Ustand

Do you recall going to the jobcentre on RA date and being given a 50:50 chance of receiving new services to see if they would help you get a job or get on at work?

If respondent answers YES, stop here...

It was to do with the Employment Retention and Advancement Scheme - ERA. It involved someone taking down some details about you and putting them on the computer and then telling you whether the computer had put you in the group which would receive these new services or not. Or maybe if the computer was not working properly they would make a phone call to find out which group you were in.
