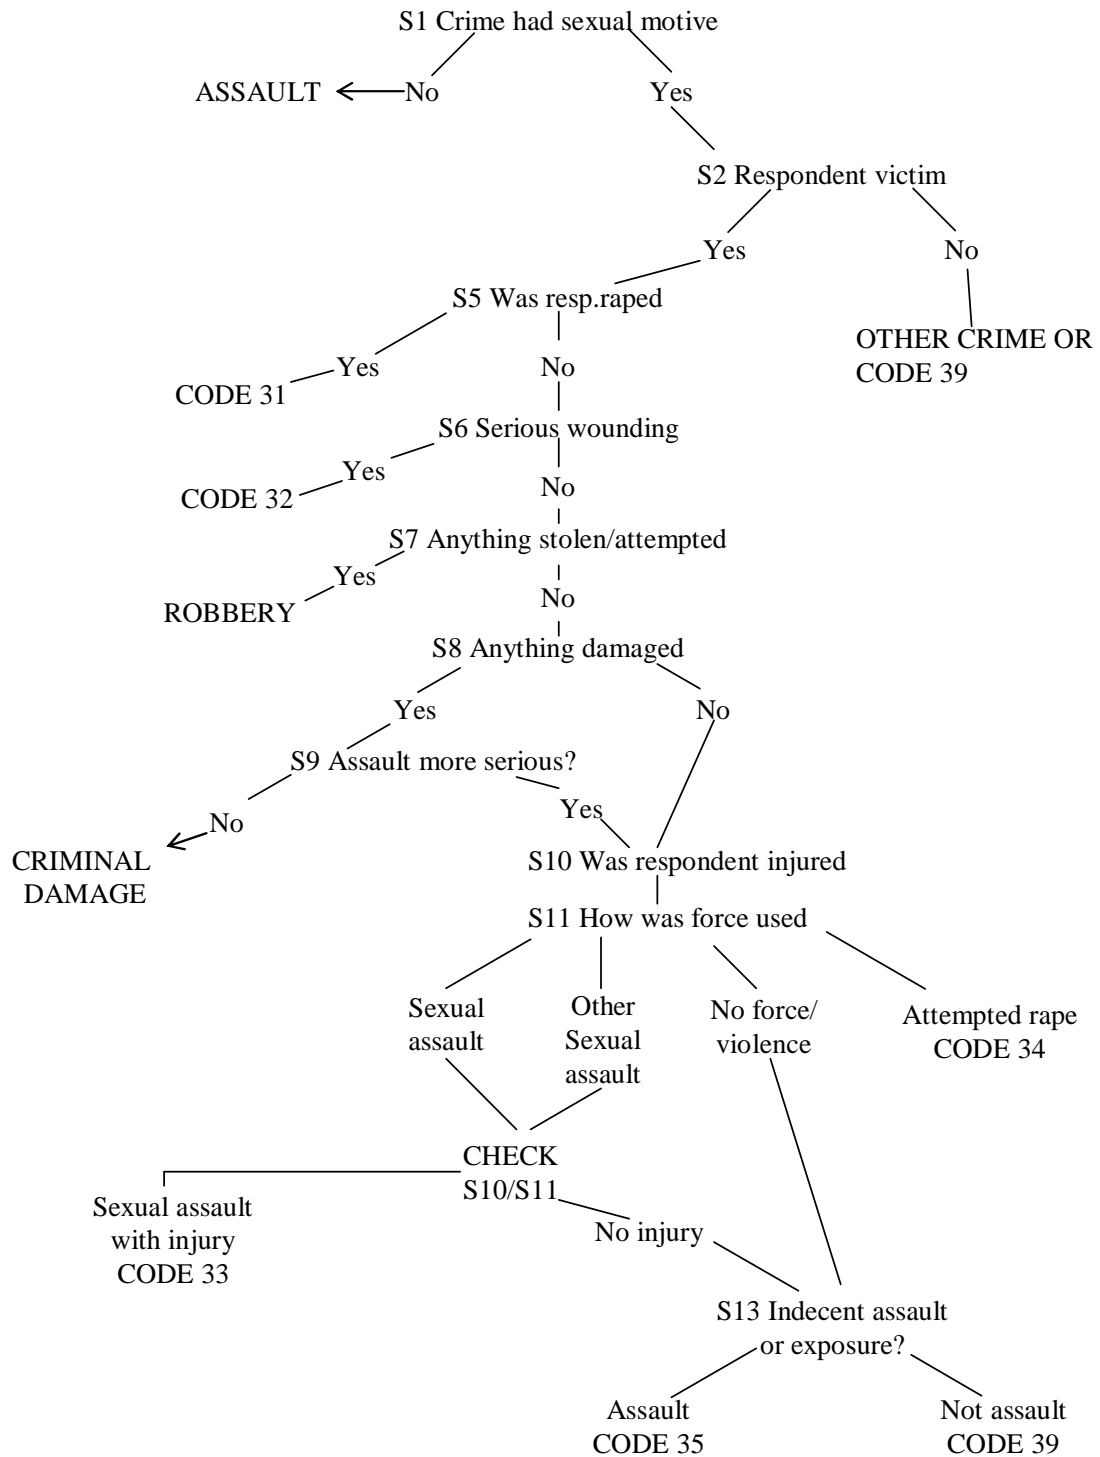

Code 31	Rape
Code 32	Serious wounding with sexual motive
Code 33	Other wounding with sexual motive
Code 34	Attempted rape
Code 35	Indecent assault
Code 39	Other sexual offence, falling outside the survey's coverage.

Respondent: Both male and female respondents can be the victim of sexual offences.

PRIORITIES

- An incident of rape is counted as a code 31 (rape), regardless of any other offence with which it is combined. For example, if a rape takes place in the course of a burglary, it is to be classified as a rape, not a burglary.
- Code 32 (serious wounding with sexual motive), takes precedence over any offence with which it can occur in combination (except, of course, rape and except arson).
- Code 33 (other wounding with sexual motive), and code 34 (attempted rape), do not take precedence over codes for robbery, burglary, criminal damage and most thefts.
- Code 35 (indecent assault), does not take precedence over codes for robbery, burglary, criminal damage and theft.

SEXUAL OFFENCES FLOWCHART

SEXUAL OFFENCES: NOTES FOR GUIDANCE

- 3A There will be some sexual offences where no force or violence was used. In these, WhatFor will not be completed. For the purposes of coding, if the assault involved some contact between the offender and victim (i.e. not just exposure) this should be coded as a indecent assault (code 35).

If DescrInc indicates that the incident was one of attempted rape (code 34) but WhatFor has not been answered, coders should assume that this is an attempted rape, and answer the coding module questions as if WhatFor had been answered attempted rape.

Where injuries are sustained, it is too serious to be coded as indecent assault. Any sexual assault with injuries will be coded as other wounding with sexual motive (code 33) or serious wounding with sexual motive (code 32) as appropriate.

- 3B If the respondent is simultaneously the victim of robbery or attempted robbery or theft from the person and of rape or serious wounding with sexual motive, the incident should be coded as rape or serious wounding with sexual motive. However, if robbery, attempted robbery or theft from the person occur in combination with other wounding with sexual motive, attempted rape or indecent assault, the sexual offence codes do not take precedence.

- 3C If the respondent is the victim of rape or serious wounding with sexual motive in the course of a burglary, the incident is given one of the two sexual offence codes rather than a burglary code.

If someone other than the respondent is the victim of rape or serious wounding with sexual motive in the course of a burglary, the case will be referred to the Home Office.

If any lesser sexual offence occurs in the course of a burglary, the incident is coded as burglary.

- 3D If a sexual element is claimed to exist, it must relate to the incident, not the general relationship between the victim and the perpetrator.

SHEET 4: ROBBERY, SNATCH THEFTS AND OTHER THEFTS FROM THE PERSON (INCLUDING ATTEMPTS)

Robbery involves the use of force or threat of force to a person immediately before or at the time of a theft. (A threat can be simply implied e.g. "Give us your wallet". The presence of a weapon is an implied threat, even if it is not actually used). If someone is threatened or attacked by an intruder in their home, the element of robbery will usually be absent but see the detailed list. Snatch thefts have no element of threat, and only minimal force; they involve speed rather than force or threat - for example, pulling a handbag off a woman's shoulder or snatching a purse from a shopping bag. However, a snatch that turns into a 'tug of war' between victim and offender involves more than minimal force, and should be counted as robbery. Other thefts from the person involve neither force, threats nor snatching, but the offender intends that the victim should remain unaware of the theft whilst it is being committed - pickpocketing being the prime example.

Respondents are likely to use the term 'mugging' to refer to robbery and snatches, but not to other thefts from the person. Some thefts and attempted thefts of personal property may need to be classified under code 67 or 73 instead of here.

The following broad hierarchy applies to thefts of personal property:

- robbery (41, 42) force was used to further theft; more force than was necessary to snatch property away (including 'tug of war' between victim and offender) or threats used, whether or not victim actually holding items (if domestic location, may be code 55 or assault/wounding)
- snatch (43, 45) force used was just to snatch property away or no extra force used, but victim clearly aware of the incident as it happened and respondent actually holding items taken or carrying them on their person.
- stealth (44, 45) no force used and respondent clearly unaware of incident and actually holding items or carrying them on (or very close to) their person (e.g. purse in pocket or in bag being held).
- other (67, 73) no force used and respondent not actually holding items or carrying them on their person. (something put down on a shop counter for a while or left on a shopping trolley while respondent wanders about, and items well away from respondent at the time e.g. things left in cloakrooms).

Sometimes, the respondent may be unclear whether they had their pockets picked or lost their wallet or may report behaviour which may or may not have been attempted theft. In such cases code 48 applies.

Respondent: Only the respondent can be the victim of this group of offences.

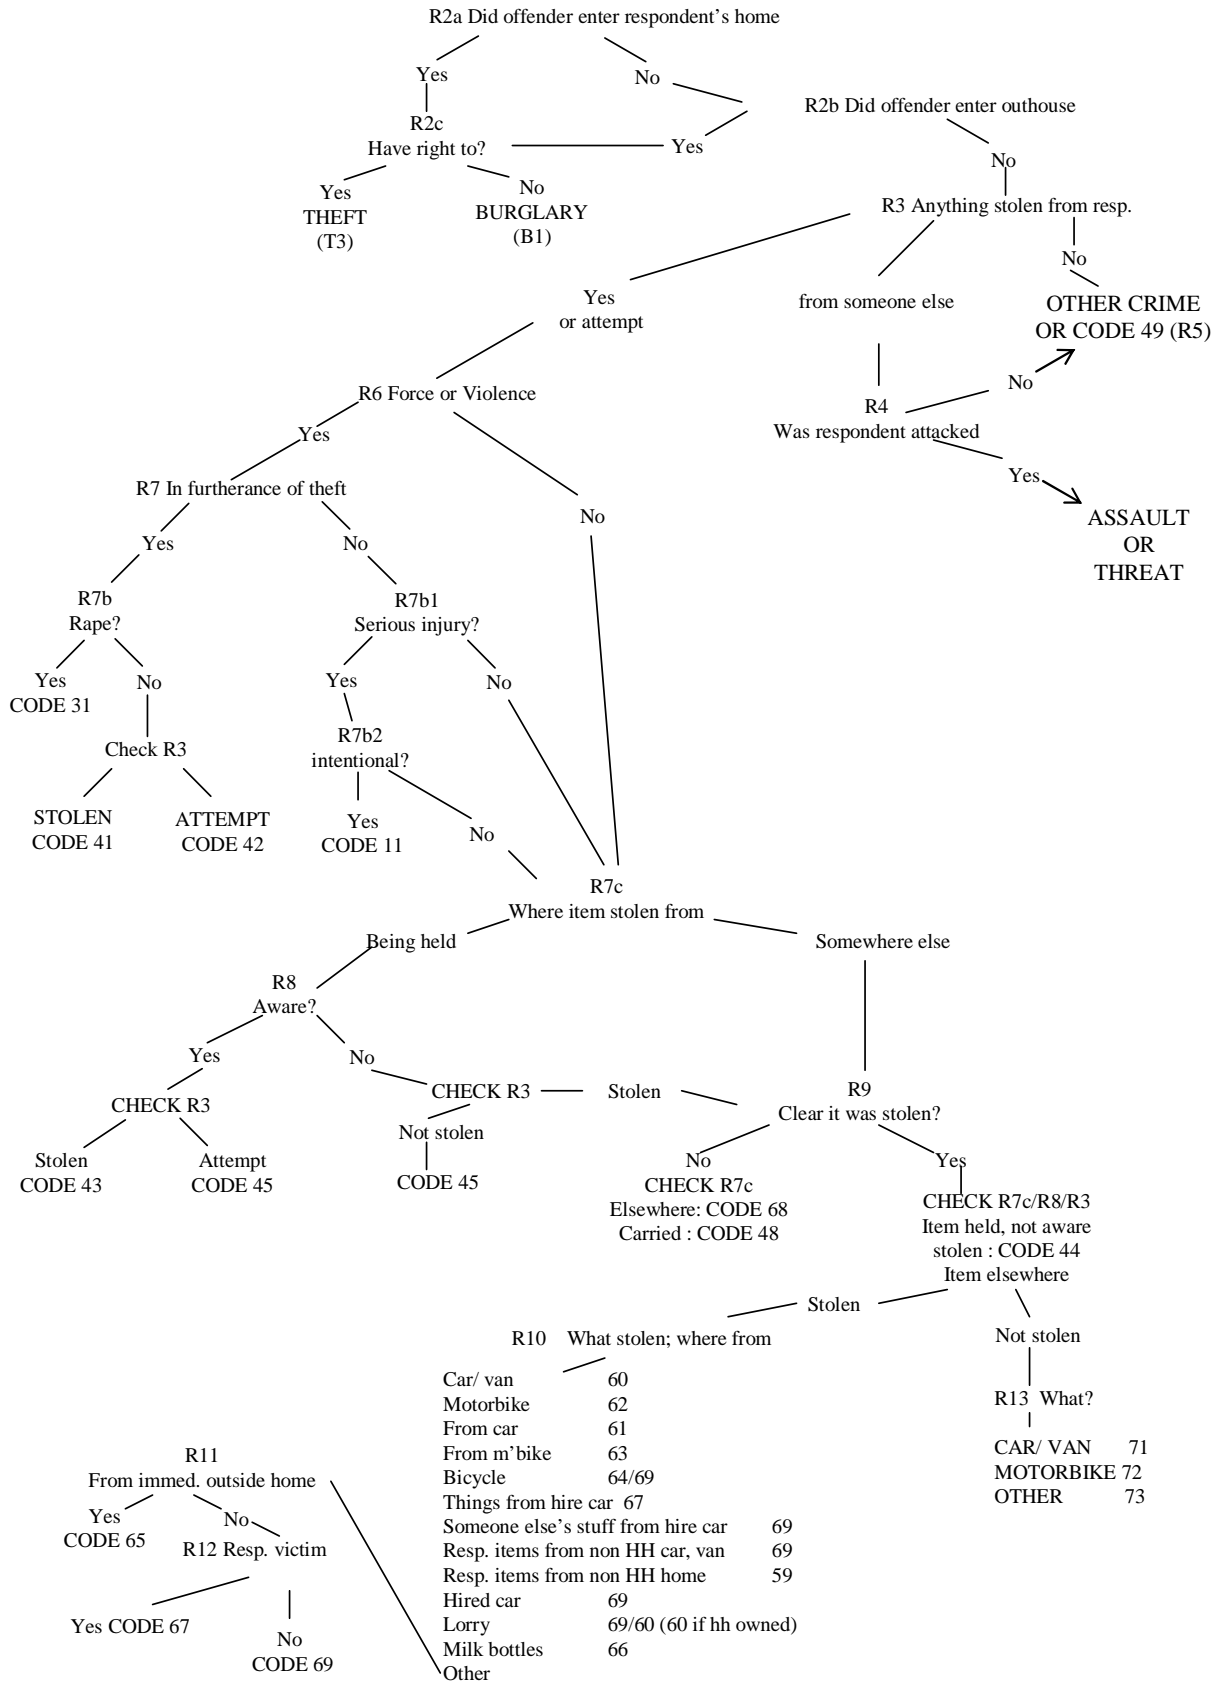

Possible codes

- Code 41 Robbery
- Code 42 Attempted robbery
- Code 43 Snatch theft from the person
- Code 44 Other theft from the person
- Code 45 Attempted theft from the person
- Code 48 Possibly theft but could have been loss/possibly attempted theft but could have been innocent
- Code 49 Other robbery, theft from the person, falling outside the survey's coverage.

PRIORITIES

- Where robberies occur in combination with other offences, code 41 takes precedence over all others except rape, code 31. Snatch theft and other thefts from the person, by their nature, will not occur in combination with any other offences except, conceivably, criminal damage, over which they take precedence.

ROBBERY

ROBBERIES AND THEFTS FROM THE PERSON: NOTES FOR GUIDANCE

- 4A For an incident to be coded with this group of codes (41-49), the respondent must be a victim. (Other people might also be victims simultaneously). If the respondent was simply accompanying someone else who was robbed (or someone else who suffered a theft from the person), no offence has occurred for the purposes of the survey, and the incident may be coded out of scope. But, if the respondent was accompanying someone else who was robbed, and the respondent was attacked or threatened in the course of the robbery, the incident should be coded as an assault (codes 11-19) or a threat (code 91-95). This also covers situations where the respondent was caught up in the robbery of a business.
- 4B If someone gains unauthorised access into a house and threatens the occupants in the furtherance of theft - in order e.g. to make them open up a safe - this is code 41, robbery. But if someone breaks into a house to steal and is disturbed by the occupants who (try to) stop him, this is burglary rather than robbery or attempted robbery (even if a household member is wounded) - see burglary (sheet 5).
- 4C Robbery involves the use of force or threat of force before or at the time of a theft. A threat can, for these purposes, be simply implied. Snatch thefts (code 43) involve no threat and only minimal force - e.g. pulling a handbag from someone's grasp, or off their shoulder. As soon as the victim offers any resistance, more than 'minimal' force has been used, and the offence becomes one of robbery (code 41) or attempted robbery, code 42. 'Other thefts from the person' (code 44) involve stealth; pickpocketing for example, and covertly taking a purse from a shopping basket. Victims will not become aware of 'other theft from the person' until after the event - in contrast to robberies and snatches. (It may be helpful to check Aware: "Were you aware of what was happening?"). So if a victim is pushed/jostled (e.g. on the tube) and later discovers the theft, this is a stealth theft (code 44). If the victim is aware of the theft at the time of being pushed/jostled it is a snatch (code 43).
- 4D If property is actually taken by the offender (even if it is dropped and the victim recovers it) this is an actual, not attempted, offence.
- 4E Property taken from a trolley or pushchair will count as a code 44 (other theft from a person), even though it was not actually physically being carried by the respondent – as long as the trolley or pushchair was in close proximity to the respondent (i.e. being wheeled). Items taken that are not being carried or held (e.g. a bag by someone's feet, a coat on a hanger, items left behind in a pub) will be coded as 67 (other theft). If the bag by the feet is touching that person (eg they have the strap wrapped round their foot, or have the bag between their feet) then this should be a code 44 (other theft from a person). However, in the absence of any specific information on this, these cases should continue to be coded as 67 (other theft).
- 4F If a respondent is assaulted or threatened in the course of a robbery or attempted robbery of a business this should only be coded as robbery/attempted robbery (41 or 42) if the respondent was also the victim of a theft (e.g. as well as robbing the business the robber also took items from the respondent or if the business is the respondent's business and they are a sole trader). Otherwise, the threat or assault codes will apply.

If the respondent challenges shoplifters or thieves and is then threatened/assaulted, the threat or assault codes apply. If the respondent is threatened or assaulted at work by a customer refusing to pay a bill, this is coded as threat/assault.

- 4G To use code 48 (possibly theft, could have been loss) the victim must not know if the property has been lost or stolen. If the respondent thinks that the property has been stolen, do not use this code.

4H If the offender reaches into a car and takes something while the respondent is sitting in the car, this would NOT count as a theft from a car. Depending on the level of force used it would either count as:

- A snatch theft (code 43/45) – the respondent was aware of what was happening, but no or limited force used. If the item was on the seat next to the person or close by, it can count as being held (similar to an item on a trolley that was being pushed).
- A robbery (code 41/42) – if threat or violence was used in furtherance of the theft
- Other theft (67/73) – for items that were not close to the respondent – e.g. from the boot of the car (unless respondent ends up tussling with offender for the item in which case, it becomes a robbery).

If the car is a household car, but the person in the car is not the respondent, then this would be out of scope.

An actual car-jacking where the victim is threatened to give up their car would count as robbery. If the car-jacking involves no threat or force (ie the person is tricked out of their car and it is driven off) this would be theft of a car.

SHEET 5: BURGLARY, ATTEMPTED BURGLARY AND THEFT IN A DWELLING

Burglary from a dwelling is any unauthorised entry into the respondent's dwelling – no matter what incident occurs once the offender is inside. If the offender does not have the right to enter a home, but does so, this will be burglary. The exceptions are if the respondent is raped or seriously injured by such a trespasser. In these cases, the crime would be rape (code 31) or serious wounding (code 11).

Burglary does not necessarily involve forced entry; a burglar can walk in through an open door, or gain access by, for example, impersonating a gas man, electrician etc. It does not matter to whom the items taken belong – just the fact that it is taken from the respondent's household premises.

The "dwelling" is a house or flat or any outhouse or garage linked to the dwelling via a connecting door. The "dwelling" should be the respondent's permanent residence. Burglary from a friend's house would be outside the scope of the survey (and should be coded as 59 – burglary outside the scope of the survey, even if the respondent has items stolen during that burglary). If the property is a temporary dwelling (eg a hotel room, holiday home), then the burglary code does not apply. If the respondent's property is stolen during a burglary of a temporary property, this would be coded as other theft (code 67).

For burglary to have occurred, the offender must have entered the home. The home "begins" at any door or window whether open or shut. For example, theft from an open porch (a porch without a door) would not count as burglary, but theft from a porch with a door would, even if the door was open at the time. 'Common areas' (e.g. hallways) of flats are NOT included, and you should not code entry to common areas as entry to the home. Garages are included if they are linked to the dwelling via a connecting door. If the garage is not linked to the house with a door, it is not 'burglary from a dwelling' (see codes 57, 58). Assume outhouses are not linked to dwellings unless this is clearly the case.

For there to be an attempted burglary, there must be clear evidence that the offender made an actual, physical attempt to gain entry to the home (e.g. damage to locks or broken doors; glass panel in the door smashed; broken windows where the respondent said someone had tried to get in to the home). An attempted burglary takes priority over other theft codes. However, damage to back/side gates or footprints in the garden (in absence of evidence of attempt to get in, e.g. damage to windows, etc) are not sufficient evidence for an attempted burglary. If no evidence of attempted theft, but damage was done, refer to sheet 8, or, if threat, to sheet 9. Code 54 – possible attempted burglary should be used as a last resort, and all other in scope offences take priority over this code.

Theft in a dwelling (code 55) consists of theft committed inside (indoors not outside) a home by somebody who was entitled to be there at the time of the offence. Thefts in dwellings are committed, for example, by guests at parties and by workmen with legitimate access. Thefts from meters in dwellings are to be classified separately, unless these occurred in the course of burglary.

There are special rules regarding vehicles and bicycles stolen during the course of a burglary, so that if these were the only things stolen, it counts as theft of/from vehicle or bicycle theft rather than burglary (see Note 5D for details).

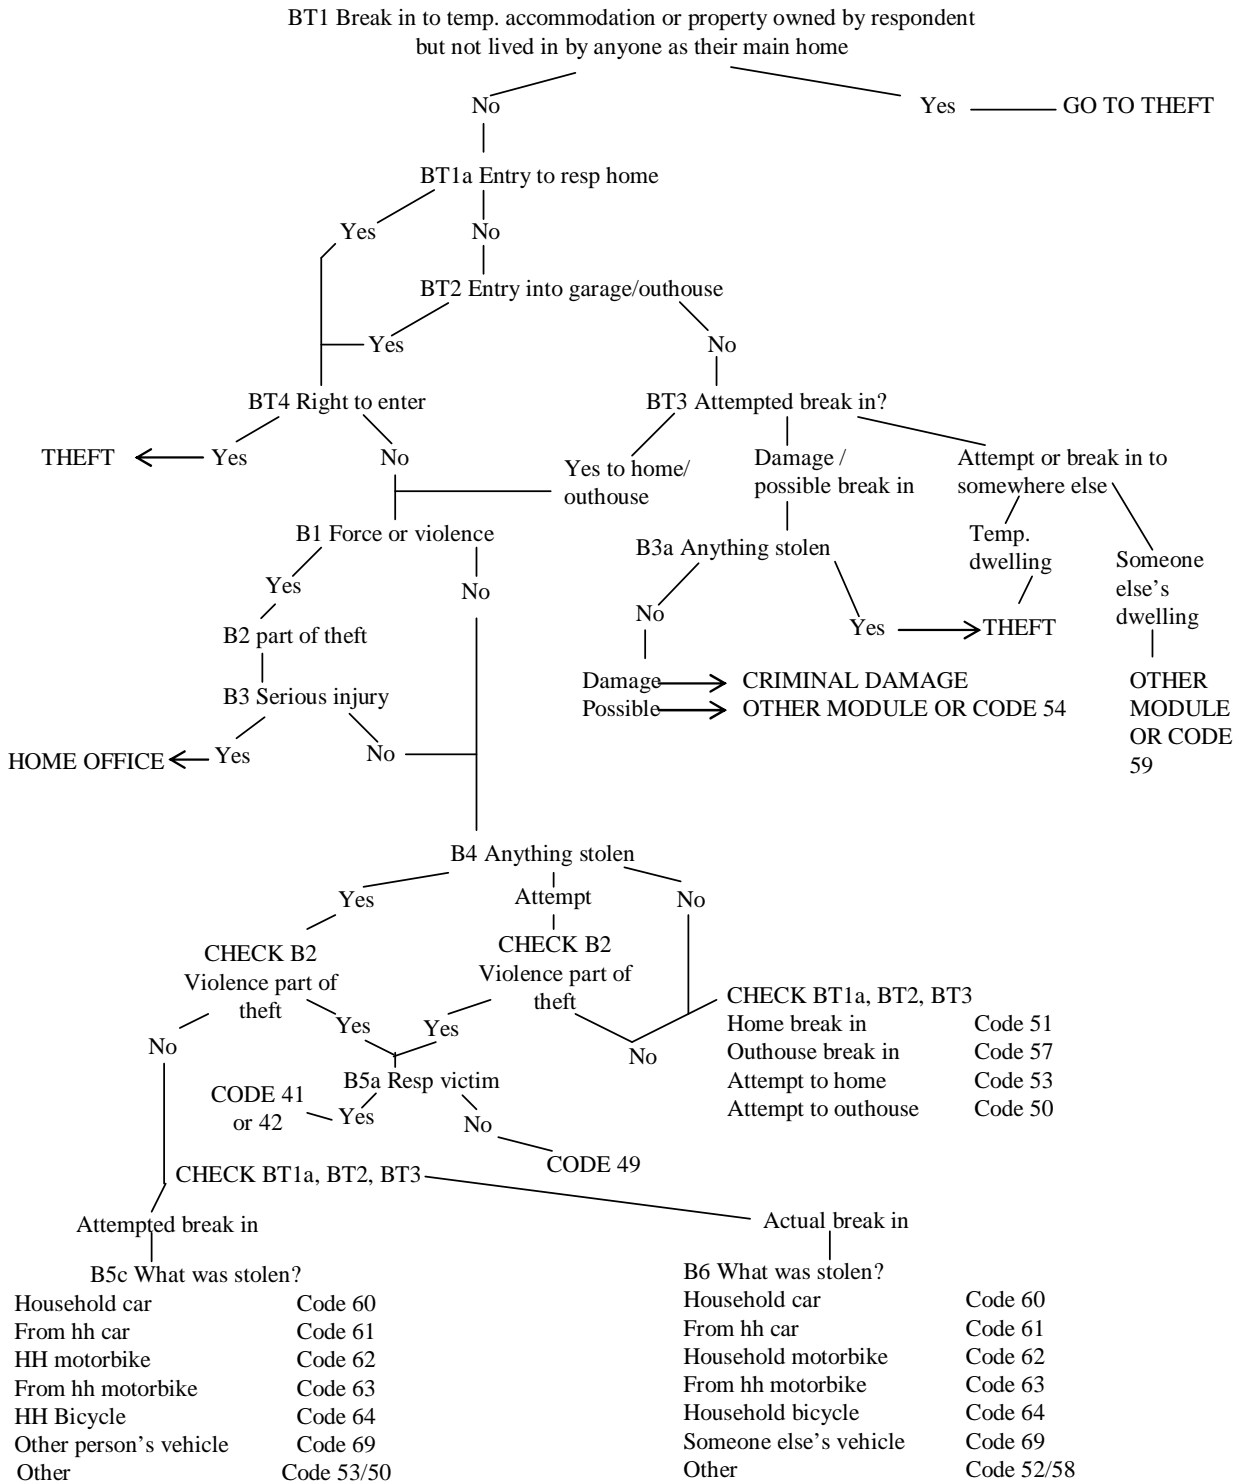

Possible codes

Code 50	Attempted burglary to non-connected Domestic garage/outhouse	Code 56	Theft from a meter
Code 51	Burglary in a dwelling (nothing taken)	Code 57	Burglary from a non-connected domestic garage/outhouse (nothing taken)
Code 52	Burglary in a dwelling (something taken)	Code 58	Burglary from a non-connected domestic garage/outhouse (something taken)
Code 53	Attempted burglary in a dwelling	Code 59	Burglary/attempted burglary/theft in a dwelling falling outside survey's coverage
Code 54	Possible attempted burglary
Code 55	Theft in a dwelling

PRIORITIES

- Burglary, attempted burglary and theft in a dwelling may all occur in combination with a number of other offences, and almost always take precedence over other offences. The exceptions are serious wounding (code 11), rape (code 31) and serious wounding with sexual motive (code 32). E.g. if a burglar seriously injures a respondent who disturbs him, this may be classified as a code 11, serious wounding (but see detailed list).
- Arson (code 80) takes precedence over burglary

BURGLARY

BURGLARY, ATTEMPTED BURGLARY AND THEFT IN A DWELLING: NOTES FOR GUIDANCE

5A A burglary occurs only when the offender or any part of their body has entered the home without permission. For the purposes of the survey, the ‘home’ here includes outhouses and garages linked to the dwelling via a connecting door, but excludes the grounds - i.e. garden - of a home, and garages and outhouses with no connecting doors to the home. Burglaries from such non-connected garages and outhouses are dealt with by codes 50, 57 and 58. ‘Entering the home’ means any part of the offender’s body (e.g. reaching a hand through a window to steal something or taking mail by reaching through a letter-box on the entry door). Communal areas in flats do not count as the home.

If the respondent says “don’t know” to the question “Do they have permission to be in the house” this should be treated as trespassing and coded as a burglary.

The home should be the respondent’s main dwelling, not somewhere where they are temporarily staying (such as a hotel room or holiday cottage). If there is a burglary of a temporary dwelling, and items that belong to the respondent are stolen, this should be coded as other theft (code 67). If there is a burglary from a temporary dwelling, but the items stolen do not belong to the respondent, then this would be coded as an out of scope theft (code 69). The respondent could be either the owner of the temporary dwelling (eg owner of a holiday cottage) or the temporary occupant. If the respondent is the owner, but has nothing belonging to him stolen, any damage caused by the break in would be in scope as other criminal damage (code 85/86).

(Dwellings owned by the respondent but lived in by someone else as their main home do not count as temporary. In such cases, only those living in the property would be victims of the burglary, even if some items were stolen that belonged to their landlord. If the landlord was the respondent in such a case, this would be coded as an out of scope burglary (code 59)).

Caravans: an actual or attempted break-in to a caravan parked on the respondent’s property counts as burglary/attempted burglary to a non-connected outhouse (codes 50, 57 or 58). An actual/attempted break-in to a caravan parked elsewhere (not being lived in) counts as ‘other theft’ (code 67) or ‘other attempted theft’ (code 73). If the caravan is being lived in the code will depend on whether it is someone’s main home, or whether it is being used as a temporary dwelling (eg let out for holidays).

(Note that if the whole caravan or parts of it are stolen while parked on the respondent’s property, this is ‘theft from outside dwelling’ (code 65). If parked elsewhere, it is ‘other theft’ code 67).

Break-ins to allotment sheds or other “storage” places not within the grounds of the home (e.g. a lock up or garage) should not count as “outhouse burglaries”, but should be coded as other theft (code 67) or other attempted theft (code 73).

In some cases of attempted burglary, WherVict may be wrongly completed, ‘outside own home’ being given as the response to “Where did it happen?” rather than ‘inside own home (including attempted break-ins)’. In these cases, assume for the purpose of classification that the response ‘inside own home’ has been given.

Deliberate damage to a back/side gate (even if in order to effect entry) but without proof of actual or attempted entry to the home or any outhouse should be coded as criminal damage. Damage to locks/padlocks of sheds or other outbuildings should be coded as attempted outhouse burglary (code 50). Damage to doors will usually be attempted burglary (unless it was obviously not part of an attempt to get in).

- 5B Thefts in dwellings are committed, for example, by guests at parties and by workmen with legitimate access. Even if one person had legitimate access and lets in others, all count as having legitimate access. Thefts from a meter are classified separately unless they occurred in the course of a burglary. A person who gets access to a house by impersonating an official has no right to be inside the house. A gatecrasher at a party or someone who uses false pretences is trespassing and so leads to a burglary code.
- 5C If someone breaks into a house and threatens the occupants in the furtherance of theft - e.g. to make them open up the safe - this is code 41, robbery, or code 42, attempted robbery. In such cases only the respondent can be the victim of the crime. Therefore, if another household member is the victim of the robbery (ie the threats or force are directed at them), the crime would be an out of scope robbery (code 49).

But if someone breaks into a house in order to steal without intending to confront the occupants, and is disturbed by the occupants, who try to stop him, this is burglary (codes 51 or 52), except in the following situation:

If a burglar seriously wounds any member of the household, the case should be referred to the Home Office. (If anyone is seriously wounded with a weapon belonging to the burglar, the offence in law is 'aggravated burglary', and the code will be 51 or 52. But if the respondent is seriously wounded by anything other than a weapon belonging to the offender, the incident should be coded as a serious wounding, code 11. If anyone other than the respondent is seriously wounded by anything other than a weapon belonging to the burglar, the incident should in theory be excluded from the survey, being a code 11 with a victim other than the respondent).

If anyone was the victim of 'other wounding' or 'common assault', in the course of a burglary, the incident is still coded as burglary - code 51 or 52.

- 5D If theft of/from a motor vehicle (cars or motorbikes) occurs in a connected garage or unconnected garage/outhouse, and these are the only things stolen, this should be coded as theft of/from a vehicle (codes 60-63), rather than burglary/theft from dwelling. However, if anything else was stolen, or an attempt was made to steal something else, it counts as burglary/theft from dwelling. If car keys are stolen from inside the dwelling, and used to steal the car, this is a burglary if the offender did not have a right to be there and theft from a dwelling if they did have the right to be there.

If only bicycles were stolen from a connected garage or non-connected garage/outhouse and no attempt was made to steal anything else, this should be coded as bicycle theft (code 64), not burglary or theft from a dwelling. However, if anything else was stolen, or an attempt was made to steal something else, it is burglary/theft in a dwelling. If a bike is the only thing stolen from inside a house this should be coded as burglary/theft from inside a dwelling.

5E It may not be clear whether the offender tried to get inside. If footprints were noticed in a flowerbed, or snow, this is not by itself evidence of an attempted burglary; the offender might just be a nosy parker, or a peeping Tom. Similarly an intruder sighted in a garden may not be a burglary. If in doubt, regard 'don't know' as 'no' for both OffInHom and TryInsid. Such cases should be coded as code 54 'possible attempted burglary'. However, if any other offences have been committed (e.g. criminal damage), then that offence should take priority.

A burglary of commercial premises is out of scope (even if the respondent owns the business), unless the burglar gains access to the proprietor's/respondent's living quarters (in which case a burglary code would apply) or personal or private items belonging to the respondent were taken, in which case an other theft code would apply.

SHEET 6: THEFT OF/FROM CAR/VAN, THEFT OF/FROM MOTORBIKE ETC, THEFT OF PEDAL CYCLE, THEFT FROM OUTSIDE DWELLING AND OTHER THEFT

Theft is something of a residual category, classified by eliminating contenders such as burglary and robbery. Within the theft classifications, 'theft in a dwelling' code 55, (defined on sheet 5), takes precedence over 'theft of pedal cycle' (code 64) and 'other theft' (code 67). Thus a bicycle stolen from inside a house by somebody who was not trespassing at the time is counted as 'theft in a dwelling'. But 'theft of pedal cycle' takes precedence over 'theft outside a dwelling' (code 65) as do all theft classifications except 'other theft'. If the only thing stolen from a household car is a bike belonging to someone in the household, this is 'theft of a pedal cycle', not 'theft from a car'. If a bike is one of a number of things stolen, it is 'theft from a car' if the car is a household car, or out of scope if the car belongs to someone else.

A bicycle belonging to the household stolen from outside another person's home, from someone else's garden or from someone else's car is an in-scope bicycle theft. Similarly, if someone else's bicycle is stolen from the outside the respondent's home, from their garden or from their car, it is an out of scope theft.

Theft from motor vehicles refers both to theft of parts and accessories of motor vehicles and to theft of contents. The classification system makes no distinction between attempted thefts of and from motor vehicles, because it is often difficult to distinguish these. Where a vehicle and its contents are stolen and the vehicle is subsequently recovered without the contents, this still counts as theft of a vehicle.

Do not include small children's (under 5s) bicycles or tricycles in theft of pedal cycles: such thefts should be treated in the same way as general household property (e.g. code 65).

In some cases, the questionnaire will indicate that respondents were in doubt as to whether they had lost something or had it stolen. In any case where doubt is clearly expressed, the incident should be coded as code 68, 'possible theft, possible lost property'. Negligence by the victim makes no difference to theft.

Sometimes it is difficult to distinguish criminal damage from theft. (e.g. aerials broken off cars, lighting removed from house walls). The guiding principle is that for something to have been stolen it has to be re-usable elsewhere. So only vehicle parts/accessories that could be reused, were carefully removed (especially regarding aerials and wipers), and were not discarded nearby should be seen as thefts. Otherwise a vandalism code applies (code 81 or 82). However, code theft of wing mirrors or car badges as theft from vehicle (codes 61 or 63). Damage to wipers, paintwork, etc is vandalism (81, 82), unless done with intention to steal. Assume that if the respondent says that the part was stolen, a theft code applies unless there is any evidence to the contrary in the description.

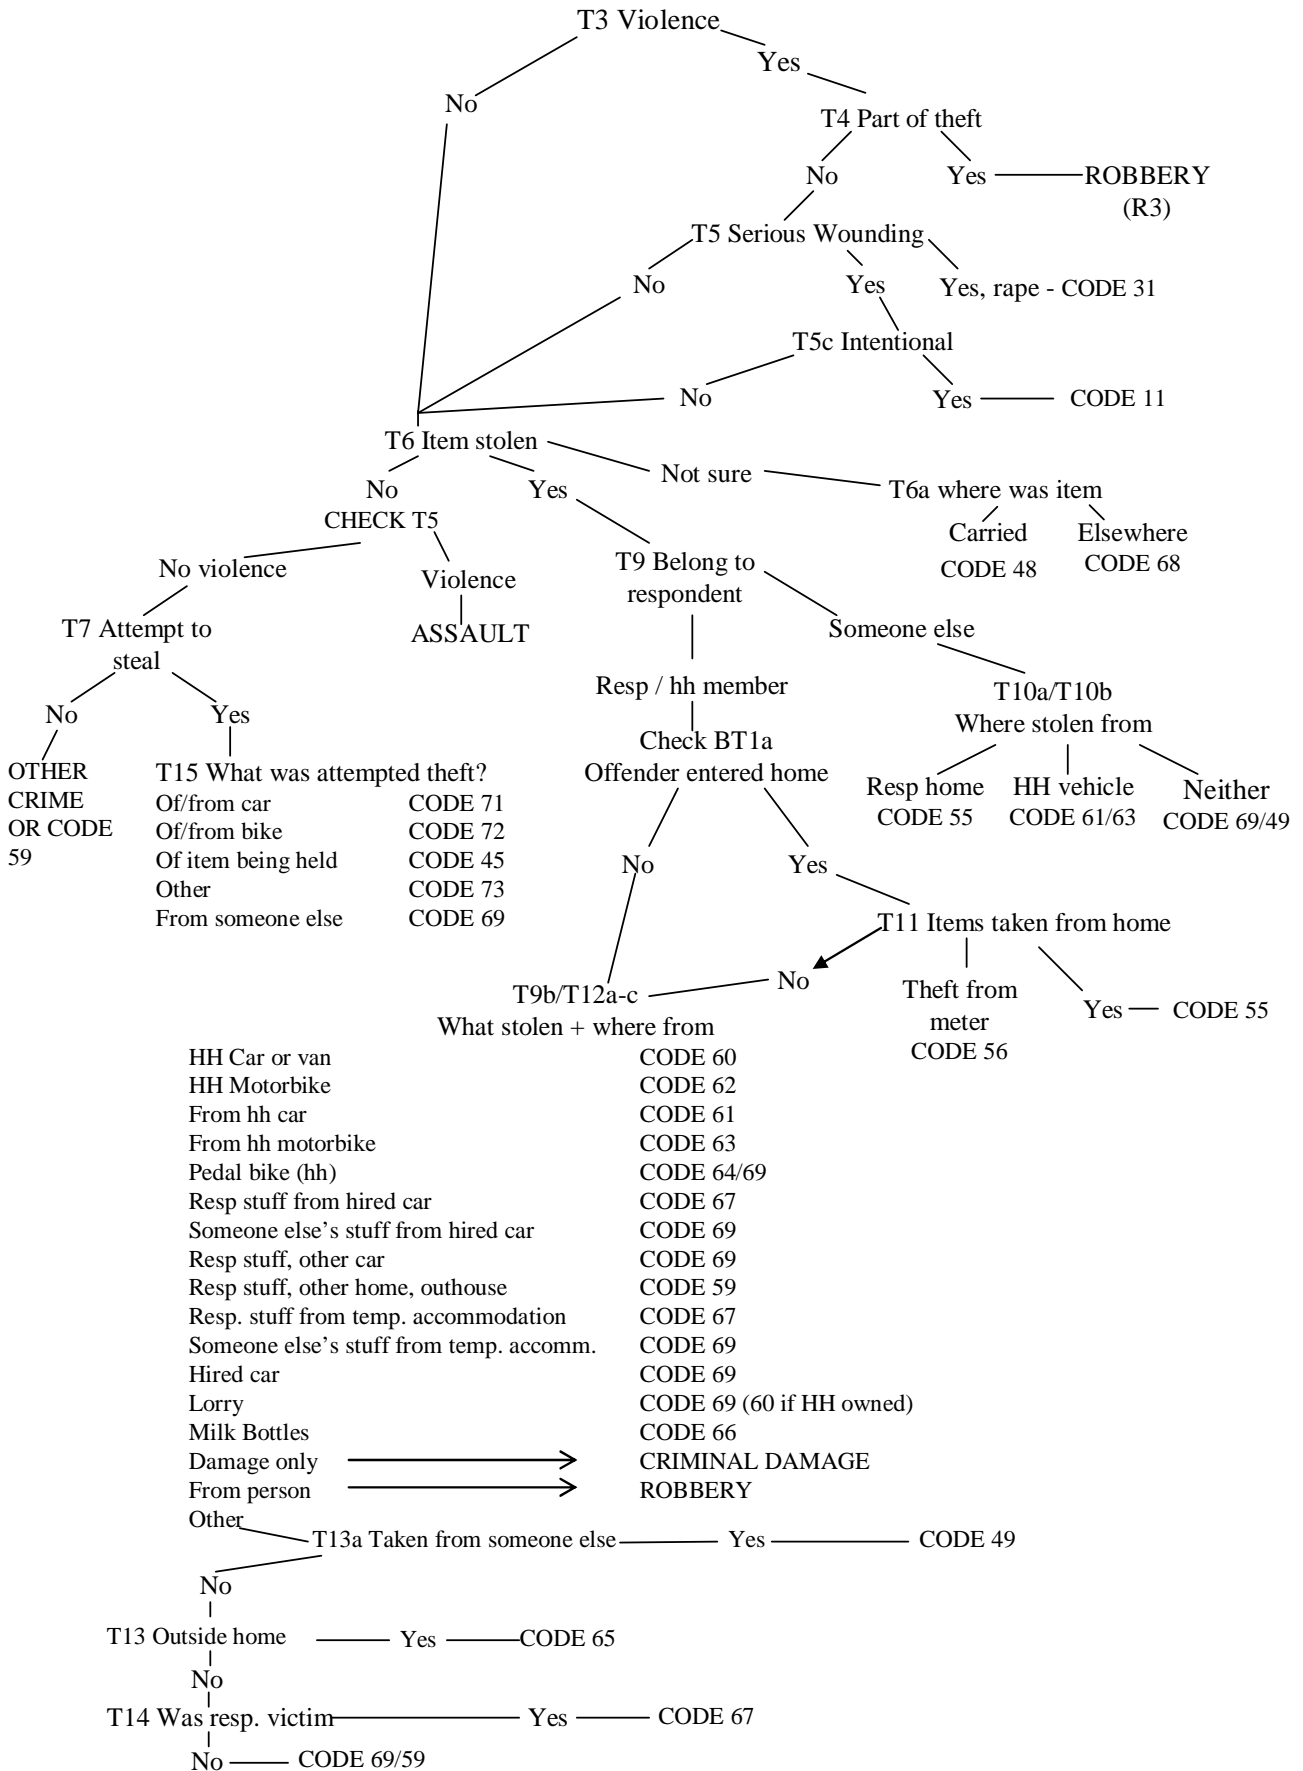

PRIORITIES

- When theft occurs with a straightforward assault, the classification is generally neither one of assault nor theft, but robbery. Similarly the classification of burglary embraces the element of theft. When theft occurs in combination with rape or serious wounding with sexual motives (codes 31 and 32) the theft codes do not take precedence. If theft occurs with an assault that is not in furtherance of the theft, the theft takes priority.
- Theft will frequently occur in combination with criminal damage - for example, where the paintwork of a car is damaged and something taken off or from a car. In these cases the theft codes almost invariably take precedence over the criminal damage codes (codes 81 to 89). This is so even if the damage is very extensive and the theft very small; the exception is where the criminal damage amounts to arson, where a house is set on fire. Such cases should be coded 80 and referred.

Possible codes

Code 60	Theft of car/van	Code 67	Other theft
Code 61	Theft from car/van	Code 68	Possible theft, possible lost property
Code 62	Theft of motorbike, motorscooter or moped	Code 69	Other theft/attempted theft falling outside the survey's coverage.
Code 63	Theft from motorbike, motorscooter or moped
Code 64	Theft of pedal cycle
Code 65	Theft from outside dwelling (excluding theft of milk bottles)
Code 66	Theft of milk bottles from outside dwelling

THEFTS OF/FROM MOTOR VEHICLES, OF PEDAL CYCLES, FROM OUTSIDE DWELLINGS, OTHER THEFT: NOTES FOR GUIDANCE.

6A If the offender was inside the home, this is usually burglary. However, there are special rules covering theft of/from vehicles and of bicycles:

If theft of/from a motor vehicle (car or motorbike) occurs in a connected garage or unconnected garage/outhouse, and these are the only things stolen, this should be coded as theft of/from a vehicle (codes 60-63), rather than burglary/theft from dwelling. However, if anything else was stolen, or an attempt was made to steal something else, it counts as burglary/theft from dwelling.

If only bicycles were stolen from a connected garage or non-connected garage/outhouse and no attempt was made to steal anything else, this should be coded as bicycle theft (code 64), not burglary. However, if anything else was stolen, or an attempt made to steal something else, it is burglary.

6B Communal areas in flats (e.g. hallways) do not count as part of the home. Thus, any theft from a communal area should be treated as a theft from outside the dwelling (code 65). If there are clear signs that the offender attempted to break in to the respondent's flat, then this would be coded as an attempted burglary. (However, theft from outside the dwelling should take precedence over a possible attempted burglary).

6C If something is missing but may have been lost rather than stolen, the correct code is 68, 'possible theft, possible lost property' - for example, belongings left on a train and not recovered. If the respondent thinks the item was stolen, code as other theft (code 67).

6D Thefts of company cars (belong=employer) are in scope. Vans are in scope if used for private use or if the respondent is a self employed one man/woman band. However, thefts of hired cars are out of scope. If any of the respondent's property was inside the stolen hired car, this counts as 'other theft', code 67 (not as a theft from a vehicle). If only the hired car was stolen, the incident is out of scope (code 69). Include caravanettes as if they were cars or light vans.

Thefts of/from taxis where the taxi owner is the respondent should be coded as out of scope as the taxi is the 'work premises' of the respondent.

For cases of theft of lorries, tractors, heavy vans, assume that these are commercial vehicles and hence out of scope unless there is definite evidence to the contrary. Assume that vans are light vans unless this is clearly not the case.

If a vehicle is stolen and returned (e.g. by joyriders) this is still theft of a vehicle (code 60 or 62).

If the respondent is "car-jacked" ie threatened or forced to give up their car, this would be robbery rather than theft of a car and so the victim must be the respondent for the offence to be in scope. If the car jacking involved no threat or force, eg they were tricked out of their car and it was driven off, this would be theft of a car (code 60). In this latter case, the victim does not have to be the respondent as long as the car is a household car.

6E Thefts of the respondent's personal property from lorries/work vans/hired cars should be coded as 'other theft' (code 67), not as thefts from vehicles.

Where the respondent's belongings have been stolen from other peoples' private cars (or homes or garages), the incident is out of scope (code 69 or 59). The owner of the car/home could have been selected for the same survey. However, where other peoples' property has been stolen from the respondent's car (or home or garage), even if none of the respondent's property was stolen, the incident is in scope and should be coded as a valid theft from a vehicle (code 61 or 63), or a valid burglary.

Theft of personal property from another person's house is out of scope, as this person may be in the sample. However, thefts from places such as workplace or lockers are in scope as other personal theft (code 67).

6F If an incident involves theft of milk bottles and nothing else from outside the home, a victim form should not have been completed and code 66, 'theft of milk bottles from outside dwelling' applies.

6G Only the respondent can be the victim of 'other theft', code 67. If another household member is the victim of theft, and the theft does not fit any one of codes 61-69, the incident may be referred. Thefts of items (e.g. mobile phones, laptops) belonging to an employer are out of scope. Work tools are in scope for other personal theft (code 67) if they belong to a respondent who is obviously self-employed and a one man/woman band. If the respondent is self-employed, but has partners or separate business premises, this is out of scope. Not paying for goods (or a journey) received is out of scope (this applies to shoplifting, unpaid taxi fares, meals not paid for in restaurants, work not paid for).

Theft of a credit card is in scope, but subsequent use of a credit card (or fraudulent use of a credit card number if the card is not actually stolen) is out of scope.

6H Wheely bins and recycling boxes are in scope, and so a wheely bin stolen from outside the respondent's home would generally be 'theft from outside a dwelling'. Estate agents signs ("For sale" signs) are out of scope.

6I 'Theft of a pedal cycle' takes priority over other theft codes, including theft from a car. To clarify the situation with regard to cars, here are some rules:

- A theft of just a household bicycle from a household car is "theft of a bicycle"
- A theft of just a household bicycle from someone else's car is in scope "theft of a bicycle"
- A theft of just someone else's bicycle from a household car is out of scope (code 69)
- If a bicycle is one of a number of things stolen from a car, then the theft should be coded theft from a car (code 61) if the car is a household car, or out of scope if the car is someone else's

If something is stolen from a bicycle there is no separate code, so one of the other theft codes should be used – depending on where the bike was and who it belongs to. Thus, a bike in the garden that has its pump stolen would be "theft from outside a dwelling"; something stolen from a bike parked elsewhere would be "other theft" if the item stolen belonged to the respondent, or out of scope if it belonged to someone else.

6J If something is stolen from a car while someone is sitting in the car, this is not 'theft from a car', but should be counted as a personal theft:

- A snatch theft (code 43/45) – the respondent was aware of what was happening, but no or limited force used. If the item was on the seat next to the person or close by, it can count as being held (similar to an item on a trolley that was being pushed).
- A robbery (code 41/42) – if threat or violence was used in furtherance of the theft
- Other theft (67/73) – for items that were not close to the respondent – e.g. from the boot of the car (unless respondent ends up tussling with offender for the item in which case, it becomes a robbery).
- If the car is a household car, but the person in the car is not the respondent, then this would be out of scope.

An actual car-jacking where the victim is threatened to give up their car would count as robbery. If the car-jacking involves no threat or force (ie the person is tricked out of their car and it is driven off) this would be theft of a car.

Respondent: Only the respondent can be the victim of 'other theft', code 67. Any member of the household can be the main victim of the remaining categories. All cases where the victim is neither the respondent nor a household member - e.g. the respondent's employing company, should be coded 69 (theft outside the survey's coverage).

SHEET 7: ATTEMPTED THEFT
(EXCLUDING ATTEMPTED THEFT FROM THE PERSON)

The most frequent categories of attempted theft are likely to be codes 71 and 72, attempted theft of or from cars/vans or motorbikes/scooters/mopeds. In their nature it will often be impossible to say whether these incidents were attempts to steal the vehicle or just parts/contents.

There are no codes for attempted theft in a dwelling, attempted theft of a meter, of a pedal cycle or from outside a dwelling; any such attempted thefts which emerge should be coded as other attempted theft (code 73) provided that the respondent is the victim. Attempted theft, where someone else is the victim and there is no other crime will be coded as an out of scope theft (code 69).

Attempted theft from the person (code 45) is dealt with on Sheet 4.

Possible codes

Code 71 Attempted theft of/from car/van
Code 72 Attempted theft of/from motorbike, motorscooter or moped
Code 73 Other attempted theft

PRIORITIES

- Evidence for attempted theft of/from motor vehicles will often be damage (to locks, etc.): the attempted theft codes take priority over the criminal damage codes, except Arson (code 80).

ATTEMPTED THEFT OF/FROM MOTOR VEHICLES, 'OTHER' ATTEMPTED THEFT: NOTES FOR GUIDANCE

7A It may be unclear what the attempt was aimed at; DescrInc may contain additional information.

There can be considerable ambiguity as to whether the incident is one of attempted theft or criminal damage. In such cases, the incident should be coded as attempted theft if any of the following conditions apply:

- the offender actually got into the car
- the damage was concentrated around the lock (e.g. scratches round the door lock, lock punched out)
- the quarterlight was smashed (or similar damage of the type which suggests that the offender was trying to get into the vehicle)
- the radio was pulled out or glove compartment ransacked
- other evidence exists of an attempt to steal

Smashed windscreens count as criminal damage (unless something else happened which indicates theft e.g.. also tried to pull out radio).

Respondent

7B Only the respondent can be the victim of 'other attempted theft'. If, for example, a victim form reports an attempt to steal a bicycle from a household member other than the respondent, this will be coded as an out of scope incident.

SHEET 8: ARSON AND CRIMINAL DAMAGE

Arson is deliberate damage by fire. Any damage, however small, caused by deliberately setting fire to something belonging to the respondent or their household should be coded as arson.

As with other types of criminal damage (see below), the arson must damage property belonging to the respondent or their home or vehicles. Thus, an item other than a car belonging to a household member that is burnt away from the home would be out of scope.

The only exception to arson taking overall priority is where the item that is set on fire was stolen first. This usually applies to cars that are stolen and later found burnt out. It can also apply to other items, such as wheely bins. In this situation, the theft should be coded rather than the arson. (If the item was not taken, but was set on fire where it was, then this would be arson – it is only if the item is taken or moved and then set on fire that the theft takes priority).

Attempted arson

If the arson was unsuccessful and there was no cost and no damage, then this would be coded as “Attempted criminal damage (no damage actually achieved)”. However, in cases where there was minimal fire damage, eg lighters being held to fences and causing scorch marks, but not enough to warrant replacement of the item, then this should be coded as arson, as there was some damage, even if there was no cost to the respondent.

Out of scope arson

If the respondent’s car or property catches fire because an adjacent car/property belonging to someone other than the respondent or their household was deliberately set alight, this should not be coded as arson, but as “out of scope criminal damage”. This is because the principal victim of this offence would be the person whose car/property was deliberately set alight. The damage to the respondent’s car/property was accidental. However, if fires were deliberately set in two cars, or the fire was set to ensure that both the adjacent property and the respondent’s property was burnt, then the respondent would be the victim and the code would be arson.

If the arson is accidental, then it should be coded as such (code 87), or coded as another offence (eg accidental arson during a burglary would be coded as a burglary). As we don’t know the intention of the offender, we have to rely on what the victim tells us. Thus, if the victim says that there was deliberate damage by fire, we should accept this and code as arson.

Arson in conjunction with other crimes

In some cases it is possible that the damage caused by arson is very small, while the impact of another crime was large. For example, a burglary where the carpet was singed by the offender stubbing out a cigarette, but many items were stolen. In theory, these will (if the fire was set deliberately) be arson. If you are unsure, code uncertain and we will refer them to the Home Office.

Similarly, any cases where you are unsure if the arson code is correct, code as uncertain and they will be referred to the Home Office.

ARSON

OTHER CRIMINAL DAMAGE

Criminal damage does not just refer to vandalism, but to any intentional and malicious damage done to the property belonging to the respondent, or to their home or vehicles. Offenders and victims are quite likely to know one another, as in arguments between ex-friends, landlord/tenant etc. Criminal damage to the home includes doors, windows, gates, fences, plants, shrubs and belongings in the garden - but excludes motor-vehicles in driveways. Communal areas in flats, such as hallways, staircases etc do not count as part of the home and so any damage would be coded as other criminal damage (code 85 or 86), unless damage has also been done to the door, walls or window of the respondent's flat. Include damage to rented property as in-scope. Where damage is solely to a door (e.g. glass panel in door smashed, damage to lock, tried to smash door down), or there are smashed windows where the respondent said the offender was trying to get in, this is likely to be an attempted burglary (sheet 5).

Criminal damage does not include cases where the damage could be repaired by the labour of the victim without outside cost (e.g. throwing eggs at a house or vehicle, flour emptied on a car, rubbish dumped on a doorstep, drawing on walls with chalk, dogs fouling) or cases where there is nuisance only (e.g. letting down car tyres). These should be coded as 87. Criminal damage also does not include damage which is probably accidental (see Note 8B). Refer any doubtful cases to Home Office. Code 88 covers cases where there was a definite but unsuccessful attempt to commit criminal damage.

A smashed windscreen counts as criminal damage (code 82) unless there is also evidence of an attempt to steal.

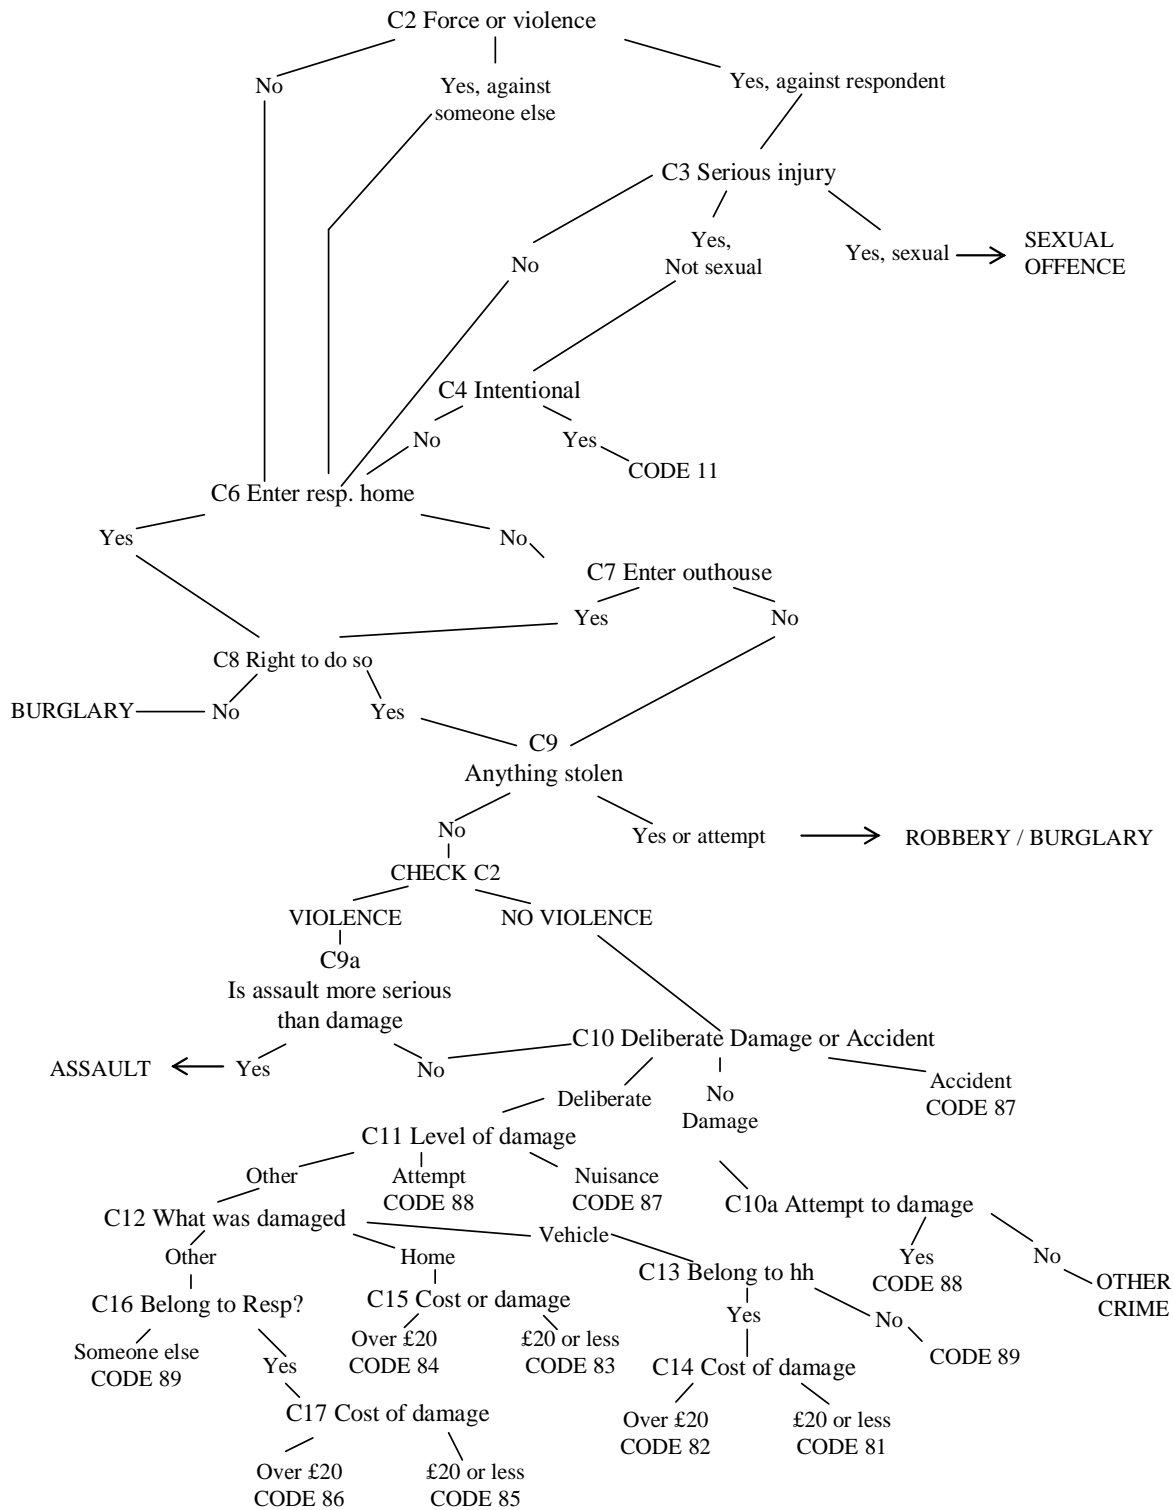

Possible codes

- Code 80 Arson
- Code 81 Criminal damage to a motor vehicle (£20 or under)
- Code 82 Criminal damage to a motor vehicle (over £20)
- Code 83 Criminal damage to the home (£20 or under)
- Code 84 Criminal damage to the home (over £20)
- Code 85 Other criminal damage (£20 or under)
- Code 86 Other criminal damage (over £20)
- Code 87 Possibly criminal/possibly accidental damage/nuisance with no damage
- Code 88 Attempted criminal damage (no damage actually achieved)
- Code 89 Other criminal damage falling outside the survey's coverage.

PRIORITIES

- When criminal damage occurs in combination with burglary or robbery, the burglary and robbery codes take precedence over the criminal damage codes. When criminal damage occurs in combination with theft, the incident is always to be classified as theft, except where the damage amounts to arson.
- When criminal damage occurs in combination with serious wounding (code 11), rape (code 31) or serious wounding with sexual motive (code 32), these codes take precedence. Where criminal damage occurs in combination with other wounding (code 12) and other wounding with sexual motive (code 33), the incident can be coded as assault if the damage is relatively trivial or the assault is clearly the more serious aspect of the incident. For example, if someone was punched in the eye so that their glasses broke and they got a broken nose, this should be recorded as a code 12, other wounding.
- It is often hard to distinguish between criminal damage and attempted burglary or attempted theft. The 'attempt' classification should only be used where the victim form states clearly that an attempt was made. (In these cases, the attempt classification takes precedence over criminal damage).
- Threats where something was damaged should be coded as criminal damage.

CRIMINAL DAMAGE

CRIMINAL DAMAGE: NOTES FOR GUIDANCE

- 8A) If an incident involves both criminal damage and serious wounding, the assault code (code 11) always takes precedence - provided that the respondent is victim of the serious wounding. If someone else is victim of the wounding, this would be out of scope. If the criminal damage that occurred as part of the offence is in scope, then that would be coded.

Criminal damage codes, however, take precedence over codes 12, 13 and 21 - other wounding, common assault and attempted assault. (Exceptions to this can be made where the damage is very trivial and the assault involves injury to the respondent; for example if a respondent is given a beating in which his eyes are blacked and his clothes slightly torn, it makes more sense to code this as an assault than an act of criminal damage.)

- 8B) For an incident of criminal damage to have occurred, damage must have been done maliciously. Damage should be coded as accidental (code 87) in the following circumstances:

- the respondent says it was accidental (but if they say it was deliberate, then treat it as such)
- the damage is just dents in the side of a car which could have caused by another car (although a dent or scratch on the roof of a car is almost certainly malicious and a scratch 'made with a coin' down the side of a car is obviously malicious). A broken windscreen or window with no evidence of intention to steal the car or from the car should count as vehicle damage (81 or 82).
- the respondent just found the brake lights, headlight or wing mirror smashed (unless there is evidence that it was deliberate (wing mirror by pavement or both wing mirrors are smashed)
- the damage is to the home and probably unintentional (e.g. cigarette burns after a party, crushed hedge from someone drunk falling in it)

- 8C) If the respondent was just left with a clean-up job but no further costs, or if the effect of the act was trivial (e.g. letting down car tyres, throwing eggs at a house or vehicle, flour emptied on a car, rubbish dumped on a doorstep, drawing on walls with chalk, dogs fouling) code 87 applies. Check the cost of the damage, as if damage does lead to cost, it is criminal (eg if eggs thrown on carpet meant carpet had to be replaced). Costs that just cover simple cleaning products should, however, be ignored. Graffiti done with paint, felt tip or aerosol does count as criminal damage, as does deliberate damage to plants/trees/hedges. Incidents should not be given a code 87 if it is perceived that the damage may easily be put right at a low cost (rather than no cost) e.g. cables ripped off a wall.

Some incidents of vandalism where the respondent specifies no cost may not be code 87 if the cost is accrued to the landlord or the owner of the property. In this case use the description to assess the level of damage and estimate whether it would cost more or less than £20 to repair.

If the offenders were attempting to effect criminal damage but were stopped before they succeeded in doing so, code 88 applies.

- 8E) The "home" in this context includes doors, windows, gates, fences, plants, shrubs and belongings in the garden, but not motor vehicles in driveways or communal areas in flats. Damage to wheely bins and recycling bins would count under this if they are kept in the garden/grounds of home. Damage to utility meters would count as damage to the home (as they are generally attached to the home).

Respondent

- 8F) Any member of the household can be the main victim of damage to motor vehicles or to the home.

Also, note that company cars count as belonging to the respondent (as with theft). But only the respondent can be the victim of other acts of criminal damage. Thus damage, for example, to the respondent's bicycle would be coded 85 or 86 if the damage were done away from the home - but coded 83 or 84 if damaged when in the respondent's garden. But if the respondent's son's bike were damaged when away from the home, this would be out of scope and may be referred.

SHEET 9: THREATS

"Threats" are verbal. Any non-verbal threatening behaviour (following a person closely, menacing gestures) counts as intimidation.

In most cases, the respondent will be both the person to whom threats are made and the person against whom threats are made. There will be a few cases where this is not so. Either a threat may be made to the respondent against someone else (e.g. I will kill your child) or a threat may be made to someone else against the respondent (respondent's wife is told respondent will be beaten up). The coding system is adapted to this. Where the offence consists only of obscene or nuisance telephone calls (no verbal threats stated in the calls), code 95 applies.

Threats where force was actually used, even if there was no injury, should be coded as assaults/sexual offences (code 11-13 or 31-35). Threats where the offender attempted to use force should be coded as attempted assault (code 21). Any threats that involved the use of a weapon should be coded as an attempted assault (code 21). Remember, however, that threats or force where something was stolen or an attempt was made to steal, should usually be coded as robbery/attempted robbery rather than threats or assault.

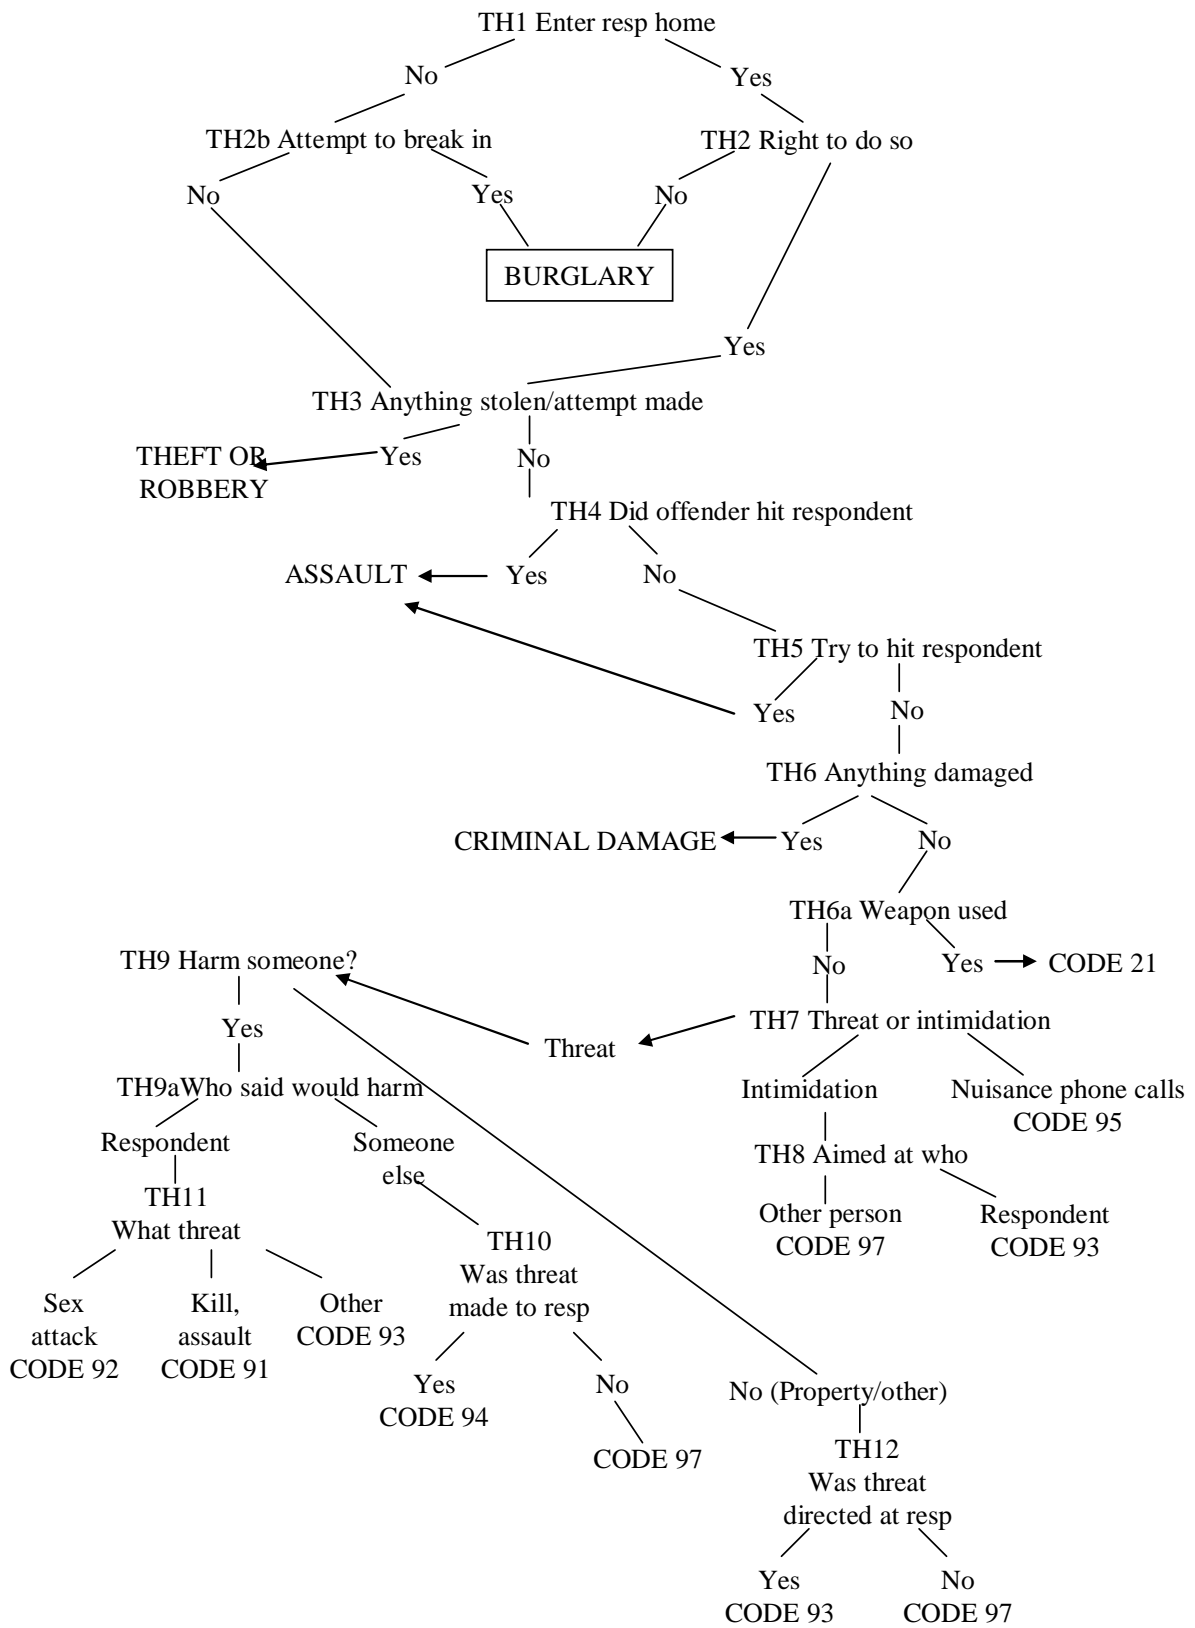

Possible codes

- 91 Threat to kill/assault made against but not necessarily to respondent
- 92 Sexual threat made against but not necessarily to respondent
- 93 Other threat or intimidation made against but not necessarily to respondent
- 94 Threats against others, made to the respondent
- 95 Obscene or nuisance phone calls
- 97 Threats/intimidation falling outside survey's coverage

PRIORITIES

- All other codes take precedence over the threat codes.

THREATS

THREATS: NOTES FOR GUIDANCE

- 9A) Some threats may simply be against property; in this case ThreaVio may be answered 'no', and WhoHarm and WhThrea not completed. In this case, use DescrInc as the basis for selecting codes 93, 94 or 99.
- 9B) The survey can cover threats made to the respondent, but not necessarily against him (e.g. I will kill your wife). This is a code 94 (threats against others, made to respondent). If the threat is made merely to someone else (though, for example, the respondent overheard it), this would be outside the scope of the survey and would be coded 97.
- 9C) Code 93 (other threats or intimidation made against but not necessarily to the respondent) covers a range of threats. It will cover general abuse directed at the respondent, or a threat to damage a car or other property owned by the respondent. (However, if someone threatens damage that could do harm e.g. to burn down their house, this should be coded as a threat to kill/assault – code 91).

Threats made to or against businesses (e.g. threatening to spit on the fruit outside the respondent's shop) are out of scope and should be coded 97 (threats falling outside the survey's coverage).

³ The ONS classification of areas was revised for authorities in 1999. The revised version of the classification was compiled using the same methodology and approach as for the original version, and the same 37 socio-economic and demographic variables from the 1991 National Census. The revised classification was necessary to reflect the new local and health authority boundaries in Great Britain at April 1999. The revision produced a different hierarchical structure hence there is little direct comparability with the results of the original classification. See "The ONS classification of local and health authorities of Great Britain: revised for authorities in 1999 for more details.

List of checks implemented in the Quanquest Interview program

List of checks implemented in the Quangest Interview program.

Household Box

- Confirm correct area code, serial number, check digit and interviewer number have been entered by the interviewer
- Confirm that valid day, month and year of interview has been entered
- All dates must be entered in the format dd/mm/yy
- For a MAIN SAMPLE address the number of adults living in the household should be the same as the number of ELIGIBLE adults recorded on the previous screen (NSelec)
- For YOUTH interviews the total number of adults (nadults) must always be GREATER THAN the number of ELIGIBLE 16-24 YEAR OLDS recorded at NYouth. If the household only contains 16-24 year olds the interviewer should have selected one on the MAIN sample and should not be doing a YOUTH interview
- Number of the person selected at pselec must not be greater than the number of adults recorded at nadults
- Age of respondent for YOUTH interview must be 16-24
- Marital status - only allow one spouse of respondent
- Marital status - only allow spouse of respondent to be married
- Marital status - only allow spouse of respondent to be of opposite sex to respondent
- Marital status - only allow one cohabitee of the respondent
- The interviewer must check if the respondent reports that another household member who is less than 14 years younger than them is their child
- The interviewer must check if the respondent reports that another household member who is more than 14 years older than them is their parent
- Must be one Household Reference Person per household
- The number of people coded as cohabiting at question COHAB must be an even number
- The number of people coded as married at question MARST must be an even number

Main Section

- Time lived at address cannot be greater than time lived in area
- Time moved to address must be before date of interview

Screener

- All dates must be entered in the format dd/mm/yy
- If there is a series, the number of separate incidents must be at least two less than the total number of incidents in the crime
- The number of separate incidents cannot be greater than total number of incidents in the crime
- Date of incident must be in the reference period. It must also be after date of any previous incident
- A series must comprise of at least two incidents

Victim Form

- At Descinc, the interviewer must check that they have entered a full description of the incident, including details about the victim, offender, what happened and where
- The answers given in a particular victim form must be consistent with the crime coded in the screener question that led to that form, or there must be a valid reason (which must be recorder) if this is not the case
- The sum of the total number of incidents must be consistent with earlier answers
- Date of incident must not be after the interview date
- Month that incident took place must not be in the future
- Number of codes used at AgeOff (How old the offenders were) must not be more than the number of offenders coded at Numoff
- Number of codes used at RaceOff (Race of offender) must not be more than the number of offenders coded at NumOff
- Number of codes used at OffRelat (Relationship of offender to respondent) must not be more than the number of offenders coded at NumOff
- Answers at V71 and V72 (initial question about what was stolen) must be consistent with Whatstol (more detailed question about what was stolen)
- If a vehicle is recorded as being stolen, interviewer must check whether anything was in the vehicle that was stolen.

Drugs Self Completion

- Age at which first taken any drug may not be older than respondent's current age
- The last time respondent took the drug must be after the first time respondent took the drug.

Demographics

- Interviewer must check that respondent or Household Reference Person has given the correct year for when they left their last job, if the year given at whn1fx means that they left their last job when they were aged 13 or less.
- Interviewer must check if the respondent reports that they have managerial duties but no supervisory responsibilities.
- The year that respondent or Household Reference Person first came to stay in the UK must not be in the future

Appendix J Questionnaire development and testing

The piloting undertaken for the 2008-9 British Crime Survey was designed to aid the development of new sections to be added to the questionnaire.

Two stages of piloting took place for the 2008-9 British Crime Survey; cognitive testing and accompanied piloting in February 2008 before the start of the survey year, and further cognitive testing in September 2008.

The following report covers each pilot stage and includes details of the pilot, explanation of the techniques used, a breakdown of findings and recommendations by question, and the questionnaires used for the pilot.

The February cognitive test was carried out on the questions for the perceptions of crime, anti-social behaviour, sentencing, and card fraud and identity theft sections. The accompanied pilot covered the same sections, plus media consumption questions. The September cognitive test focused on anti-social behaviour questions around teenagers hanging around on the streets, drunk and rowdy behaviour, and drug use and dealing.

1 Cognitive testing- February

1.1 Introduction to cognitive testing

In February 2008 cognitive testing of new questions for the 2008-2009 British Crime Survey (BCS) was conducted. The cognitive interviewing was conducted in Ealing and in Kingston with respondents recruited on the street to quota requirements. Quotas were set on gender, age and working status, with respondents offered a £10 high street voucher as an incentive for taking part. In total thirty six interviews were conducted, with each interview lasting between 30 and 45 minutes...

- Each interview was conducted by a BMRB researcher and some were observed by Home Office researchers. The cognitive interviewing involved asking a series of questions that allowed the researcher to gain a greater insight into how respondents were answering questions. Respondents completed a number of questions, with the researcher then going back and asking the respondent a number of questions about the thought processes involved in answering each question. This involved the use of a number of probes:
Comprehension – what respondents understood words/phrases to mean.
- Paraphrasing - asking respondents to repeat the question in their own words to explore how they understand the question being asked.
- Recall of events - how respondents recalled events/gave an answer.
- General probes - how respondents arrived at their answers / what respondents were thinking of when answering the question / how easy or hard respondents found the question to answer

The interviews were recorded, so full notes did not have to be made throughout the course of the interview.

1.2 National and local levels of crime

The first set of questions respondents were asked about was their perceptions of the levels of crime in the country as a whole and their local area.

When asked respondents did not have any difficulty understanding the term 'level of crime', with all of them describing this when asked as the extent of different types of crime/recorded crime or how much crime there is.

1.2.1 Local area

Respondents were asked to explain how they defined 'local area' in order to answer these questions. When no set definition of local area was provided, respondent's own understanding of the term was found to vary widely. Almost all the respondents defined local area as bigger than the standard BCS definition of within 15 minutes walk from your home. Some respondents' definitions of local area were even based on the whole of London.

When asked, respondents often based their definition of their local area on the areas they knew best or regularly visited. This included the local area around their home, local shops or town centre (Kingston town centre), where they went jogging and the way they walked to work.

However the size of the area that respondents visited was also found to vary, with one respondent defining 'local area' as 'London' as they moved about different parts of London all the time as they lived in Camden, were a student in Kingston and had family in Brent. Other respondents also defined 'local area' as the borough they lived in, which is clearly much bigger than the standard BCS definition of 'a 15 minute walk'.

1.2.2 Country as a whole

Respondents were also asked to describe the area they were thinking about when answering questions about crime levels in the 'country as a whole'. Likewise to their own definitions of their 'local area', respondents also had varying understandings of the 'country as a whole'. A common response was that they used national media to see what was going on in the country as a whole, although several respondents pointed out that they only knew what was reported and this could make things seem better or worse.

Other respondents based their response on other places in the country they had visited or lived, or areas they knew friends and family in. A few respondents also said that they had been specifically thinking of crime "hot spots" like inner city Nottingham or Manchester.

Although respondents used different processes and sources of information when answering the questions about crime levels in the 'country as a whole' respondents had no difficulty in answering the question and also were happy in the answers they gave when asked.

1.2.3 Middle answers

One of the aims of the pilot was to gain an insight into what people were thinking when they used the category 'average/stayed about the same' when answering the questions about level of crime. From the pilot there was little evidence that respondents were using the middle category as a Don't Know. It was however slightly unclear what the middle category meant. In some cases it was neutral, remained at an acceptable level whereas in areas where there was a problem it was a more negative response (the crime is bad but nothing has been done about it). Some respondents did think of it as an average, mentioning that other areas had higher crime rates but others had lower.

1.2.4 Time frames

When asked about whether the level of crime had changed over the past few years respondents were not given a fixed period of time – for example the last year or 5 years. Respondents when asked about the period of time they were basing their response on were found to vary from the past year or two up to some respondents thinking about the last 10 years, Despite this the timeframe was found to make no real difference to the answer they gave to the question.

Most respondents tended to feel that crime had increased over the past few years and when asked about their response for a shorter/longer period to the one they were thinking of they all gave the same response as their original. Overall, having a vague time frame was not found to make any difference to responses and is also unlikely to change respondent answers.

There was an impact for respondents who had not lived in their area for very long. Some of them, quite reasonably, then thought back to the area they were living in before. There should be an interviewer instruction to those who have moved recently to remind them to only think about their current area.

1.3 Levels of different crime types

On this question, most respondents selected the gone up or stayed about the same options. On the whole, respondents felt that all the specified crimes (burglaries, muggings or street robberies, people getting beaten up, gun and knife crimes, and plastic card fraud) happened in their area. However, we did carry out the piloting in Ealing and Kingston so there is probably a London effect to this.

1.3.1 Ease of switching between the country as a whole and local area

Respondents were asked what they thought had happened to numbers of certain crimes (burglaries, muggings or street robberies, people getting beaten up, gun and knife crimes, and plastic card fraud) both in their local area and the country as a whole.

Respondents were asked if they had any problems switching between the country as a whole and their local area when answering about crime rates for the different crimes types. Respondents were found to have no difficulty in answering these questions in this format. However respondents were more confident with their answers about the local area compared to the country as a whole because they felt they had more personal experience and were less reliant on the media in forming their answer.

When asking about people getting beaten up, gun and knife crimes and plastic card fraud the answers were strongly influenced by the definition of local area. Most examples of these crimes were outside the official definition, and in this context a wider definition is more meaningful.

Later, when we gave the specific definition of local area, respondents still tended to use what they regarded as their local area.

1.3.2 Crime types

1.3.2.1 Burglaries

Not many problems came up with burglaries, except for the few respondents that were unclear on the definition so the alternative of “homes being broken into” could be used instead. One respondent found this the most difficult of the crimes to answer as it is so low-profile now, especially compared to the other crimes asked about.

1.3.2.2 People getting beaten up

Everyone associated this with fighting between drunks or gangs in the streets. No evidence of people associating it with domestic violence.

1.3.2.3 Gun and knife crime

Not all respondents thought of these as particularly different, especially as they are often spoken of together by the media. However, lots of respondents did distinguish and thought that they were happening at different rates. Some associated knives with young people, and mentioned people carrying knives for protection. Gun crime was more commonly associated with drugs. We recommend that the two be separated.

1.3.2.4 Plastic card fraud

There were varying degrees of understanding with this term, which is not really in common use. On probing, a lot of respondent definitions included identity fraud. Respondents were able to identify local and national card fraud, citing cash or chip and pin machines in the area which had been tampered with as local card fraud. We would recommend changing it to “bank and credit card fraud”.

1.4 Crime figures

For this set of questions, respondents were asked how much they trusted crime figures from the Home Office, and from the police.

Most people said they had not seen crime figures from the Home Office or local police figures so were answering hypothetically. More respondents were unaware of crime figures published by the local police, and some felt unable to give an answer here. On the whole, even when they had no experience of the crime figures, people were happy and able to answer the questions.

There was a mix of answers from respondents, split between trusting crime figures published by the Home Office and not trusting them at all. Quite a few mentioned general distrust of all things to do with the government. There was also variety with the police figures. Respondents were thinking about whether they would be more or less likely to trust figures from the local police and whether they would be more or less likely to “spin” the figures. Several respondents mentioned reported and unreported crimes.

A few respondents mentioned that they felt forced to give an answer as there was no middle code. They would have preferred a code that said ‘neither trust nor distrust’. The term “trust” was disliked by a few respondents who felt “believe” would be more appropriate.

There were also mixed levels of understanding of what the Home Office does. Several respondents just mentioned dealing with crime, swayed by the questionnaire itself. Immigration was frequently mentioned as well.

1.5 Concern about crime and being a victim of crime

1.5.1 Concern about crime

At question 7, the great majority of respondents said that their concern about crime had either stayed about the same or increased over the last few years. People’s circumstances directly influenced their answers to this question. For example, lots of respondents mentioned worrying about crime in relation to their children. One man had just bought a house and was now more concerned about burglary. One of the very few who said their fear of crime had decreased was because they had recently moved to this country.

The question was easy for respondents to answer, and did not seem too similar to other questions asked. This seemed to be because we are asking about their feelings and they did not need any knowledge about crime. Most respondents were thinking about themselves and their families, and concern about crime happening to them. One respondent did ask whether it meant concern about crime in the whole country. People tended to be thinking of personal and violent crimes like muggings or attacks.

1.5.2 Likelihood of becoming a victim of crime

Question 8 prompted some typical reactions from respondents, who did not like the question and feel they are “tempting fate” by answering how likely they are to become a victim of crime in the next year. One respondent who felt this way thought there should be an answer option for being aware of crimes and taking measures to prevent them. She mentioned personal safety and shredding of documents to prevent identity theft. Again, like question 7, respondents were mostly thinking about personal violent crime.

1.6 Problems with anti-social behaviour

For these questions the local area is defined in the preamble as “within 15 minutes walk from where you live”. The main focus of the probing was, for each type of anti-social behaviour, on “have you personally had a problem with this in the last year?”

The types of anti-social behaviour were “teenagers hanging around on the streets”, “vandalism, graffiti and other deliberate damage to property or vehicles”, “people using or dealing drugs”, “people being drunk or rowdy in public places” and “people being harassed or intimidated”.

1.6.1 Understanding of “problem”

Overall, it was difficult for respondents to say whether a problem is a problem for them if they have not been directly affected, for example had their own house vandalised. Often, they recognised the problem as a problem for their local area but did not say it was a problem for them personally. This still occurred when the alternative question phrasing was used. It was difficult for them to define what constitutes a problem.

Respondents had some difficulty with answering if anyone in their household had had a problem. For example, one respondent included his mother in his answers as she lived in the same area, although she did not share the same household.

Some commented that whether there was a problem depended on times of day or year. Respondents felt it depended on their own lifestyle whether they came into contact with these problems or not, for example if you go out late at night you are more likely to encounter drunk or rowdy people.

Respondents did not tend to stick to the definition of local area supplied in the preamble. They included town centres close to their local area.

1.6.2 Anti-social behaviour problem types

1.6.2.1 People using or dealing drugs

Some respondents interpreted “have you or any else in your household personally had a problem with this in the last year?” as the respondent or household member being the one using or dealing drugs.

1.6.2.2 People being drunk or rowdy in public places

Here in particular respondents were thinking of town centres rather than the defined local area. There was no confusion about whether it was about them or household members being drunk or rowdy.

1.6.2.3 People being harassed or intimidated

Respondents found it quite difficult to define. They felt unable to say what others felt harassment or intimidation would be, so couldn't establish if it was a problem in their area.

They felt it would be a problem for individuals if it affected how they lived their day-to-day lives. Some felt there was some duplication here with the teenagers question, as it was the teenagers hanging around on the streets that were harassing and intimidating people.

1.7 Local council and police action on anti-social behaviour

Although questions 24-26 were quite wordy and slightly repetitive they worked quite well. Most respondents understood clearly the differences between the statements and gave considered answers to each one. There was most confusion between question 24 (seeking views about anti-social behaviour) and 25 (dealing with anti-social behaviour). Question 26 (keeping locals informed about how anti-social behaviour is being dealt with) was considered the most noticeably different.

Again, the perception of local area was quite wide. Respondents would think of, for example, the borough of Ealing.

1.7.1 Seeking people's views

Most respondents thought the question was asking them about whether local people's views about crime and anti-social behaviour were sought. It varied whether they mentioned police or local council. Some respondents highlighted the element of services working together.

1.7.2 Dealing with anti-social behaviour

Most respondents were thinking more about the police here. It was more difficult for them to see what councils could be doing. Some respondents highlighted that the police or local council could be trying to deal with the problems but having limited success.

1.7.3 Keeping people informed about dealing with anti-social behaviour

This was the most distinctly different question for the respondents. There was a high level of spontaneous awareness of newsletters, leaflets etc. We thought this could possibly be an effect of neighbourhood policing in and around London.

On the whole, respondents felt well informed and that this was a positive thing. Information mentioned was provided by both local councils and police, and also in local papers.

1.7.4 Anti-social behaviour issues not being tackled

Although this is a routed question, it was asked of all respondents when time allowed. Not much came up from this question.

1.8 Minor offence and police action scenario

1.8.1 Preamble

Respondents were able to recall details from the preamble and clearly used this to select their answer. Most respondents felt confident about picking an appropriate action from the lists provided but were not perfectly clear about what each action entailed.

The term minor offence is wide-ranging. However, having two examples complicated the question for the respondents. In particular, the theft was seen as intentional and the broken window was seen as accidental due to the alcohol involved.

1.8.2 Police actions

On probing, some respondents felt that the list should be in order of severity of the punishment. There was some confusion between which was more serious, particularly between a caution and a fixed penalty fine. The longer explanation for the conditional caution seems to make more people choose it. Respondents seemed fairly satisfied with the answer codes available, although several people mentioned community service.

Respondents are edged into choosing a more severe punishment for the person who has previously offended. For questions 29 and 31 it is confusing being given what action has already been taken, and does not really allow the respondent to then pick the caution or reprimand.

Respondents were fairly equally divided on whether the 16 year old should be treated less severely or equal to the 30 year old. The two showcards with slightly different actions for the 16 year old were confusing.

1.9 Card fraud and identity theft

These questions were not asked of all the respondents due to time constraints. The questions were found to be straightforward and easily understood.

1.9.1 Card fraud

All people found that it was clear that the question (whether cards been used without permission or prior knowledge to take money from a bank or building society accounts or to charge money to a credit or debit card) was asking them whether or not they had experienced card fraud.

No respondents found the question confusing although some respondents did say they had been victims of card fraud. When probed the examples they gave were not in fact credit card fraud. This included one person who had a direct debit for insurance setup when they had their mobile phone account setup.

1.9.2 Personal details

Again, this was clear to all the respondents. They identified personal details as date of birth, address details and name etc. On probing, the respondents could not think of any other circumstances that were not included on the response list.

2 Accompanied Piloting- February

2.1 Introduction to Accompanied Piloting

In February 2008, piloting of new questions for the 2008-09 British Crime Survey (BCS) was carried out. The interviews were conducted in Brent, Hanwell, Basingstoke, Ashford, Eastbourne and Birmingham, by an experienced interviewer accompanied by BMRB researcher. In addition, in Brent and Basingstoke, a Home Office researcher observed the interviews. The respondents were recruited beforehand by the interviewer, to quota requirements. Quotas were set on gender, age and victimisation. Respondents were offered an incentive of £20 cash for taking part in the interview, which was carried out in their own homes. In total, thirty interviews took place, each lasting about 45 minutes.

The CAPI questionnaire was administered by the interviewer. The researcher then followed up the questions with a series of probes to enable further understanding into how the respondent answered the questions. The respondents were asked about their comprehension of the questions and the word or phrases used, how they arrived at their answers and what information or processes they used, how easy or difficult it was for them to respond and how confident they felt with their answer. Researchers also looked for how well any preambles to questions worked, and whether they were helpful to respondents and if they could recall any detail from them, and observed how well the interview worked overall.

2.2 Perceptions of Crime

2.2.1 Local levels of crime

Respondents answered with ease whether they thought the level of crime in their local area was lower or higher than average. Respondents referred to personal experience, experiences of family and friends, media, and neighbourhood talk as sources of information they used to answer this question. Some mentioned that they perceived crime rates in their area to be lower than what they saw in the national media.

2.2.2 Middle answers

There was not evidence that the middling answer option of “about average” was used as a “don’t know”. When respondents chose “about average” they were able to give reasonable explanation as to why they did so. The follow-question of asking whether the difference is “a little” or “a lot” made the question flow better. Again, people were able to explain why they chose the answer that they did, and what “a little” or “a lot” would mean. The distinction was mostly based on frequency of crimes or incidents, compared to other areas.

2.2.3 Concern about crime

Most respondents said that their concern about crime had increased over the last few years.

When asked why their concern had increased the main reasons given were as a result of what they respondents had heard from the news, from personal experiences of being the victim of crime or from knowing people who had been victims of crime. Most respondents were thinking about their concerns about crime; however some respondents did base their answer on people overall becoming the victim of crime. Some respondents mentioned that their concern about their children and crime. It was less easy than the previous question to answer increased/ decreased “a little” or “a lot”.

2.2.4 Likelihood of becoming a victim of crime

Respondents were also asked how likely they thought they were to be a victim of a crime in the next year. This hypothetical question was difficult for some respondents to answer. A number of respondents mentioned they would have liked a “don’t know” answer code with the reasoning that you “can’t tell what is going to happen”.

Respondents who thought they were unlikely to become a victim of crime thought this because they lived in low crime areas and had a low-risk lifestyle. One teenage girl, who had been a victim of crime in the past, thought it fairly likely that she would be again in the next year as she was still in the same situations as she had been before.

Respondents were questioned about whether they were thinking about particular types of crime for this question, and vandalism and mugging were commonly cited.

A small number of respondents misunderstood the question, thinking it was comparative, as in if they had a higher or lower chance of being a victim of crime than others. This could be due to the preamble which mentions that “some people are more likely than others to be a victim of crime”.

The respondents went on to be asked about crime in the country as a whole, and in their local area. The great majority thought that crime in the country as a whole had gone up, and that it had either risen or stayed about the same in their local area. It was not apparent that people were using the middle option of “stayed about the same” as a “don’t know”.

2.3 Anti-social behaviour

The series of questions asking about how much of a problem certain anti-social behaviour issues are in the local area worked well. The issues were noisy neighbours/ loud parties, teenagers hanging around on the streets, rubbish or litter lying around, vandalism/ graffiti/ other deliberate damage to property or vehicles, people being attacked or harassed because of their skin colour/ ethnic origin/ religion, people using or dealing drugs, people being drunk or rowdy in public places, abandoned or burnt out cars and people being harassed/ intimidated.

Although it is quite a long list of questions it did not seem too repetitive for interviewer or respondent.

Respondents tended to stray slightly from the 15-minute definition of local area to include places where these behaviours do occur. For example, a park or town centre out of the 15-minute range where teenagers hang around tended to be included. Many respondents were thinking about groups of teenagers bothering people for the “people being harassed or intimidated”.

In the interviews in Eastbourne, most respondents did not feel confident answering “people being attacked or harassed because of their skin colour, ethnic origin or religion”. The respondents were all white, in a predominantly white area and although racial harassment was not a visible problem they felt it might occur without them knowing or noticing.

A respondent in another area thought that the “attacked” and “harassed” elements to this question should be asked about separately.

2.4 Crime types locally and nationally

Respondents were asked whether particular crimes had gone up or down, both nationally and locally, over the past few years. They were asked about five randomly selected crimes from a list of nine: bank and credit card fraud, gun crimes, knife crimes, homes being broken into, cars being stolen, cars being broken into, muggings or street robberies, vandalism and people getting beaten up.

The questions worked satisfactorily, and respondents were able to switch between thinking about the country and their local area. As has been noted before, respondents tend to include places regularly visited, such as local shops, in their definition of local area. In general, respondents seemed more confident in their answers for local levels of these crimes.

2.4.1 Middle answer

In particular, respondents were questioned when they selected the “stayed about the same” option. The meaning of this answer varied as for some respondents it was positive and for some it was negative. On this question, as there was no “don’t know” answer code, some respondents used this middle option instead.

2.4.2 Time frame

The phrase “over the past few years” was interpreted by different respondents as lengths of time from two to ten years. One respondent commented they were thinking of a shorter period of time for some crimes than others, for example two years for “people getting beaten up” but ten years for “homes being broken into”. Another comment was that for an older person a few years would probably a longer time than for a young person. However, as seen before, giving a specific time frame makes little or no difference to respondents answers.

2.4.3 Crime types

2.4.3.1 Bank and credit card fraud

The term “bank and credit card fraud” was understood by respondents, except in one case where the respondent did not own or use any cards. It made sense to respondents to be asked about this on both a national and local level. For example, two respondents from the same area cited a local petrol station that had been skimming cards.

2.4.3.2 Homes being broken into

The term “homes being broken into” was understood clearly as burglary.

2.4.3.3 People getting beaten up

The term “people getting between up” was identified as street fights. Very few associated it with domestic violence, and then only as a secondary meaning.

2.5 Local council and police action on anti-social behaviour

There was a variety of reactions to this question. For some respondents, the statements were wordy and seemed similar to each other. Often, the respondent would need the statement repeating before being able to answer. Others could clearly identify the differences and gave each a considered answer.

Other comments were that the police and local council did not work together, and the respondent would answer differently for each. One respondent said they were kept informed at local election time but not at other times. One respondent mentioned that she would have liked a different answer scale with an option of “trying to” i.e. that police and local council were attempting to address these issues perhaps with differing degrees of success.

At this question, it did appear that some respondents were using the middle answer “neither agree nor disagree” as a “don’t know”.

2.5.1 Anti-social behaviour or crime issues not being tackled

This open-ended question, asking what were the most important anti-social behaviour issues not being tackled in the local area, did not yield a great deal of information. Vandalism and graffiti was mentioned, but most commonly street drinking was mentioned, particularly that of underage drinkers.

2.6 Minor offence and police action scenario

Respondents were read out a scenario in which a thirty year old man had owned up to a minor offence, such as the theft of clothing worth £30 from a small independent shop, and he had never been in trouble with the police before.

Respondents were then asked to select from a show card one of the following actions: given an informal warning, a caution (a formal warning by the police), a conditional caution (e.g. writing a letter of apology and/or having to pay compensation of £30 to make amends to the victim), a fixed penalty of £80 (called a Penalty Notice for Disorder) or taken to court.

2.6.1 Preamble

After the question, respondents were able to outline the main points about what they were asked to do, if not recall many of the specific details given in the preamble. Almost all respondents agreed that they would classify the example given as a minor offence.

2.6.2 Police actions

Most respondents thought they had a clear idea of what the actions entailed but in fact did not know the actual definition. In some cases, the researcher read out the correct definitions of the actions after the initial choice had been made. Respondents were then asked if they wanted to change their minds; some did and some did not. The more detailed description on the card for the conditional caution seemed to make it more appealing to respondents, particularly as it mentioned making amends to the victim. Respondents tended to think that the actions were in order of severity. Some who realised they were not in that order thought it was misleading that they were not.

For the second part of the question respondents were then asked what action should be taken (from the same list) if the man had previously been given a caution for a similar offence. Almost all respondents chose an action the next step up (or what they perceived to be the next step up) here. However, this seemed to be a response to the extra information given, rather than what they actually thought. Some did justify the more severe punishment as right when the person had committed the offence before as they should be “taught a lesson”.

The question moved on to ask about the same offence, but this time committed by a 16 year old boy. Again, in the first part of the question, the boy had never been in trouble with the police before.

Respondents varied widely on whether they thought a 16 year old should be treated more or less harshly than a 30 year old, or the same. However, they could all give a rationale for their answer for example that age does not make any difference it is still a crime, or that a 16 year old needs to be taught a lesson to keep them away from a life of crime.

Respondents were questioned about whether they would prefer an action that was not on the list and the suggestions were a fine and final warning, ASBOs, prison, community service and, in the case of the teenager, a warning to the parents.

2.7 Media consumption questions

2.7.1 Newspapers

The media consumption questions about which newspapers were read and read most often were straightforward. Respondents who had not read a newspaper in the last three months were asked which one they would be most likely to read. This hypothetical question was also relatively straightforward to answer. One respondent chose the paper they would glance over if they happened to see it, another selected the paper that their parents read. A small number of respondents only read a local paper and this was not an available answer code.

2.7.2 Television

The television watching questions raised a few minor problems. The highest answer available for how much television is watched is "more than 5 hours a day". Some respondents watched much more television than this, particularly those who had it switched on throughout the day when they were at home.

The questions about television news- which channel, and how often- worked reasonably well but both researchers and interviewers felt the response lists should be on show cards.

2.7.3 Internet

Again, the internet questions worked fine. Although the response list on the show card was long respondents appeared to be reading the full list.

2.7.4 Main source of news

The final question about what is their main source of news was straightforward and, after questioning, this tended to be the source of news accessed most regularly.

3 Cognitive testing- September

3.1 Introduction to cognitive testing

In September 2008 cognitive testing of new questions for the 2008-2009 British Crime Survey (BCS) was conducted. The cognitive interviewing was conducted in Ealing with respondents recruited on the street to quota requirements. Quotas were set on gender, age and working status, with an additional screener question on experience of anti-social behaviour. Only those reporting a problem with “teenagers hanging around on the streets”, “people using or dealing drugs” or “people being drunk or rowdy in public places” were selected for interview. Respondents were offered a £5 high street voucher as an incentive for taking part. In total thirty three interviews were conducted, with each interview lasting between 15 and 30 minutes.

- Each interview was conducted by a BMRB researcher and some were observed by a Home Office researcher. The cognitive interviewing involved asking a series of questions that allowed the researcher to gain a greater insight into how respondents were answering questions. Respondents completed a number of questions, with the researcher then going back and asking the respondent a number of questions about the thought processes involved in answering each question. This involved the use of a number of probes:
- Comprehension – what respondents understood words/phrases to mean.
- Paraphrasing - asking respondents to repeat the question in their own words to explore how they understand the question being asked.
- Recall of events - how respondents recalled events/gave an answer.
- General probes - how respondents arrived at their answers / what respondents were thinking of when answering the question / how easy or hard respondents found the question to answer

Quotas were filled as follows:

- 16 men and 17 women
- 18 in paid work, 15 not in work (of those not in work there were: 4 students, 4 retired, 2 looking for work, 2 looking after family and home, 2 long-term sick and 1 “something else”)
- 10 were aged 16-34, 14 aged 35-54, 7 aged 55-64 and 2 were over 65.
- 13 of the respondents reported having been a victim of crime in the last 12 months.

3.2 Introductory questions

Questions 1-8 asked whether certain anti-social behaviour problems (noisy neighbours or loud parties, teenagers hanging around on the streets, rubbish or litter lying around, vandalism, graffiti and other deliberate damage to property or vehicles, people using or dealing drugs, people being drunk or rowdy in public places, abandoned or burnt out cars and people being harassed or intimidated) were a very big problem, a fairly big problem, not a very big problem or not a problem at all.

The questions were preceded by the introduction "I'm going to ask you how much of a problem certain things are in your area. By your area I mean within 15 minutes walk from where you live". As has been found in BCS piloting previously, respondents tended to use their own definitions of local area. Commonly, people think about the streets and places they regularly visit and often include nearby shops or town centres. This can be wider than the prescribed definition, or smaller. One respondent interviewed said that she was thinking only of her street as she suffered from ill health and did not go out much.

These questions were not the focus of testing but worked well as a warm-up to the rest of the interview. No problems with understanding were reported. Further questions were asked about the key areas of the pilot- teenagers hanging around, people using and dealing drugs, and people being drunk and rowdy. This was to get respondents to talk about the problems they were experiencing. Their answers to the following questions can then be used to check if the information they give is reasonably consistent and whether the questions are apt. The probes used to promote them talking were "in what way is it a problem?", "is it a problem for you personally?", "who is it a problem for?", and "where in your local area is the problem worst?".

Where people felt there was a problem, but not for them personally, they tended to mention elderly people as a group likely to be affected. This was particularly apparent when talking about teenagers as people felt groups of young people can be intimidating.

3.3 Anti-social behaviour of teenagers and drunk and rowdy people

Questions 9 and 19 were checking that the problem with teenagers or people who were drunk and rowdy was that they were behaving in an anti-social manner.

With regard to teenagers, the question was found to work well. All the respondents felt that the teenagers were behaving to some degree in an anti-social manner. There was no evidence here to suggest that people are misinterpreting the initial question, and answering that it is a problem when they mean that it is a problem that teenagers have nothing to do but hang around on the streets.

On questioning many people do acknowledge lack of facilities or lack of things to do as a contributing factor, but this is not the main problem nor does it negate their view that the teenagers are behaving in an anti-social and problematic way.

The following question 10 was not often asked as people thought that teenagers were behaving anti-socially at the previous question.

Question 19, checking whether the problem with drunk people was that their behaviour was anti-social, was not often asked as people did not select “problem with people being drunk” (rather than rowdy, or drunk and rowdy).

3.4 Effect on day-to-day activities statements

Respondents were asked to choose a statement which best reflected their personal feelings on how the problem in question- teenagers hanging around on the streets, people being drunk and rowdy, and people using or dealing drugs.

This was the most problematic question in the pilot, and had the most people being unwilling to select one of the answers as they did not feel it accurately described how they felt.

Firstly, the pairing of “major problem” with “seriously affect” and “minor problem” with “slightly affect” was not always appropriate. For example, people felt that drug dealing and use was a major problem but that it only affected them slightly. Fewer people were the other way round, but one man mentioned that drunk and rowdy people walking down the street at night was a fairly minor problem that seriously affected him as it kept him awake.

As the question is aimed at finding out the affect on the individual, and not aimed at gauging the level of the actual problem, we recommend removing the major or minor part of the question. People will then only consider the effect on them as an individual.

The second issue is that some people wanted a middle answer- between minor/major and seriously/slightly. As adding the option of “moderately affects” may not be particularly helpful, we suggest adding an interviewer instruction to encourage respondents to choose the most relevant answer to them, even if it does not fit exactly.

The other main issue is with the first statement “It doesn’t affect me directly but it does affect others”. There is evidence that some people who avoid certain situations or take action to avoid the problem choose this code. Although the problem has affected them, because they have changed their activities as a result of the problem, they choose the code because the problem no longer affects them as a result of the change they made. For example, one man returned home from work around 11pm at night. The most direct route took him past a bridge where drug dealers and users hang around, which he found unpleasant and intimidating. The man changed his route home and removed himself from the problematic situation so it no longer affected him.

This concept is difficult to get across in a survey question, as we have found in previous testing. A possible solution is to split that answer into two codes. For example “It doesn’t affect my day to day activities in any way” and “It doesn’t affect my day to day activities, although I take action to avoid the problem where possible (e.g. avoid going out at certain times, avoid certain places, etc.)”.

A slight problem with the question was the phrase “day-to-day activities” as some people felt this implied the problem was affecting you on a daily basis.

3.5 Knowing about the problem

Question 12 was straightforward and people were easily able to answer, or were happy to say “not sure” if appropriate. Most people felt the problem was with both using and dealing drugs. Many people recognised drug dealing as a problem in their area, without it particularly affecting them or causing more crime in the area. They felt it was an unpleasant thing to be going on, and many mentioned that they did not want their children exposed to it. Some, on questioning, said that the presence of drug use or dealing caused them worry or fear but others explained it did not as it had nothing to do with their own lives.

Question 18 was again straightforward and most people chose drunk and rowdy, not perceiving a problem with drunk people who were not rowdy. When probed people do understand there is a slightly different problem with drunks (i.e. characterised as homeless or street people drinking or passed out in the street), although there is no evidence they are thinking about this when answering the original question.

Most people seem to be associating “rowdy” with groups making noise and being a nuisance. For some it was slightly difficult to define themselves, but “noise” was mentioned and comprehension of the question was not affected.

Questions 13 and 20 were used to establish how people know about the problems of drug dealing and use, or people being drunk or rowdy.

When asking about drugs, question 13 was quite difficult. As the question asks “have you personally seen people using/ dealing...?” it implies that you have to see people actually taking the drugs or an actual deal taking place. People had often seen syringes lying about, or other strong evidence of drug deals or use, and this does not quite fit in with the answers available.

Also, if people felt the problem was with both using and dealing they sometimes wanted to give separate answers at question 13. For example, they might have seen discarded syringes in a local park, and heard from a neighbour that drug dealing was going on in another house on the street. To accommodate this, we suggest that separate questions are asked about drug use and drug dealing.

A common response to question 13 was that “everybody knows about it” which does not fit in with the answer codes. We recommend adding this as an answer option because it is very common and people often cannot explain how they know further than that.

The same question was easier for people to answer when it was about drunk and rowdy people. They were more confident in opting for the first code than for drugs, as drunken and rowdy behaviour was more public and more familiar.

3.6 Immediate neighbourhood and elsewhere

Questions 14 and 21 worked reasonably well despite proving to be quite long and wordy. The probe used to clarify whether the problem happened in the immediate neighbourhood “is it visible from the door or window?” was helpful and people understood the aim of the question.

However, it is happening for some people on their doorsteps but they would not actually be able to see it from their home- for example if it was in the communal hallway of flats, or in a neighbouring alleyway. the problem occurs in the immediate area and elsewhere. Other people wanted to multi-code as it happened in the immediate area and elsewhere. Some felt they would not be able to comment on elsewhere, as they did not know. As the key aim is to find out whether the problem is occurring in the immediate area, we suggest changing this into a Yes/ No question with a shorter introduction.

With question 21, about drunk and rowdy people, the question should be adjusted to include hearing drunk people as well as seeing them. A common problem was that people could hear drunk and rowdy people at night whilst they were in bed.

Question 15- other public places where people use or deal drugs- did not reveal much in the pilot. With people who had the problem in their immediate area, it was difficult to code their answers particularly with distinguishing between the three codes for streets outside. For those who had answered elsewhere, people tended to name the expected places. As the previous question ascertains whether the problem is in the immediate neighbourhood, we are not sure that this further question and extra detail is necessary.

Question 22 asks about other public places where people are drunk and rowdy. Again, it was difficult to identify precisely where the problem occurs in the immediate neighbourhood. This was particularly apparent for the many people who had a problem with noise from passing drunk people.

There is also a distinction between the nature of the problem in the immediate neighbourhood and in the town centre; the main problem in the immediate neighbourhood is noise late at night, the main problem in the town centre is the violence associated with drunk and rowdy people.

People were consistent with their answers about location in questions throughout the interview.

3.7 Frequency

Questions 16 and 23 asked how often the problem of people using or dealing drugs, or people being drunk and rowdy, occurred in the local area.

People tended to find this question easier to answer in relation to drunk and rowdy people, rather than drugs. For both types of problem respondents felt more confident answering how often they witnessed the problem. People commented that they might see, for example, drunk and rowdy people when they went to the town centre once a week but it might well be happening every day. People had seen evidence of drug dealing perhaps two or three times but did not have a clear idea of how common it was. However, despite this uncertainty, respondents were able to choose an answer based on their knowledge and experiences and this question has been asked on the survey before.

2008-9 BCS COGNITIVE TESTING QUESTIONNAIRE AND PROBE GUIDE

INTRODUCTION

Key points to cover:

- Who you are
- What BMRB is and what we do
- Who the observer is (if applicable)
- Background to BCS
- What we are doing today
- Confidentiality and tape recording

My name is [name] and I'm a researcher from BMRB Social Research based in Ealing. BMRB is an independent research agency which carries out many large-scale surveys for different clients.

[Introduce observer if applicable]

Before we start I just want to explain what we are doing today. BMRB carries out a long running survey for the Home Office called the British Crime Survey, which looks at people's own personal experiences of crime, as well as their attitudes towards different aspects of crime and anti-social behaviour. The normal survey interviews about 50,000 people every year across the whole of England and Wales and the results of the survey are regularly reported in the media. If you're interested here's a leaflet giving some more details about the survey which you're welcome to take with you.

[Offer respondent leaflet to take away with them]

From April we want to put some new questions into the survey and what we are doing today is testing out some of these questions to see if they are easy to understand, how easily you are able to give an answer, and how you arrive at the answer. I didn't write any of these questions myself, so it is very important that you tell us what you really think –even if you think they are very poor questions. I'm here just to try and find out what's good and what's bad about the questions.

You don't need to have been the victim of crime to answer the questions, nor do you need to have ever had any contact with the police or know a lot about the criminal justice system. With all these questions there are no right or wrong answers –it is simply about what you think.

Everything we talk about today will be entirely confidential. I would like to tape record our conversation. This is simply so that I don't have to make notes during our conversation, and it makes it easier for me to remember what has been said. Is that o.k. with you?

[If respondent agrees, start tape recorder]

QUESTION 1

Not all areas of the country experience the same levels of crime. What happens in your local area may, or may not, reflect the national picture.

Compared to the country as a whole do you think the level of crime in YOUR LOCAL AREA is....

Circle only one code

- | | |

What time period were you thinking about?

Would a different time period (e.g. 5 years) have made any difference to your answer?

What does the term 'country as a whole' mean to you? Are you thinking of particular types of area?

If same answer for both questions:

Why did you give the same answer at both questions?

If different answers:

Why did you give different answers?

QUESTION 4

FOR EACH CRIME TYPE ASK FIRST ABOUT THE COUNTRY AS A WHOLE (QUESTION 4A), AND THEN ABOUT THE LOCAL AREA (QUESTION 4B). REPEAT THIS SEQUENCE OF QUESTIONS FOR ALL FIVE CRIME TYPES USING THE GRID ON THE NEXT PAGE

ASK THE SEQUENCE OF QUESTIONS BEFORE PROBING

I'm now going to ask you about different types of crime and for each one I'd like you tell me whether you think the number of crimes has gone up or down over the past few years both in the country as a whole and in your local area.

QUESTION 4A

How easy did you find those questions to answer?

How carefully did you think about each specific type of crime when answering?

What information did you call on to give an answer? (ask if information differed for different types of crime)

How easy did you find it to switch between the country as a whole and your local area?

Check, what you were thinking about in terms of local area? (Has it changed from Q1)

Were you happy with the answer codes or would you liked to have given another answer.

Are there any of these (five) crimes that you don't think actually happens in your local area?

What time period were you thinking about?

Specific crime types:

Knife or gun crimes – What was this question asking you? If you answered about gun crimes and knife crimes separately, how would you answer the question?

Plastic card frauds –what does this mean to you? Have you ever personally ever been the victim of card fraud?

Muggings or street robberies –what sort of crimes were you thinking about here? Do you think muggings and street robberies are different things or the same thing?

FOR EACH CRIME TYPE ASK FIRST ABOUT THE COUNTRY AS A WHOLE, AND THEN ABOUT THE LOCAL AREA. REPEAT THIS SEQUENCE OF QUESTIONS FOR ALL EIGHT CRIME TYPES USING THE GRID ON THE NEXT PAGE

Can you tell me how the answers on the card at this question differ from the last question?

What do you understand by each answer category?

TO BE ASKED ONLY IF TIME ALLOWS. IF YOU ARE ALREADY OVER 30 MINUTES DO NOT ASK THESE LAST QUESTIONS

QUESTION 32

Finally, I'd like to ask whether or not you have had any money taken without your permission or prior knowledge from a bank, building society or credit card account. Please include anything that has happened to you, even if you have already mentioned it earlier in the interview.

Do you own or use any plastic payment cards, such as bank, debit, credit or store cards? Please exclude business account and fuel cards.

INTERVIEWER: IF A RESPONDENT HAS ANY JOINT DEBIT OR CREDIT CARDS THIS SHOULD BE CODED AS 'YES'

INTERVIEWER: OYSTER CARDS SHOULD NOT BE COUNTED

Circle only one code

Yes	1		GO TO Q33
No	2		GO TO Q34

QUESTION 33

In the last 12 months, have any of your cards been used WITHOUT YOUR PERMISSION OR PRIOR KNOWLEDGE to take money from your bank or building society accounts or to charge money to your credit or debit cards?

INTERVIEWER: RESPONDENT SHOULD INCLUDE ANY JOINT ACCOUNTS OR CREDIT CARD

Circle only one code

Yes	1
No	2

What was the question asking you?

Did you feel the question was clear and easy to understand? If not, what was confusing?

If yes:

Can you tell me what happened?

If no:

Are you sure about this? Have there been any occasions when you thought you might have had any of your cards used without your permission?

QUESTION 34

(Apart from what you have just mentioned), in the last 12 months, have you had money taken from your bank or building society accounts in some (other) way which involved your personal details being used WITHOUT YOUR PERMISSION OR PRIOR KNOWLEDGE?

INTERVIEWER: RESPONDENT SHOULD INCLUDE ANY JOINT ACCOUNTS

INTERVIEWER: THIS MIGHT INCLUDE MONEY WHICH HAS BEEN TAKEN AS A RESULT OF CHEQUES BEING FRAUDULENTLY CASHED.

| Yes | 1 |
| No | 2 |
| SPONTANEOUS ONLY: Don't have any bank/BS accounts | 3 |

What did you understand by the question?

How did you arrive at your answer? What were you thinking about?

QUESTION 35

I'd now like to turn to other ways that criminals can use your personal information such as your name, address, date of birth or banking details WITHOUT YOUR PERMISSION OR PRIOR KNOWLEDGE.

SHOW RESPONDENT CARD 9

In the last 12 months, have any of your personal details been used WITHOUT YOUR PERMISSION OR PRIOR KNOWLEDGE to do any of the things on this card?

Circle all that apply

- | | |
|--|---|
| Apply for or obtain a credit or debit card | 1 |
| Apply for or obtain a store card | 2 |
| Apply for or obtain a bank or building society account | 3 |
| Apply for or obtain a mobile phone account | 4 |

| Apply for or obtain a passport | 7 |
| Apply for or set up accounts/subscriptions (e.g. BT, Sky, RAC, online betting accounts, etc) | 8 |
| None of these | 9 |

What do you think we mean by “personal details or personal information”?

If no:

Do you think there is anything missing from the list? Do you think your personal details have been used in some other way not mentioned?

If yes:

Can you tell me what happened?

Specifically for code 6 (apply for or obtain state benefits):

How exactly were your details obtained?

September cognitive testing questionnaire

2008-9 BCS COGNITIVE TESTING: ANTI SOCIAL BEHAVIOUR

INTRODUCTION

Key points to cover:

- Who you are
- What BMRB is and what we do
- Who the observer is (if applicable)
- Background to BCS
- What we are doing today
- Confidentiality and tape recording

My name is [name] and I'm a researcher from BMRB Social Research based in Ealing. BMRB is an independent research agency which carries out many large-scale surveys for different clients.

[Introduce observer if applicable]

Before we start I just want to explain what we are doing today. BMRB carries out a long running survey for the Home Office called the British Crime Survey, which looks at people's own personal experiences of crime, as well as their attitudes towards different aspects of crime and anti-social behaviour. The normal survey interviews about 50,000 people every year across the whole of England and Wales and the results of the survey are regularly reported in the media. If you're interested here's a leaflet giving some more details about the survey which you're welcome to take with you.

[Offer respondent leaflet to take away with them]

From April we want to put some new questions into the survey and what we are doing today is testing out some of these questions to see if they are easy to understand, how easily you are able to give an answer, and how you arrive at the answer. I didn't write any of these questions myself, so it is very important that you tell us what you really think –even if you think they are very poor questions. I'm here just to try and find out what's good and what's bad about the questions.

You don't need to have been the victim of crime to answer the questions, nor do you need to have ever had any contact with the police or know a lot about the criminal justice system. With all these questions there are no right or wrong answers –it is simply about what you think.

Everything we talk about today will be entirely confidential. I would like to tape record our conversation. This is simply so that I don't have to make notes during our conversation, and it makes it easier for me to remember what has been said. Is that o.k. with you?

[If respondent agrees, start tape recorder]

PROBES FOR Q1-Q8

When answering questions what area were you thinking about?

How would you describe/define your 'local area'?

If teenagers a very/fairly big problem:

In what way is it a problem?

[Particularly watch for those who define the problem in terms of ASB/crime, etc. vs. those who define the 'problem' as the lack of things for teenagers to do (or similar)]

Is it a problem for you personally? If not, who is it a problem for?

If people using or dealing drugs a very/fairly big problem:

In what way is it a problem?

Is it a problem for you personally? If not, who is it a problem for?

How do you know about the problem?

Where in your local area is problem worst, does it happen most?

If people being drunk or rowdy in public are a very/fairly big problem:

In what way is it a problem?

Is it a problem for you personally? If not, who is it a problem for?

How do you know about the problem?

Where in your local area is problem worst, does it happen most?

[NB. The point of these probes is really to get respondents to talk about the problems in their own words, and then to see if what they say is reasonably consistent with the answers they have given to the later questions – so checking consistency]
